COOLIDGE AVOWS FRIENDSHIP FOR LATIN AMERICA

Tells Envoy of U. S. Good Will.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 20.—Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, the Liberal rebel leader, has refused the Diaz government proposal of peace.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Peaceful solution of the strained Nicaraguan and Mexican questions appeared more certain today. President Coolidge, in a formal statement on the occasion of receiving Dr. Alexandro Cesar, the new Nicaraguan minister, announced that the United States has no selfish ends or imperialistic designs to serve and has no desire to dictate or influence the internal affairs of that country.

At the state department continued study was made of the possibilities for peaceful arbitration of the troubles between Mexico and the United States. It was also made clear that while this government must remain firm in its policy of protecting American rights, there is no present thought of allowing the controversy to drift into actual war.

Looks for Early Peace.

Hope that the internal dissensions manifested by revolution in Nicaragua would soon be dissipated was expressed by the President in greeting the new Nicaraguan envoy. He indicated clearly that American marines will be withdrawn from Nicaragua as soon as peace and order are restored in that country and expressed the desire for the independence of every Central American country.

"I take this opportunity in expressing the earnest hope that such internal dissension as exists in your country may soon be dissipated so that no obstacle may bar the way to progress towards a new era of permanent peace and prosperity in Nicaragua," the President said. "Although American forces have, with your consent and at the request of your government, been landed in order to safeguard the legitimate interests of the United States and the lives and properties of its citizens, this state of affairs should not continue longer than is necessary.

No Imperialistic Designs.

"The United States, as I know your government and the people of Nicaragua fully appreciate, has no selfish ends or imperialistic designs to serve. Least of all have we any desire to influence or dictate in any way the internal affairs of your country.

"The United States desires the independence and the prosperity of every Central American republic. The foundations for permanent stability within Nicaragua must, of course, be laid by its own government and I have been pleased to see that the initial steps for the elimination of disaffection and the composing of factional differences are already being taken."

The President remarked that the ties of friendship between the United States and Nicaragua have at no time been impaired.

Cites Evidence of U. S. Aid.

"For many years," the President said, "the United States has been a real friend of the Nicaraguan people. Through our assistance, asked and apparently welcomed, Nicaragua has enjoyed years of peace and tranquility, restored her almost shattered national finances, increased her economic resources and vastly improved her position before the world. It was the sincere hope of this country that these conditions would continue."

In presenting his letters of credence, Minister Cesar said his country looked to the United States "for guidance, cooperation and aid," in solving its problems.

The American representatives in Nicaragua, he said, have been untiring in their efforts to serve the ends of peace.

Report Fighting Has Ended.

Fighting has apparently ceased in Nicaragua, according to advices received here today by the state department. Secretary of State Kellogg did not know, however, whether or not a truce has been arranged. He has received no advices from Admiral Latimer on this subject.

The secretary also refused to comment for quotation on the Mexican situation, saying that he wished to maintain a balance on that matter.

MUSICIANS DROP HORNS TO FIGHT OPERA CLUB FIRE

While 250 members of the Midlothian Country club were enjoying their annual midwinter ball last night in the Opera club at 18 West Walton place fire broke out in an adjoining room. But before the first wisp of smoke had drifted into the ballroom Manager H. Foster had given the secret signal that converted his orchestra into a trained fire fighting unit and the blaze was brought under control while the astonished dancers were wondering why the last piece had been ended so abruptly.

It was just 10:45 when George Hamilton, the assistant manager, smelled the smoke. He ran into the room to find the floor blazing under a radiator. He informed Mr. Foster and former Chief of Police Charles C. Fitzmorris, a member of the Opera club.

Mr. Foster slipped unobtrusively into the ballroom and raised two fingers, or maybe it was three. Anyhow, the leader of the orchestra knew what he meant. He made a discord on his violin, and the musicians all knew what he meant. The strains of their fox trot halted. Drums and saxes and cornets were dropped, and there was a quick movement of the players to the door.

In the hallway, hands that were accustomed to feeling G strings seized helmets and fire axes. With Mr. Fitzmorris, also armed with an axe, a rush was made on the fire. The trap drummer whacked merrily at the floor and the saxophonist and the cornetist knocked over the radiator

Then, when it was agreed that the blaze was scotched, the orchestra went back to the dance floor and took up its labors where it had left off.

The damage was less than $100 and consisted mainly of the shattering of the floor with the axes.

ANGLICAN CHURCH MARRIAGE RITE IS REMODELED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Church of England's bishops have completed their revision of the Book of Common Prayer. The marriage service has been remodeled completely.

The Church of England's newspaper, making the announcement this morning, says that regarding the changes in the morning and evening services and occasional offices, the bishops have been practically unanimous.

"The marriage service has been completely remodeled," the paper continues. "In the new form there are three notable omissions, as well as interesting additions. The ministration of public baptism also has been considerably revised, as well as the order for the burial of the dead. A large number of new prayers and collects have been added for the regular services, as well as for special occasions and saints' days. The bishops have been agreed on all these matters."

Jurors Take Dig at Secret Dry Snoopers

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—After deliberating 24 hours a jury in the United States District court here acquitted eight and reached no agreement on six defendants in the liquor conspiracy trial of Frank Costello and thirteen others which had been in progress for more than two weeks. The outcome is considered a complete loss for the government and a direct thrust at the methods of prohibition enforcement employed by A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of "under cover" enforcement agents.

The six about whom the jury disagreed are not likely to be brought to trial again.

Dry Hired Criminals, Claim.

One of the jurors told Nathan Burkan of counsel for the defense, after the verdict, that he would have remained in the jury room "until doomsday" before he would have convicted any one on the testimony of "such witnesses as the government produced." A number of the government's witnesses were men who had been indicted with Costello and the others but who had confessed and testified against their former comrades. Most of the witnesses of this character admitted that they were in the employ of Bielaski.

From time to time during the trial these government witnesses and Bielaski's men and methods were under severe fire from Mr. Burkan and others of the defense counsel. In his summarization to the jury Mr. Burkan characterized these men as "rats" and referred to Bielaski as a "mysterious and invisible power" who employed "pirates, hijackers, crooks, and bribe takers."

Testify Against Comrades.

A poll of the jury, taken after they had been discharged by Judge Francis A. Winslow, showed that they had never considered a conviction in the case of any one of the men acquitted.

All of the defendants were among sixty-one men indicted last March. That indictment, having been considered faulty in some points, was superseded by another indictment returned in November against thirty-three men. Only fourteen of the thirty-three actually had their cases go to the jury.

Flays N. Y. Dry Chief.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Sharp words were exchanged in the house today between Representatives La Guardia and Fish, both New York Republicans, when La Guardia attacked Chester P. Mills, prohibition administrator in New York.

"There's liquor being used in your own county of Dutchess and you know it," La Guardia shouted at Fish. "You are just playing with it in a cheap way for your candidacy for governor."

Fish laughed but made no reply except to defend Mills against his colleague's charge of "incompetency." Mills, he said, was a man of character and integrity "who hasn't taken a drink since he began as administrator."

"That's a ridiculous statement," shouted Representative Schafer [Rep., Wis.]. "How do you know? Are you his guardian?"

SERVICE MEN IN KANSAS KILLING CIGARET LAW

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A bill to repeal the Kansas anti-cigaret law was passed by the house of representatives today by a vote of 83 to 35. The measure now goes to the senate, which passed a similar bill by nearly a three to one majority two years ago.

The youths who went away to war in 1917 smoked cigarets in the service and returned to Kansas to become legislators and molders of public opinion were the big factors behind the repeal legislation.

American Legion posts indorsed the campaign for repeal, and a score of veterans elected to the legislature worked for the cause.

For two decades Kansas laws have classed the cigaret with alcohol, while cigars and pipes have enjoyed immunity.

Home Bombed at 1:30 a. m. as Family Listens to Radio

A bomb was exploded on the front porch of the cottage home of John Heavey, a motorman, at 8013 Normal avenue, at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Heavey, his wife Ella, and two daughters, 16 months and 6 years old, were listening to the radio in a room just off the porch, but none was injured. The damage was put at $1,000. No reason for the bombing could be given.

NORRIS TO TELL JURY WHY HE KILLED CHIPPS

Pastor's Aid Denies Hearing Threat.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Austin, Tex., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The Rev. J. Frank Norris will take the witness stand tomorrow morning and tell the complete story of how and why he killed Dexter E. Chipps in his study in the First Baptist church building at Fort Worth on the afternoon of July 17 last.

This move was made necessary by the testimony today of his private secretary, Miss Jane Hartwell, who was within a few feet of Chipps and her pastor at the moment of the shooting and who failed to hear any threats made by Chipps—a point which forms the backbone of the self-defense plea of the minister.

Dr. Norris was ordered to the stand by his chief counsel, Dayton Moses, late this afternoon. He was questioned briefly outside the presence of the jury, on former indictments for arson and perjury, on which he stood trial, and which the defense seeks to eliminate in the cross-examination.

Faces Fierce Examination.

Cross-examination of the pastor by Special Prosecutor W. E. McLean [Wild Bill] is expected to be the high point of the trial, as McLean is being paid by Mayor H. C. Meacham of Fort Worth, Dr. Norris' old enemy, and it is sought to give the minister a ride he never will forget, even though he is acquitted of the murder charge in this case.

The defense, by motions, sought to eliminate in advance many embarrassing questions that McLean was expected to put. These relate not only to arson and perjury but to two other occasions on which Dr. Norris is said to have carried a gun.

On one of the occasions, five years ago, according to the motion, Dr. Norris pressed a gun into the ribs of the late Constable Bob Poe, on the streets of Fort Worth. Poe, it is said, objected to Dr. Norris advising Mrs. Poe on certain domestic matters impending.

Another time, still further back, Dr. Norris is said to have fired a gun at a group of boys, who were pulling down church posters attacking the city administration of Fort Worth.

These gun plays were not denied by the defense. They argued that they were outlawed by time.

Norris Takes Stand.

Dr. Norris, pale, nervous, dressed entirely in black, took the stand to answer a few formal questions. He admitted he had been indicted for burning his church and his parsonage, and for perjury in connection therewith. He was acquitted in two cases, he testified, and escaped the third by a directed verdict.

The lawyers wrangled late over this and Judge James R. Hamilton finally declined to rule in advance on the questions that might be asked Norris.

Miss Jane Hartwell, a woman in her thirties with dark, eloquent eyes, was the witness that threw the whole Norris case back into the shadows, and spoiled what appeared an air tight defense.

Didn't Hear Chipps' Threats.

Her ordeal as a witness can only be imagined. Sensitive, deeply religious, born of missionary parents, and herself a missionary student in China, she was unable even under this great pressure, to support the testimony of Deacon L. H. Nutt as to threats to kill made by Chipps before he was shot. She was there, nearer than Nutt, but she did not hear Chipps say "I'll kill you."

She has been the mystery witness of the case. Confined recently in a hospital as a result of a nervous breakdown, it was uncertain as to whether the defense would ever call her. Her testimony is considered a strong support of the state's case, although even here it tends to destroy the testimony of Mrs. Roxy Parker. She is in direct conflict with Deacon Nutt and with Mrs. Parker, although both of these appeared to be estimable witnesses, Miss Hartwell seems to be one who told the truth at a great sacrifice.

Miss Hartwell on Stand.

Miss Hartwell told of her work in the church, which has 8,000 members and a Sunday school of 5,000, she said. She has general charge of the office force, visits the sick and the new members, and has for years been in close association with the pastor.

She was hardly audible at times as she told her story and was only carried through the ordeal by summoning all her strength.

Deacon Nutt, she said, came to her

Dry 'Gag' Told by Democratic Woman Leader

Dissension on the wet and dry issue among members of the Illinois Women's Democratic club, which she states has "expressed itself emphatically in favor of the wet plank," yesterday caused Mrs. Mary Onahan Gallery, the president, to withdraw as a candidate for reëlection to that office.

The president's chief reason for withdrawing, it is learned, is her unwillingness to allow dry members of the club to dictate her utterances from the platform, her refusal to allow them to gag her on prohibition, which she opposes. Further, she has stated "I don't like the rôle of chameleon and I refuse to accept it."

Wants to Be Consistent.

"The idea seemed to be," she continued, "that I should ape the position of Mr. Frank L. Smith, and that while wet in Chicago we should endeavor, just because a number of the downstate women were dry, to pose as dry downstate."

Mrs. Gallery's letter to the membership announcing her withdrawal does not say anything about these things, but those who are in her confidence know the real reasons. One prominent member said the trouble started at the recent dinner for the downstate women, at which certain women didn't want Mrs. William E. Dever, wife of the mayor, to sit at the speakers' table.

"In fact," added another member, "when the president [Mrs. Gallery] asked the mayor's wife to sit at the speakers' table, she was amazed to be told that Mrs. Dever could not sit there."

Mrs. Gallery's Ultimatum.

"But Mrs. Dever has accepted," Mrs. Gallery is said to have replied. "That makes no difference, you should not have asked her," was the reported retort.

"Very well," Mrs. Gallery is quoted, "if Mrs. Dever does not sit there then neither shall I sit there. And what is more I shall tell the reason why."

"That scared the objectors," the prominent member added. "Mrs. Dever sat there at the speakers' table, quite unconscious of the turmoil behind the scenes."

Mrs. Gallery when asked last night, verified the statements of the members quoted.

"Yes, it is true," she said. "More than that, an attempt was made to dictate to me what I should say at the luncheon. Just before the affair the toastmistress, Mrs. Julia Johnson, said to me, 'You are not going to say anything on the wet and dry issue, are you?'

"I said: 'I certainly am!' 'O, no, you must not,' she replied. 'Mrs. Emily Newell Blair is going from state to state and one state is wet and another is dry—and she says it is better not to touch it.'

Dry Issue Paramount.

"But I wouldn't allow it. I said: 'I am not going from state to state. I am here in Illinois, and the paramount issue is the wet and dry issue. More than that, this club has expressed itself emphatically in favor of the wet plank.'"

SEIZE ROBBER TRIO AS VICTIM REPORTS LOSS

While Dennis Gruenstein, a butcher, 1458 North Washtenaw avenue, was reporting to Sergt. William Sheehan and his detective bureau squad how three robbers had taken $400 from him, the trio was captured by Policeman Joseph Hanlon of the West North avenue station after an automobile chase of several blocks.

Hanlon saw the men in an automobile at Washtenaw and Division streets. They did not "look right" to him and he sought to question them. They speeded away. He pursued and forced their car to the curb at California and Chicago avenues. Gruenstein identified the three as the men who held him up. They gave the names of Benjamin Hirholz, 1403 South Kedvale avenue; Morris Schaefer, 1306 Hastings street, and Herman Steinkies, 1309 West 18th street.

NEW COLD BLAST HEADS THIS WAY; SNOW DUE TODAY

A new cold wave that drove the mercury yesterday to an extreme low of 46 below zero in Canada is moving gradually southward and eastward and will reach Chicago district in modified form today or tomorrow, according to the weather bureau. The prediction is for snow today and probably tomorrow, with a fall in the temperature.

Yesterday the cold had reached the border states and zero temperatures were recorded in the northern portions of Nebraska and Wyoming. The general forecast stated that today and tomorrow will be the coldest days of the winter thus far in the northwest.

By a vote of 48 to 33 the senate adopted the motion of Senator Reed [Dem., Mo.], withholding the oath of office from Mr. Smith, the effect of which action is to deny the Illinois senator designate even a temporary seat while his qualifications are being investigated.

By the terms of the Reed motion, the credentials of Mr. Smith were referred to the privileges and elections committee, which is instructed to investigate the charges and report its findings. The committee will meet on Saturday to plan the inquiry.

Smith Watches Vote Tally.

When the roll was called that sealed his fate, Mr. Smith was seated in the red leather chair in the lounge on the Republican side of the senate floor, which he has occupied during the two days of debate on his qualifications. Senator Deneen [Rep., Ill.] sat near by keeping tally, with Mr. Smith looking over his shoulder. A few moments after the vote was announced, Mr. Smith rose and moved, alone and a bit unsteadily, into the Republican cloak room.

When the senate adjourned ten minutes later, he emerged from the cloak room and joined Allen Moore, William Culver, J. C. Condon, and other members of his party who were awaiting him outside the chamber. He forced a smile, but declined to say anything for publication.

Undecided on Investigation.

It developed, however, that Mr. Smith is undecided whether to go through with the investigation by the privileges and elections committee. He wishes to learn the scope of the investigation the committee contemplates before he reaches a decision. He will remain in Washington a few days and probably will not determine his course definitely until after the meeting of the committee on Saturday.

COLE BLEASE.

The reason for the indecision of the senator designate is that if the committee enters upon a detailed investigation of the Illinois primary slush fund scandal it could not report its findings before March 4, when this congress will end. With it will end the term of the late Senator McKinley to which Mr. Smith was appointed by Gov. Small. Even if the committee were to make its inquiry merely supplemental to the investigation already made by the senate slush fund committee of which Senator Reed of Missouri is chairman, it would take several weeks to dispose of the case.

May Relinquish Appointment.

These circumstances may impel Mr. Smith to withdraw from the present proceedings, if not to relinquish his appointment, and defer making any further fight until he comes to the next congress with his certificate of election.

Moreover, Mr. Smith realizes that he would be denied a seat if the committee were to report during this session. He was stronger on the vote today denying him the oath than he would have been on a vote to exclude. There are a number of senators who hold him disqualified and would vote to exclude him who, nevertheless, voted for him today because they believed the senate has no right to deny a temporary seat to any one presenting valid credentials.

LYNN J. FRAZIER.
[(C) Harris & Ewing]

The vote today, therefore, sealed the doom of Mr. Smith as a senator from Illinois. It signified not only that he will not be accorded a seat in this session by appointment, but that he will be rejected and refused the oath when he appears in the next congress by election. In the senate of the next congress his opponents on both the Democratic and Republican sides will be more numerous than they were today.

Ends Political Career.

The senate's action brought to a tragic end Mr. Smith's political career. For twenty years he has been an aspirant to high office. In one way or another the achievement of his ambition has invariably been frustrated. He began to refer to himself as unlucky in politics. At last he won the highest office within the gift of his state, only to find it snatched from him as he appeared to claim it.

It now looks as if there will be an election in Illinois in 1928 to choose a senator for the term beginning March 4, next, as a result of the exclusion of Mr. Smith in the next congress. He doubtless will be urged to seek vindication as a candidate in that election. That he could win, however, is doubtful. A report that Mr. Smith was "stricken with illness" was belittled. He was troubled yesterday with ear trouble from cold, but said he was all right today.

Why Oath Was Refused.

Mr. Smith was refused the oath because the senate held him disqualified for the office of senator by his acceptance of campaign funds from the officers of the public utility corporations subject to his regulation as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. The senate was particularly impressed by the fact that he violated an Illinois statute expressly forbidding the acceptance of gifts from public utility sources by members of the commission. An aggravating circumstance was the expenditure of $400,000 to nominate him in the Illinois primary.

By its vote the senate decided definitely for the first time that it may require other qualifications of members than those of age, residence, citizenship and loyalty enumerated in the constitution. It decided that it may exclude a person for any reason whatsoever, that it may refuse the oath to a person presenting valid credentials and that it may deprive a state of representation temporarily, pending investigation of qualifications.

The action on Smith is widely believed to presage similar action in the case of Vare of Pennsylvania, in connection with whose nomination $800,000 was expended and numerous irregularities occurred, according to the charges.

May Lead to Party Tie.

If Vare, as well as Smith, should be denied the oath when the next congress meets, the Republicans in the senate would be reduced to 46. There will be 47 Democrats and one Farmer-Labor senator, Shipstead of Minnesota. The latter probably will vote with the Republicans to organize the senate. That would produce a tie—47 for the Republican and 47 for the Democratic slate of officers and committee organization. It then would devolve upon Vice President Dawes to resolve the tie by voting with the Republicans and thereby enabling them to organize the senate.

This calculation might be upset by any one of the La Follette group of Republicans if not entirely satisfied with his committee assignments. On the other hand, the Republicans may gain a vote from the Democratic side, for Senator Blease [Dem., S. C.] uttered a threat in the senate just before the roll call today that if Smith were denied a seat he might vote for the Republican organization of the senate in the next congress.

Four Democrats for Smith.

Of the 33 senators who voted for Smith, 29 are Republicans and 4 Democrats. Of the 48 who voted against him 15 are Republicans, 32 Democrats, and one Farmer-Labor. Of those absent or not voting five Republicans were paired for Smith with five Democrats against him. Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.], who spoke in behalf of Smith, was absent, having been called to the house and not returning in time to answer to his name.

PAT HARRISON.
[Moffett Photo.]

Those who figured in the day's debate were Watson, Blease, Bingham [Rep., Conn.], and Cameron [Rep., Ariz.], speaking in behalf of Smith, and Harrison [Dem., Miss.], Heflin [Dem., Ala.], Walsh [Dem., Mass.], Frazier [Rep., N. D.], Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], and Dill [Dem., Wash.] against him.

Senator Harrison tried to get to the bottom of the incident of the warning telephoned to Smith not to come to Washington. Senator Curtis [Kas.], the Republican leader, denied emphatically that he had caused Senator Watson to transmit the warning. Harrison read a press account of what Watson told Smith over the telephone.

"That's true," Watson unexpectedly stated and then went after Harrison, recalling that Harrison had predicted Watson would be defeated by his vote for Newberry.

"O, the senator from Indiana squeezed through last November," said Harrison.

"Yes, I squeezed through," assented Watson, "but here is the senator from Utah [Smoot], who voted for Newberry and got a handsome majority."

"O, the senator from Utah is past redemption," rejoined Harrison.

The Mississippi senator said that if Smith were allowed the oath he would sit in the senate and vote, as did Lorimer and Newberry, for months, perhaps years, and that the "shadow of Insull will rest on the senate chamber." He said that politically Smith will be shunned "like the deadly upas tree."

Watson Tried Persuasion.

Senator Watson, in arguing for the seating of Smith, admitted that he had tried to keep him from presenting his credentials at this session. This admisson caused Senator Robinson [Dem., Ark.] to inquire why he had done so.

JOSEPH T. ROBINSON.
[(C) Henry Miller News Picture Service.]

"That is my business," retorted the Indiana senator.

Senator Robinson insisted that he ought to enlighten the senate on the subject.

"I must decline to answer," snapped Senator Watson. "It is my private business and not the business of the senator from Arkansas or of the senate of the United States."

Senator Harrison also was curious to know the reason why Senator Watson sought to prevent Smith from coming to Washington and yet now was urging that he be permitted to take the oath.

"If the senator will go with me out in the lobby," said Senator Watson, "I'll tell him all about it."

Would Admit Even a Leper.

Senator Watson took the position that the senate had no alternative but to recognize the credentials of the choice of a sovereign state in so far as the taking of the oath is concerned. Senator Robinson asked if he would contend that the senate must admit a leper.

"If the people of Arkansas with full knowledge of the facts elected him we would have to admit him," responded Senator Watson.

"Does the senator mean to say," went on Senator Robinson, "that if one had been adjudged a lunatic and was violently insane, then we would have to admit him?"

"Every one knows," retorted Watson, "that a lunatic cannot take the oath."

Senator Frazier explained why he had made the motion for referring the credentials of Senator Nye to the committee on privileges and elections without first administering the oath. He urged that the same procedure be followed in the Smith case. Other senators have contended that it was proper to refer the Nye credentials in this manner because of a question of the legal right of the governor of North Dakota to make an appointment.

"I can see no great difference between this case and the Nye case," said Senator Frazier. "And I can see no harm in referring these credentials to the committee on privileges and elections. I would be interested to know why Smith didn't come here immediately after he was appointed. The state of Illinois has been denied representation by two senators during that period. The state will not be deprived of representation any longer if the case first goes to a committee than it has been by reason of his failure to come here."

C. C. DILL.

Senator Dill said that the present case differs from those which have been offered by those favoring the Smith side of the argument in that it is the first time an official report has been before the senate at the time the credentials were presented. He declard that Mr. Smith is unfit to be seated.

"The facts as stated in the committee report are unchallenged," said Senator Dill. "We have an official report that a man is guilty of certain acts. Mr. Smith is guilty of violating a law of the state of Illinois in accepting $125,000 from a man whose utility companies were subject to regulation by the commission of which he was head. We have a right to have Mr. Smith stand aside, in the light of the admitted violation of the laws of Illinois.

Question of Honest Government.

"The question is one of honesty in government. I say the record shows Mr. Smith is not fit from the standpoint of an honest official and should not be accepted into this body. He accepted a gift of $125,000 from Samuel Insull, the largest owner of public utilities in Illinois. Was it because of favors done by Mr. Smith? If so, it was bribery of the worst kind.

"In my judgment the worst crime that can be committed by a public official is to be bribed by money to vote a particular way. Whether he accepted the money because of favors in the past or favors to be granted as a member of this body, he is unfit to sit here.

"If the state of Illinois cannot present a man who has the qualifications to be a member of this body, that is the fault of the state."

Bingham Sees Ban on Wets.

Senator Bingham delivered another address on the destruction of the fundamental principles of the government by the refusal to admit the Illinois senator designate. If the senate is to keep out any one it chooses for any reason, he would not be surprised, he said, if some time the prohibitionists would exclude a "lover of good wine."

The house is the popular branch, the senate the unpopular branch of congress and the trend of events is toward the domination of the senate by the house through just such high-handed procedure as the senate descends to in flouting the will of the sovereign state of Illinois, he declared.

PHILADELPHIA BALLOTS TAKEN TO WASHINGTON FOR SENATE INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Ballots and records of Philadelphia city and county used in Pennsylvania's controverted senatorial election last November arrived here early today in a fleet of motor trucks and were stored in the senate office building.

The 2,000 ballot boxes and 3,000 metal containers in which are the original registration books were placed in special rooms with special locks. They will be guarded night and day until the senate campaign funds committee orders their examination.

The task of counting the ballots and checking the registration books is likely to occupy a large force of clerks during the greater part of the spring and summer. While this work is under way the committee will begin its investigation of the charges of widespread fraud in voting and registration. The charges were made by William B. Wilson, Democrat, in his contest for the senate seat to which William S. Vare, Republican, was elected on the face of the returns.

MEXICO OFFERS TO MEDIATE OIL ROW WITH U. S.

O. K.'s Plan "in Principle"; Kellogg Silent.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The Mexican government accepts in principle arbitration of its differences with the United States government, the foreign office announced tonight.

If the Washington and Mexico City governments can agree upon details, it is probable arbitration will be invoked. President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg are reported in dispatches reaching here also to be in favor of a settlement by negotiation.

Now it remains for one of the two governments to propose the precise questions to be arbitrated and initiate negotiations to decide on an arbitral tribunal, and the time and place for the discussions.

The foreign office statement, written in English, says:

"Answering numerous questions with regard to present publications in the press, the Mexican government declares that it is ready to accept in principle that its difficulties with the United States should be decided by way of arbitration."

Kellogg Silent on Statement.

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg withheld comment tonight on the announcement by the Mexican foreign office that Mexico was prepared to accept "in principle" the arbitration methods of adjusting its dispute with the Washington government.

"Revolt on Rocks."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—The church revolt has gone on the rocks, according to the statement of a high official of the federal army.

"Nowhere have the clericals withstood the federal forces, and whenever they offered battle they hav ben severely punished," he said. "The revolt has failed to gain in 80 per cent of the states."

According to an official report fifty rebels were killed and more than 100 captured yesterday in a battle with federal troops at Atotonilco, in the state of Jalisco. The rebels retreated to the hills, where other insurgent forces awaited them.

The war department reported that a band of rebels, led by two priests, after attack Nochistlan, in the state of Zacatecas, was routed by federal troops. A woman in the band was captured. Three other rebels who were taken were executed.

Archbishop Pascual Diaz, deported secretary of the Catholic episcopate, crossed the border to Ayulla, Guatemala, today, after having gained the consent of the Guatemalan authorities. He is expected to go to New Orleans.

U. S. Landowners Plan Fight.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 21.—[U. N.]—Lands belonging to citizens of the United States and having an estimated value of $150,000,000 have become involved in the controversy between Mexico and the United States with the enforcement at midnight of the new land laws. Injunctions against the Mexican government, similar to those filed against the oil laws which became effective on Jan. 1, are planned by American landowners to prevent enforcement of alleged retroactive features of the laws.

SMALL REFUSES TO COMMENT ON SENATE REJECTION OF SMITH

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Gov. Small was silent tonight on the action of the United States senate in refusing to permit Frank L. Smith of Dwight to take the oath of office as senator from Illinois to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William B. McKinley.

"I have no statement to make at this time," the governor said.

The governor received the information that the senate had rejected Mr. Smith while he was engaged in a conference in the executive office. Later, when he went to the mansion, the information was given out that the governor would make no comment.

Mr. Smith was appointed by Gov. Small on Dec. 15, 1926, to fill the vacancy of the late Senator McKinley, but Smith did not go to Washington until last Monday.

4,000,000 BRITISH UNION MEN VOTE ON STRIKE ACTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—At a post mortem meeting on the general strike this afternoon, 1,200 delegates of the British trade unions, representing 4,000,000 members and 400 unions, gathered to see the miners' union and the general trades union council fight it out. Later they will vote on whether the general council betrayed the miners by calling off the general strike.

A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation, and J. H. Thomas, president of the railway men's union, each presented long reports stating their viewpoints. Following the reading of the reports, which took two hours, Mr. Cook and Mr. Thomas, who represents the moderates of trade unionism, delivered virulent orations, hurling charges of treachery and intimidation at each other.

The general council asked for a vote of confidence on its action, to be expressed through acceptance of its report, which states it has no apologies to make for its action.

CHAPLIN TO FIGHT SUIT FOR MILLION U. S. BACK TAXES

Lien Filed in New York; Wife Meets Rebuff.

BULLETIN.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Fifteen minutes before Charlie Chaplin's bank accounts here, estimated at $1,550,000, were seized today by federal liens, Chaplin succeeded, through his representatives, in withdrawing $500,000 in cash from the Bowery and East River National bank, says the New York American.

The American quotes the president of the bank as saying:

"The bank did only what it would do with any other account. Chaplin had the money on deposit. He asked to withdraw it. We could not do otherwise than honor the check. At that time we had not been informed that the government was planning to place a lien against the account."

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Frank J. Bowers, internal revenue collector for this district, today filed against Charles Spencer Chaplin and the Charles Chaplin Film corporation of Los Angeles liens aggregating more than $1,500,000. As in the case of similar liens filed against Chaplin in San Francisco, they are based on alleged unpaid income tax assessments.

The liens stated only the amounts and the years for which a part of Chaplin's tax is alleged to be still unpaid. Claims against Chaplin personally for the years stated are: 1918, $67,311; 1919, $15,750; 1921, $288,484; 1922, $35,604; 1923, $44,685; 1924, $85,094.

Amounts claimed against the Chaplin Film corporation are: 1918, $134,622; 1919, $31,501; 1921, $576,968; 1922, $71,288; 1923, $89,371; 1924, $170,048; 1925, $40,056. For some reason 1920 does not appear in the liens and there is no personal claim against the comedian for 1925.

Court Order But No Cash.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—For the sixth time in the ten days since Mrs. Charlie Chaplin filed her divorce papers the lawyers took a whack at the Chaplin bank roll in court today, but when the reverberations of legal language had died, Chaplin's estimated $16,000,000 in property still was not minus a red cent.

Mrs. Chaplin procured a court order from Judge Walter Guerin this afternoon. The order authorized the receivers to pay her $14,400 out of the $17,000 cash which they have taken over in Charlie's Hollywood bank accounts.

Uncle Sam's Foot on It.

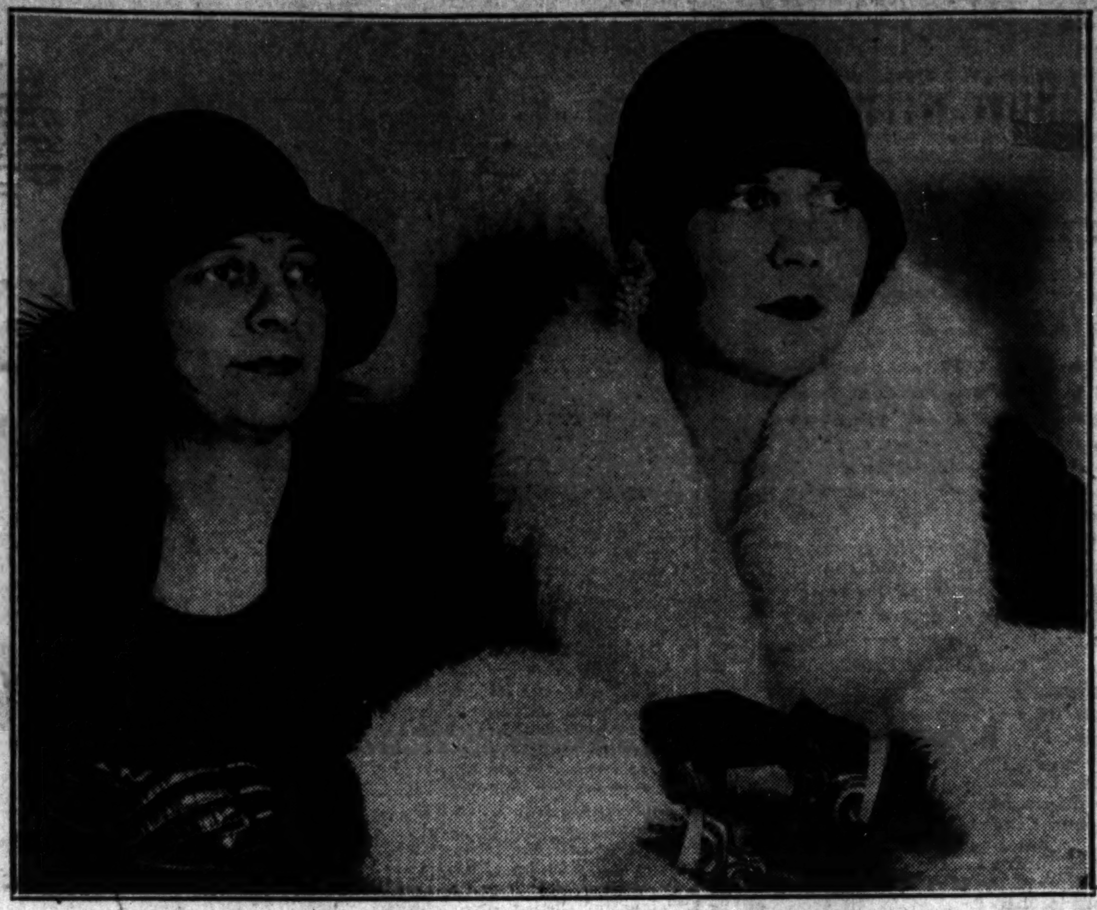
But when Mrs. Chaplin's lawyers flashed their court order on Receivers W. I. Gilbert and Herman Spitzell, they were informed that Chaplin's money already is tied up under $1,073,721 income tax liens of the United States government, which takes priority.

According to Attorney Lyndol Young, Mrs. Chaplin's counsel have wired Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair at Washington and expect a federal release so as to obtain the $14,400.

It was pointed out at the federal building that if Charlie does not pay off on the government liens against him within twenty days, or post the $1,000,000 bond required, the government may issue a warrant of distraint and seize and sell his property.

The tax liens cover the original differences between the figures returned by Chaplin and the government estimates of his income from 1918 to 1925, "plus penalties and forfeitures imposed when Chaplin did not meet demands for payment," Galen H. Welch, collector of internal revenue, said tonight.

CHAPLIN'S WIFE UNABLE TO COLLECT ALIMONY



This, the most recent picture of Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin and Mrs. Lillian Spicer, her mother, shows them listening to Judge Walter Guerin's order to the Chaplin receivers to pay her $14,000. The receivers were unable to obey the order because the claim of the United States for $1,073,721 unpaid income tax has tied up all the money found in Chaplin's banks.

GEORGE E. VINCENT TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR LYING-IN HOSPITAL

Affiliation of the Chicago Lying-In hospital and the University of Chicago under an agreement reached last week will be discussed at a meeting, open to the public, to be held next Monday at 3:30 p. m. in the Studebaker theater.

George E. Vincent, head of the Rockefeller foundation, will make a special trip from New York to address the meeting, which was called by the directors of the hospital. President Max Mason of the university and Dr. Joseph B. De Lee, superintendent of the hospital; also will speak.

Under the agreement, the university has donated to the hospital board a site on its own medical school campus and the intention is to raise $1,250,000 for a new building. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, chairman of the hospital board, announced last night that no funds would be solicited at this gathering, however.

"We want the public to understand the splendid work that has been done by the hospital," Mrs. Fairbank declared. "The record of infant and maternal mortality was lower in the Chicago Lying-in hospital than at any other institution in the world—twenty-four one hundredths of 1 per cent. Of 30,000 cases at the dispensary at Maxwell street and Newberry avenue only twenty-six women died.

"Our plan is to erect the new building with funds raised in a campaign and then to sell the old one and establish an endowment fund."

CAPT. KIDD HAS CLOSE CALL, BUT HUNTER MISSES

The murderous career of Capt. Kidd, the wily old loop hawk whose appetite for pigeons caused the marines and the American Legion to be called to arms, nearly came to a close yesterday. In fact, it would have if the hunter's aim was true. But he missed.

The marauder was sighted soaring along above Madison street at Michigan avenue. He was headed toward a luscious group of pigeons lunching alongside the Art institute.

As Capt. Kidd was about to make a nose dive into the group a double barrelled shotgun was unleashed from an office window on the boulevard. The unidentified hunter let fly and Mr. Hawk was seen to falter. But that was only a stall, as he continued on downward, plucked a nice pigeon, made his way back directly across from where the shot had come, and then ate his dinner atop a chimney.

FINDS MOTHER DEAD OF GAS.

Mrs. Anna Kratzenberg, 87 years old, was found dead in the gas filled kitchen of her home at 3233 North Troy street yesterday afternoon. Her son, Charles Kratzenberg, found the body. He told the police his mother was subject to fainting spells and that he believed she had accidentally turned on a burner as she fell.

McCutcheon's Condition Is Much Better, Doctor Says

John T. McCutcheon, TRIBUNE cartoonist, who went to his home on Wednesday after a sudden illness, passed yesterday in bed only at the insistence of Mrs. McCutcheon. "Mr. McCutcheon was so much improved," Dr. George H. Coleman said, "that it wasn't necessary for me to visit him yesterday." Mr. McCutcheon, who is president of the Chicago Zoölogical society, became indisposed while making an address to the trustees at their annual meeting

Dever Decorates Boy Scout for Saving Preacher's Life

Mayor Dever yesterday pinned a gold hero medal on the Bout Scout blouse of Lewis K. Elliott, 14, son of Mrs. Helen Keil Elliott, who stood by while her boy was decorated. The award was made by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to the boy for saving the life of the Rev. John Howard Lever of Pittsburgh, Pa., at Spray Beach, N. J.

SHOE STORE ROBBED OF $300.

SUE DAUGHTER OF A. J. CERMAK AND STUDENT HUBBY

$40,000 Damages Asked by Urbana Landlady.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Helena Cermak Kenlay, daughter of Anton Cermak of Chicago, president of the Cook county board, and her husband, Floyd, a student at the University of Illinois, were made defendants in two damage suits for $20,000 each filed in the Champaign County court this afternoon.

The plaintiffs are Mrs. Harold Greenwood, landlady of a student rooming house, and her husband. Mrs. Greenwood is suing Mrs. Kenlay. Greenwood's suit is directed at Kenlay.

Lawyer Won't Discuss Suit.

Louis Busch, attorney for the Greenwoods, refused to discuss the case, but it is understood that it arises from a dispute over a rent bill Kenlay is said to have owed them. Why suit was brought also against Mrs. Kenlay was not made known.

It was stated that Mrs. Greenwood was ill in bed and had removed to her room a suitcase owned by Kenlay as security for the money he is alleged to have owed her. According to friends of the principals, Kenlay returned for his suitcase and, finding it in possession of his landlady, started an argument which the plaintiffs say resulted in the sick woman suffering a relapse and being removed to Mercy hospital in a serious condition.

Wife Out of School.

Mrs. Kenlay withdrew from the university during the present semester, but her husband, whose home is in Danville, is still attending classes. The couple had just returned from a visit with Kenlay's mother at Danville today when papers in the suits were served on them by a deputy sheriff.

ASK SMALL AID FOR A PARK ON DUNNING SITE

Gov. Small yesterday received a delegation of Chicagoans who went to Springfield to plead that a new state asylum be erected and the present site at Dunning be converted into a park and named for Baron Steuben, the Revolutionary war hero.

The delegation, which carried a petition signed by 200,000 persons, was assured by the governor that if the legislature would establish the new institution and dedicate the old Dunning site for a park, he would coöperate in applying the name desired by the petitioners.

Dr. John Dill Robertson presided at the meeting, held in representatives' hall.

Bombing Plane Routs Sacasa Raiding Party.

troops at Santa Clara, in the extreme southwestern corner of Nicaragua. Four of the dead were Conservatives and eight were Liberals.

The government has sent 1,600 soldiers from Rama, on the east coast, to the Chontles district to intercept revolutionists who are approaching from the east coast.

Using a large bombing plane, flyers in the army of President Diaz routed revolutionist expeditions near Telica, across Lake Managua from the Conservative capital.

Maj. Gen. Bartolomew Viques, commanding the Conservative forces, said the Liberal forces were breaking up because of lack of provisions. He predicted that a Conservative attack on all fronts, which he plans within a few days, will terminate the revolution in the interior.

The Conservative government again has refused an offer of mediation from Guatemala.

May Protest to League.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Jan. 20.—Both Nicaragua and Panama have been placed in untenable positions, so far as their political obligations and relations with the league of nations are concerned, and they will be forced to denounce the influence of the United States in their internal affairs or withdraw from the league, if the other Latin American members raised their expected protest in the coming assembly.

It is even possible that one of the three American council members—San Salvador, Colombia, or Chile—might force the issue before the council in the meantime. League members unofficially admit that Panama's ratification of the United States-Panama treaty will irrevocably be considered a violation of three articles of the league covenant. They consider ratification inevitable because of pressure from the United States.

League Not Optimistic.

The league is trying to bolster up the prestige of Latin America by appointing Castro Raimierez, former minister of foreign affairs of San Salvador, and M. J. Stefanich, director general of the newspaper La Nacion of Asuncion, Paraguay, as liaison officials. Ostensibly their duty is to keep the league informed of the Latin American sentiment, but actually it includes the dissemination of league propaganda. Both are in Geneva getting acquainted with the league's machinery.

Heretofore the league has seen it necessary to have liaison officials only in Paris, Rome, and London, but now it is also adding similar offices at Berlin and Tokio.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—[U. N.]—When the prince of Wales visits the United States again he will be able to talk hobby horses with President Coolidge. He has acquired a mechanical horse like the President's, and does a stationary eight miles on it in his bathroom when he is unable to ride a real horse.

LEITER, COUNTESS ON SAME SIDE IN NEW SUIT PHASE

An unexpected legal maneuver in the $20,000,000 Leiter estate fight yesterday placed Lady Marguerite Hyde, countess of Suffolk, and her brother, Joseph Leiter, in the unusual position of siding with each other. Hitherto, the countess has been the chief complainant in the suit against Leiter, charging him with mismanagement of the estate.

However, Attorneys Patrick J. Lucey and Horace K. Tenney, representing the grandchildren of the late Levi Z. Leiter, put M. J. Murphy, an accountant, on the witness stand before Judge Denis E. Sullivan to testify in behalf of their claim that $1,500,000 has been diverted from the estate to pay for expenses which they contend should have been provided for from income. If their claim is successful, Leiter, Lady Suffolk, and Mrs. Colin Campbell will be required to pay the $1,500,000 back into the estate.

There are ten grandchildren who are represented by the attorneys. They will share the estate eventually.

ABANDON HOPE OF FINDING BOY ADRIFT ON ICE

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The fate of a boy cast adrift on a cake of ice in Lake Erie by a sudden thaw tonight remained a mystery locked in the pounding ice field off shore.

A search lasting nearly 24 hours was abandoned late in the day when a city fireboat returned to her moorings after forcing her way through the floes along the shore nearly 21 miles in both directions. Earlier, low visibility had defeated the efforts of two men in an airplane who for several hours churned the thick pall of fog and snow overhanging the lake in a futile effort to locate the boy.

The marooned boy was sighted last night from shore just as darkness fell over the water. The search was started at once. Several attempts to launch small boats failed, and Edwin D. Barry, commissioner of safety, ordered out the fireboat.

Jailed for Failure to Support His Mother, 80

Abraham Sherman of North Chicago was sentenced to five days in Waukegan jail yesterday on charges that he had failed to comply with a County court order to support his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Sherman, 80 years old. Judge Martin C. Decker warned Sherman that unless payments are made regularly the jail sentences will be increased.

German Parties Refuse Nationalists Seat in Cabinet

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—[U. P.]—President von Hindenburg today again designated Wilhelm Marx to form a German cabinet. Herr Marx had failed earlier in the day in his effort to form a cabinet of the middle parties. Tonight he received word that the Democrats, and possibly the Centrists, would not support him in his efforts if he included a Nationalist in the new group.

Oklahoma Oil Man Held Here on Murder Charge

Howard F. Ogle of Pawhuska, Okla., said to be a wealthy oil operator, was arrested yesterday at the home of a relative at 4213 Lake Park avenue. According to the sheriff at Pawhuska, Ogle is wanted for murder there. The body of his wife was found in a ditch several weeks ago and he fled before suspicion was directed at him, the sheriff told police here.

BOBBED HAIRED GIRLS ROUT NUNS FROM FOOCHOW

Mob Menaces Priests and Sisters at Amoy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 21.—The military and naval forces in the Philippine islands expect orders to go to China. The destroyer Stewart sailed from Manila this morning with 1,176 boxes of ammunition, presumably for the 15th infantry at Tientsin. Sixty-seven American refugees, of whom thirty-two are women and thirty-two children, are due this afternoon from Foochow on the destroyer Pillsbury.

HONGKONG, China, Jan. 20.— [U. P.]—Chinese girl students, with bobbed hair in the manner of their western sisters, and wearing horn-rimmed glasses, led the mob which sacked Christian institutions at Foochow, refugees from that city said here today. Orphans were sold in the streets during the disorders.

The day before the trouble began a group of Chinese girl students visited the Spanish convent at Foochow and asked to be shown through the institution. This request was granted. The next day a mob, with girls in the lead, invaded the convent building and removed the body of an orphan who they alleged had been murdered by the sisters.

Mob Threatens Nuns.

American, Japanese and Chinese physicians certified that the child had died of natural causes, but the mob persisted and later entered the convent morgue, where they found the bodies of several infants. This led to a violent demonstration and threats that the nuns would be paraded through the streets carrying the bodies of dead children.

Eventually the sisters fled, taking a few orphans with them. Most of the children were seized by the mob and sold in the streets.

The girls were not yet appeased. They boarded the vessel upon which the sisters had found refuge and created continuous trouble by seeking to induce the crew to strike.

Orders U. S. Women to Go.

PEKING, China, Jan. 20.—[U. P.]—The United States consul at Foochow today ordered all women and children to leave the city, after a new outbreak of rioting. After prolonged demonstrations in which several persons were shot the Chinese authorities placed 100 rioters under arrest.

Thirty Spanish priests and sisters, who fled from Foochow after anti-foreign demonstrations, were menaced by a mob which boarded their vessel at Amoy and permitted them to depart only after seizing one priest as a hostage, advices received here said.

To Send More Ships.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—With official confirmation this afternoon of serious rioting outbreaks at Foochow, Chinese events have reached a boiling point.

It was announced today that four more warships and one hospital ship will follow the first cruiser squadron to China next week. The ships to be sent are the gunboats Aphis, Ladybird, the destroyers Wanderer and Wolverine, and the hospital ship Maine. They will leave Malta on Jan. 30.

Former Premiers David Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald, leaders of the opposition, were called in today by the government to be informed on the Chinese situation. Mr. Lloyd George saw Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, at noon, and the latter informed him of the government views on China. Sir Austen already had imparted the facts of the situation to Mr. McDonald. Mrs. Lloyd George later expressed approval of the government's policy.

Spain Sends Warship.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 20.—Following advices that Chinese students had wiped out the orphan asylum and sacked the quarters of the Spanish bishop of Fokien and the European district of Fuchow, the Spanish government tonight ordered the warship Don Blas de Lezo to Chinese waters to protect Spaniards.

Portuguese Cruiser to Shanghai.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 20.—Upon request of the governor of Macao, the Portuguese government is sending the cruisers Patria and Republica to Shanghai to assist the foreign squadrons.

EVA TANGUAY.

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Eva Tanguay is to be married. Eva herself, the red haired girl who ushered in jazz on the vaudeville stage a couple of decades ahead of its real reign with her "I Don't Care" song, confirmed her reported engagement today. Then she introduced her fiancé, Allan Parado, 25 year old pianist, to callers.

How old Eva is no one knows, but Broadway guesses well past 40. She and Parado met six months ago as students of Christian Science. The date of the ceremony is not set, but the honeymoon will be in Europe, the actress said today.

BUSINESS HEEDS FARMERS' WOES; HUNTING REMEDY

McNary-Haugen Bill Up Before Delegates Here.

BY HARPER LEECH.

Plain talk followed the more polished periods of the set speeches at the meeting yesterday of the Northern Central division of the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. A.

Some 330 business men, bankers, commercial secretaries, with a handful of farmers from widespread points of the midwest, heard the agricultural question discussed with a wealth of statistics, history, analysis, and good wishes.

Then C. E. Childe, representing the Chamber of Commerce of Omaha, introduced a resolution giving practical indorsement to the McNarry-Haugen bill. That was referred to the committee on resolutions, a report being due this afternoon.

After adjournment late last night a member of the committee stated agreement had been reached to report in no uncertain language that an acute farm problem exists—that of raising the domestic price above the world price—and that "the job be referred to congress." This may bring sharp debate on the floor, as strong opposition to the McNary-Haugen bill is evident and might command a majority, even to override a committee report indorsing similar principles.

Predicts Failure of Measure.

Called on for an opinion on the McNary-Haugen bill, Dr. Benjamin H. Hibbard of the University of Wisconsin said he could not indorse it. It will break down politically, he said, because it will raise prices to 70 out of every 100 of the population, while, unlike the tariff, its effects will be perfectly plain to the voter. The tariff, he asserted, is so old, established, and opaque that the consumer can't see its effects in any such manner.

"The incidence of the tariff tax is past human comprehension," he said.

Asked about a common ground between the cities and the country, Dr. Hibbard said that while it is true that their interests are in the long run common their immediate interests are not.

"Present industrial prosperity can continue for a long time, partly at the expense of the farmer.

Calls Farmers Sufferers.

"You can go on taking it out of his hide. Don't deceive ourselves," Dr. Hibbard added. "There is no force which makes it inevitable that the farmer's condition will improve. He can go on reducing his standard of living, making his family work harder, and produce more food than is needed for years.

"I believe that the people of the cities want the farmer to prosper, but they are not ready for a sacrifice, not ready to divide profits with him after profits are made."

That midwestern agriculture already has begun to retrieve its position after disastrous deflation and gigantic mistakes was the general tenor of the address by Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. Samuel R. McKelvie of Lincoln, Neb., said fewer acres must be farmed and those must be farmed better or we will have to abandon the theory of an American market for the American producer.

In twenty-five years the American farm cannot feed our population if the present profligate use of natural resources and fertility is continued, he said.

Arthur Huntington of Cedar Rapids, said, "Farming heretofore has been a way of life rather than business. Static agriculture has taken a plunge into the industrial and financial world without analyzing itself to see how it fitted into the picture. It accepted the practices of the business and industrial world without analyzing to see if they were suited to the practices of agriculture."

Mr. Huntington predicted that the readjustment of agriculture to industry would mean that marginal acres will go back to grass, marginal farmers will become agricultural laborers and more labor will be driven to the city.

"America will not drag industry or labor down to the level of agriculture, but will build up agriculture to the point where it can compete as a producer," he declared.

Cites Indirect Subsidies.

Julian Friant of Cape Girardeau, Mo., who said he had advocated higher rates for railroads in 1911 cited the federal reserve act, the immigration laws, the Adamson law, and the tariff as the reasons why representatives of governmentally favored industries should be willing to give a plan similar to that of the McNary-Haugen bill a trial.

In the principal mid-year dinner speech, John W. O'Leary, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States of America, after reciting the glories and resources of the midwest, said sectional competition and proper pride should not lead to hatred.

DERIDES MAZE OF LAWS

The congress of the United States is overloaded with bills, most of which would provide government jobs for salaried reformers, according to Congressman Fred S. Purcell of Attica, Ind., speaking at the annual banquet of the Illinois Bankers' association in the Palmer house last night. This he added, is the age of propaganda, fostered by organizations 75 per cent of which are illegitimate.

"There are now more than 2,000,000 laws in this country, and they are increasing at the rate of 2,000 in every session of congress," he declared. "It would take 900 years for one congressional clerk to read them all."

Less than a quarter of them are useful, he said.

"Meanwhile," he resumed, "the American farmer is left in the anterooms of congress, cooling his heels."

Ailing Veteran Hangs Self; Mother Finds His Body

Dr. William Brown, 27, a dentist, hanged himself in the basement of his home, 4627 North Drake avenue, yesterday. His mother called the Albany Park police. She said he had been despondent over ill health. Dr. Brown was a world war veteran.

FASCISM WORLD SOVIET ANTIDOTE, CHURCHILL SAYS

Puts British O. K. on Mussolini and Works.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Jan. 20.—Winston Churchill, chancellor of the British exchequer, today placed the seal of the British government's approval on Fascism. In behalf of Great Britain he thanked Premier Benito Mussolini for his services to the world in combating the "Russian poison." This was the substance of an interview handed to representatives of the Italian and foreign press at the British embassy.

Owing to the joint responsibility of the British government for the declarations of any of its ministers, Mr. Churchill's statements are of utmost importance in international relations. He spoke of the friendship between Italy and Great Britain as one which has existed since the foundation of the United Italian state, and which never has been disturbed. He advised the Italian finance ministry, by implication, that stabilization and a return to the gold standard would be a highly satisfactory course.

Shows Nature of Talk.

Mr. Churchill's statement revealed in a large measure the nature of his talks with Sig. Mussolini and Finance Minister Volpi. He indicated that he has been chiefly interested in Italy's financial policy and that he has stressed the benefits for any nation to return to a gold basis or stabilize its currency.

The English statesman prepared the statement in the form of an interview before receiving the journalists. He asked himself what he thought of Premier Mussolini, what he talked of with the Duce and Count Volpi, what his impressions of Fascism were, and what he thought of the general European situation.

"The policy of the British government in Europe, as conducted by Sir Austen Chamberlain, is quite simple," Mr. Churchill said. "No English minister or member of parliament has the slightest difficulty explaining it either to foreigners or to a public audience of our own fellow countrymen. Our policy is that England, France, Italy and Germany should work together for a revival of Europe, and heal the wounds of war. That is really the whole thing in a nutshell. The antagonisms among these great races nearly ruined Europe, and if they had continued would have completely destroyed civilization.

Must Join Hands.

"The great commandants of war must join hands to help each other all they can, like two loyal friends crossing a dangerous ford. They should keep so closely in touch with one another that their interests will become more and more interwoven and the idea of another fratricidal struggle fades altogether from their minds.

"An understanding like that was solemnly recorded at Locarno, but does not mean the exclusion of other powers. It overrides the interests of no one. It fits harmoniously into the general structure of the league of nations and enormously facilitates the development of that vital instrument. Neither is it in the slightest degree antagonistic to the United States. On the contrary, I am sure nothing would give more pleasure to the American people than to see the great nations of Europe working together loyally, and cordially, and nothing would be more likely to induce the United States to add its own great contribution to what is, after all, the cause of mankind."

Views on Mussolini.

The interview throughout was a new and important manifestation of those friendly relations and converging policies which unite the Italian and British public interests.

Asking himself what he thought of Premier Mussolini, Mr. Churchill answered. "I could not help being charmed, like so many other people have been, by his gentle simple bearing and his calm detached poise, in spite of so many burdens and dangers. Secondly, anyone could see that he thought of nothing but the lasting good, as he understood it, of the Italian people, and that no lesser interest was of the slightest consequence to him."

Speaking of the nature of his interviews with the Italian dictator, and with Sig. Volpi, he first characterized them as purely of a private nature; then went on to say that he was sure he was violating no confidence when he said that a large part of the conversation with the Italian premier and finance minister was turned on the economic position of the Italian wage earner, and that he was glad to hear, and to have it proved by facts and figures, that there had been a definite improvement, month by month, over the preceding year.

Gold Standard Policy.

"It is particularly satisfactory that this should be so at a time when every effort is being made to maintain the strict standard of Italian finance, uphold the national credit exchange and meet all obligations punctually," Mr. Churchill said. "I was much criticized myself for returning to the gold standard in England two years ago, and Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was also scolded for his settlement of the American debt. But I think experience has shown that the gain exceeded the loss. After all, a strict stable finance and firm national credit are the only foundations on which the material prosperity of a nation can be maintained over a long period of time."

Speaking of the international aspects of Fascism, he said: "Externally your movement has rendered a service to the whole world. The great fear which has beset every democratic or working class leader has been that of being undermined or overbid by some one more extreme than he. It seemed that a continued progression to the left and a sort of inevitable landslide into an abyss was characteristic of all revolutions. Italy has shown that there is a way to fight subversive forces."

PROFESSOR CALLS IDLE WIVES CLASS LIKE THE HOBOS

Prof. David Snedden of Columbia university, talking on "Salvaging American Home" at the school of domestic arts and science, declared two evils which corrupt family life are:

1. Idle wives, a parasitic class comparable to the hobo, devoted to dog petting, make believe social work, and luxurious eating.

2. Adolescent girls in little coteries who evolve their own moral codes.

"Our greatest opportunities for curing these troubles of society are in the field of education," Prof. Snedden concluded, "but as long as spinster teachers in schools, hide bound moralists in churches, and ardent contenders for feminine equalities speak a babel of tongues to youth the latter will fail to respect the social inheritance and incessantly pursue novelties, impulses, and the easiest ways."

$15,000 DAMAGES AWARDED BOY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Necessity of a law requiring every driver of an automobile to take out liability insurance was emphasized yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph B. David after a jury in his court had awarded a 7 year old boy $15,000 damages for a paralyzed left arm received in an automobile accident.

The boy, Eugene Knaflewski, 4539 South Ashland avenue, was knocked down by an automobile in September, 1925, at 45th street and Ashland avenue. The car was driven by Jess Seaman, a city fireman, and it was admitted that there was little chance of the child's family collecting the $15,000 damages awarded.

One death due to an automobile accident was reported yesterday. The total of motor fatalities since Jan. 1 in Cook county is 42.

Mrs. Alice Byrne, 67 years old, 3128 Taylor street, died at her home last evening from injuries suffered Tuesday when she was knocked down by a motor truck while crossing Kedzie avenue and Flournoy street. The driver of the truck, Paul Frieland, 808 East 49th street, has been asked to attend the inquest.

Battalion Chief John Byrne, in command of the twenty-seventh battalion, was cut and bruised and had a narrow escape from death, and his chauffeur, Harry Kill, was hurt when their flivver was struck by a taxicab while the firemen were responding to an alarm late last night. The accident happened at Devon and Lakewood avenues while the firemen were on their way to a small fire at 6409 Lakewood avenue.

SANITARY BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET; CUT 9 MILLION

Approves $34,180,824 to Be Spent in 1927.

Sanitary District trustees yesterday adopted a budget for 1927 expenditures that is $9,106,675 less than was spent in 1926. President T. J. Crowe said this is the beginning of the fulfillment of his promises of an efficient and economical administration of the public body that has to do with the disposal of sewage.

The expenditures this year will be $34,180,824, as compared to $42,253,953 last year. In addition to this President Crowe proposed and Trustee Frank J. Link moved that Edward E. Gore, representing the association of commerce, which last year audited the Sanitary district's books and found some waste of money, be invited to make further suggestions.

Trim Million Off Pay Roll.

Jobs were sacrificed in the new budget, the pay roll being trimmed to $1,228,422 less than it was in 1926 and the new figure includes many wage increases. Trustee Michael Rosenberg said the pay roll as passed yesterday will stand, and that no extra help will be employed during the coming year as has been done previously.

Trustee Rosenberg, as chairman of the finance committee, moved the adoption of the budget as read. Trustee Lawrence King, former president of the board, objected, saying each item should be voted upon separately. He said he was not convinced there was a reduction of the pay rolls.

Appropriations by Departments.

Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer of the district, then was called upon to explain the various savings to the taxpayers. He read the separate departmental appropriations, which were as follow:

Engineering	$23,919,383
Illinois Valley	64,806
Law	499,940
Clerk of District	331,485
Treasury	3,250
Real Estate	76,525
Police	376,510
Board of Trustees	116,950
Fixed Charges	8,803,975
Total	$34,180,824

Chief Engineer Kelly said the budget provides for every essential in the program of construction as approved by the war department when the government issued its permit for withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan pending the completion of the $100,000,000 system of sewage treatment plants.

Three Projects Are Named.

Trustee James M. Whalen, chairman of the engineering committee, said provisions were being made only for projects that can actually be started within the year. The specific appropriations for construction, Trustee Whalen said, are: $4,247,000 to be spent this year on the construction of the south side treatment plant which is to cost approximately $41,000,000; for completion of the north side plant, which is to be finished April 1, 1928, $6,142,000; for completion of the Salt Creek plant, $1,500,000.

Also $611,000 is appropriated for dredging the Calumet river and $500,000 is provided for starting operations on the Crawford avenue bridge.

Lists Other Savings.

In making the $9,106,675 saving to the taxpayers, President Crowe explained, besides the pay roll reduction of $1,228,422, the other reductions over last year's budget are divided as follows: Contractual and impersonal service, $112,403; supplies, $30,150; material and parts, $9,300; equipment, $12,300; structures, $6,604,200; and acquirement of land, $1,220,000. All these figures represent the difference between the lessened appropriations of this year and of the appropriations of last year. One item alone shows an increase, fixed charges, which is $211,100 more this year than last.

FORD PLANT HAS GONE 24 YEARS WITHOUT A STRIKE

Due to Fact Skilled Labor Is Not Required.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Henry Ford has never been troubled with labor problems. In the twenty-four years of the company's existence no strikes have occurred in the Ford plants to hold up production. A reason for the firm's freedom from these troubles was written into the record of the $31,000,000 tax suit in progress at Hotel Statler today when Leone E. Faurote, author of numerous engineering books, was placed on the stand to testify as to the standing of the Ford company in 1913.

Ford, the testimony of the writer revealed, did not require the aid of skilled laborers in 1913 any more than he required their aid today. The simplicity of the manufacture of the Ford car, made so by the use always of modern machinery, eliminates the need of skilled mechanics, Faurote testified.

No Brains Required.

A common laborer who enters the employ of Ford can be trained in the operation of the machinery used in three days, the witness said. No brains are required, the plant being so organized mechanically that, in some instances at least, all a man has to know to carry out the work assigned is the difference in color of lights.

Faurote's testimony was introduced by the appellants to add to the evidence presented by Frederick J. Haynes, chairman of the board of Dodge Brothers, Harry M. Jewett of the Paige-Detroit Motor company, and Charles D. Hastings of the Hupp Motor Car company. All of these witnesses, like Faurote, testified that the Ford company has been and will continue to be unique in the automobile industry.

Joseph E. Davies, chief of counsel for the nine appellants, is fortifying a case as to the position the Ford companies have held since their inception, in anticipation of the government's proposal to place experts upon the stand to testify as to the value of the stock of the company in 1913.

The three automobile executives have already testified that the Ford field in 1913 was unlimited and that it was far ahead of all other automobile manufacturers. These men have testified that the value of the Ford stock March 1, 1913, was $12,000 per share. The government contends it should have been $3,600.

Ford the Chief Asset.

The statements often made that other men associated with Henry Ford were the real brains of the Ford organization are being attacked in the testimony so far introduced. Each witness of importance called to date has testified to the genius of Ford, and the evidence in the case to date indicates that the inauguration of almost every radical change in policy, in mechanism, in cost, and in sales price was directly due to some discovery made by Ford himself. His discoveries, the evidence reveals, did not stop with the production of the Ford engine. His executive ability and his financial ability played the big parts in the company's development, the record is made to show.

Mr. Hastings' testimony was similar to that given by Alvan Macauley, Haynes, and Jewett. He used the same multiple in arriving at a value of $12,000 a share as of March 1, 1913. This was ten times the average net earnings, although Mr. Hastings said he might have been inclined to increase the multiple, due to the demand for Ford cars.

Revenue Agent Heard.

T. G. Thurston, internal revenue agent for the Indianapolis division, testified he had been sent to Detroit in January, 1920, several months after the government levied its original tax assessment, to go into the question of Ford stock valuation. After an investigation he reached the conclusion that there existed no grounds for error in the valuation of $9,489.34 placed upon the stock by Daniel C. Roper, internal revenue commissioner, in 1919.

Under cross-examination he said he had approached the investigation with an open mind, and so reported to his superiors in Washington.

Thurston arrived at the valuation by using the same method—ten times the net earnings, he added.

INVADING HORDES OF MICE DISTRESS FOUR CALIFORNIA TOWNS

Bakersfield, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Townspeople in four Kern county cities hoped for rain tonight to drown hordes of invading mice. Light rains temporarily aided in the defense against the migrating thousands, but Whit Barber, horticultural commissioner, believed the effect would be to hasten the departure of other thousands from the Buena Vista lake lowlands unless floods drown the rodents in wholesale numbers.

The exodus has been controlled, Barber asserted, and the columns attacking trenches of poisoned grain are diminishing.

The problem now is to eliminate the mice from their stronghold in the drained lake bottom.

S. E. Piper, federal mouse specialist, and Norman Buhn, state expert, are expected to arrive tomorrow for a survey.

NORRIS TO TELL JURY WHY HE KILLED CHIPPS

Heard No Threats, Pastor's Secretary Swears

desk and then went into Norris' study a few minutes before Chipps got there. Using a long stick, she pointed out for the jurors in the open face model before them just where she stood at every critical moment of that afternoon when her world was shattered by pistol shots from the hands of her pastor.

She saw a man pass into Norris' office. That was Chipps. She was in another room, a few feet away, with doors open.

Balaam Also Wanted In.

Miss Hartwell herself wanted to get in to see the pastor. Balaam, the Negro porter, also wanted in. They watched and waited for their chance. Then the door opened and then she moved forward to reach the study just as Chipps started out. She was fewer than ten feet away.

"He turned back," she said, referring to Chipps. "He reversed, to the left and sort of whirled around. I told Balaam we would have to wait and turned back to my room. Then I heard three or more shots.

"I was stunned, and just stood there. I heard the sound of something dropping, and turned.

"I looked into the ante room. I saw a man with his back turned, stooping over. I was frightened and turned away. I saw Dr. Norris at the entrance of his study. I saw R. B. Ridgeway in the ante room. I did not see any woman there. I called the ambulance at his (Dr. Norris') request. I heard Norris go to the telephone and call his residence. He said 'Sweetheart,' and I knew he was talking to his wife, 'I hated to do it, but I had it to do.'"

Prosecutor's Sarcastic Play.

Miss Hartwell's cultured accent furnished ground for a good deal of sarcastic play by Prosecutor McLean on cross-examination, but she stood her ground well. It was brought out that she must have been in a position to hear Chipps if he said anything.

"And you did not hear him say, 'Let's go to it'?" (The Nutt testimony.)

"No, sir."

Very positive, patient and smiling was the woman then.

"And no one said, 'I'll be back,' (the Parker testimony).

"No, sir."

Negatives that threw the case back into mystery, hurt her pastor and the state at the same time.

"And you did not hear Dr. Norris say, 'I repeat what I said,' (Nutt testimony).

"No, sir."

"That's all."

There was nothing left except for Dr. Norris to take the stand.

Leo S. Grevenberg, former clerek at the Westbrook hotel, in Fort Worth, where Chipps lived for two years, was the last witness for the defense before Dr. Norris was sworn.

Heard Chipps Call for Ice.

Grevenberg was on duty Saturday afternoon, the day of the shooting, and saw Chipps go to his room twice, once with a wrapped, rectangular package in his hand. He heard Chipps call for ice.

On his way out to the church, after having called Dr. Norris on the phone, Chipps stopped at the desk, the clerk testified, and said:

"I'm going over to see Norris about his remarks on Meacham and Carr. They are my friends. If he doesn't retract, I am going to kill him."

Chipps was intoxicated, the clerk said.

POLICEMAN AND FIREMAN SEIZED AS BOOTLEGGERS

Dry Agents Nab Cop as He Flees Ambush.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Clarence Williams, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Barney Waters, a flivver squad policeman, assigned to the Burnside station, and Ed Freeman, a city fireman, attached to engine company 103, yesterday were arrested as bootleggers in two separate forays staged by prohibition agents under Administrator E. C. Yellowley.

Waters, who told Personnel Chief Gus Simons that he is a relative by marriage of two well known Chicagoans, was arrested while he was driving a brand new sedan loaded with six 5 gallon cans of alcohol.

Freeman was nabbed at Madison and Robey streets after he had furnished agents with a pint sample of gin of the quality he proposed to sell in case lots, according to prohibition reports.

Waters was arrested in the rear of 640 East 50th street when his auto became stuck in the snow as he was attempting to flee a government ambush. It is charged that he had sold the contraband to Horace Lyle, a colored prohibition agent, and was about to make delivery when he discovered he had been trapped.

Waters for several seasons has been assigned at the entrance of the White Sox ball park. It is said he made a canvass of fans which convinced him he could build up a profitable winter clientele. He then obtained assignment to Burnside and began building up his route with a great measure of success, prohibition officials claim.

When advised that one of his men had been arrested, Capt. Joseph Goldberg, in command of Burnside, dashed to prohibition headquarters and stripped Waters of his star. It was said Freeman's badge probably will be lifted this morning.

North Central Association to Meet, Make 1927 Plans

Maj. Rufus Putnam, chief engineer for Chicago's harbor plan, and David H. Jackson, president of the Lincoln park board and chairman designate of the state commerce commission, will head the list of speakers at a meeting next Thursday of the North Central association of property owners in the Virginia hotel. The 1927 program for improvements in the district north of the river will be discussed. Murray Welbach, president of the Wabash Avenue Bridge association, will describe plans for this improvement.

BACK BROKEN, MAN DIES.

HOPE TO COLLECT FIFTH OF BONDS SUSPECTS JUMPED

Predictions that at least one-fifth of the $5,000,000 in property now tied up because of forfeited bail bonds can be obtained by the county were made yesterday as civic organizations interested in collecting on forfeited bonds met in the county building.

A committee was appointed to consider the best means of recovering money on such bonds. Members included County Commissioners Harry A. Newby and John W. Gibson, Henry Barrett Chamberlin of the Chicago crime commission, and Russell Whitman of the Chicago Bar association.

When bonds furnished by criminals are forfeited, the only method of collecting them under the present system is to collect from the owner when he sells the property. Laws ought to be passed making a forfeited bond a lien on the property, it was said.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR METROPOLITAN CHICAGO

1. Make Chicago the First City in the World.
2. Start Building a Subway.
3. Electrify the Railroads.
4. Abolish the Smoke Pall.
5. Build Safe Streets and Highways.
6. Re-establish Constitutional Representation.

A STATE DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF.

Senator Dailey of Peoria has offered the senate his resolution for a committee to redistrict the state and reapportion the membership of the legislature to the people to whom it belongs in law. If this is done it will give Cook county fifteen additional places in the house of representatives and five in the senate. They will be taken away from downstate regions which do not have the population to entitle them to the representation they now illegally have.

This long standing injustice may seem involved in technical dullness even to the people it most seriously affects, but it contains the principle of government to which the American people have been most sensitive almost from the beginning of their colonial days.

Redistricting of the state may seem to be the essence of dry politics but it contains the basis of representative government and if the nullification of the constitution continues this loss of rights will take material form detrimental to the people of the metropolitan district. They will find that they will get more laws against their interests and fewer laws which their needs require.

The Chicago people who are alive to this situation have tried to find various remedies and they have not found any thus far. An appeal to the courts has demonstrated that there is no remedy in law. The constitution commands the legislature to give equitable representation in the state by following the changes in population. The courts have held that it is not within their authority to compel obedience. In the nature of things it probably is impossible. Men cannot be forced to vote yes on a proposition when they claim their legislative right to vote no, and disagreement over apportionment bills would be as effective in preventing redistricting as the more open and more candid refusal to consider any apportionment bills at all.

Appeals to the members of the legislature to abide by their oath of office and to obey the constitution have not produced anything in previous recalcitrant sessions. This may continue to be the case. If so, we think Senator Dailey in offering his resolution recognized in his speech on it what would be the probable consequence in time. The metropolitan area will incline more and more to take over the administrative branch of government. In this respect its citizens have full suffrage. With the growing metropolitan population it will be possible for a concentrated Chicago vote to elect governors and other state officers.

The city has now as many political groupings as the country, probably more. It divides on state issues as fluidly as any other part of the state. It has even more political discussion and variety of opinion but it can be forced for its own protection into a solidity for capture of state officers.

It will need protection from legislative enactment in the governor's veto if its legislative inferiority continues. The metropolitan area and the country cannot separate from each other and all their real interests say they should not. Therefore they ought to get along with each other. Their dissensions are injurious and will be more so.

THE BUDGET.

The city council has approved the budget for 1927, which includes appropriations of $55,000,000 from the corporate fund, an increase of $4,400,000 over last year. Most of the increase results from raising the wages of city employés, particularly policemen and firemen. Chicago's police and fire departments will now be among the best paid in the world and this is as it should be. We want the best protection to be had and we must be prepared to pay for it. Chicago's police department, in particular, has need of a high morale and individual initiative because, situated as it is at the nation's cross-roads, Chicago has constantly to contend not only with the number of criminals to be expected in any population but with hundreds and perhaps thousands of roving criminals as well.

Mayor Dever's administration has been such as to earn the confidence of the taxpayers. Their money, on the whole, is being wisely spent. An increase in public expenditures is never welcome and it is therefore something of a tribute to Mayor Dever that there has been so little protest, in or out of the council, to the budget increase. Chicago will not pinch pennies when the voters have reason to believe their money is not being misspent.

NINE FEET OR NOTHING.

Theodore Brent, traffic manager for the government's barge line on the Mississippi river, says that the loss of a foot of water in the river would be disastrous to the barge service. Mr. Brent gave his opinion at the hearing before Charles Evans Hughes, who is taking testimony for the United States Supreme court in the controversy over the diversion of water from Lake Michigan. Previous testimony had shown that if the diversion at Chicago is stopped, the water in the Mississippi will drop a foot at several points.

In other words, without the diversion, there can be no Mississippi waterway. Mr. Brent testified that barges which draw less than eight feet cannot be operated profitably, and a nine foot channel is required for eight foot barges. One shallow stretch can wreck the entire project, just as it would ruin the New York Central if its line between Cleveland and Toledo were narrow gauge. A transportation system cannot be a success unless its carrying units can be mobilized where they are needed and moved freely throughout the entire system. This is as true of the Mississippi river system as of a railroad. The cost and delay resulting from the transfer of cargoes from barges of one draft to barges of another would defeat the whole purpose of the waterway.

The Mississippi river states realize all this. Mr. Brent was their witness at the hearing. They know that without the Chicago diversion the waterway will be of only limited value, as it is today because of unimproved stretches; with the diversion the waterway becomes a great transportation system, an invaluable complement to the railroads of the nation. The diversion has caused only a slight lowering of the level of the lakes and this loss can be more than made up by the construction of compensating works for which Chicago has offered to pay more than its share. The diversion need work no hardship on lake shipping and it can be of incalculable value to agriculture and industry throughout the Mississippi valley in making the gulf waterway practicable.

INDIANA AND THE WATERWAY.

Senator William H. Hodges of Indiana has offered a concurrent resolution instructing Attorney General Gilliom to withdraw from participation in the action against the Chicago sanitary district and the state of Illinois in the water diversion suit. Senator Hodges' county, Lake, is Chicago's neighbor. It is also a part of the Indiana lake shore line, which is not extensive, but which is of great economic and social importance.

Indiana has interests in both lake transportation and in valley transportation. Its association with the lake states opposing ostensibly the diversion, but in reality the Mississippi waterway, gets it nothing in lake transportation and makes it an enemy of the gulf waterway. Indiana has made a bad choice of its company. It has a river history and could share in the transportation benefits which an adequate gulf waterway would give to the whole valley and lake region.

An adequate waterway requires water. The lake levels can be maintained by engineering. The opposition is not concerned with that. It demands a stoppage of water to prevent the opening of a new commercial highway.

IF CONGRESS SAYS WHAT'S HISTORY.

News from Washington says that the authors of history books used in the schools are to be called before the house committee on military affairs to explain inaccuracies and distortions in their texts. There has been introduced, by Representative Andrews of Massachusetts, a resolution authorizing the publication of records by the army and navy departments to be available for historians who would be accurate if they had freer access to materials. That's valuable government work, but the rest of it?

Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Dickson, a retired army chaplain, has been going over certain history texts. Some of the distortions [illegible] schools have their origin, he concludes, less in unfamiliarity with the truth than in a determination not to give it. Various sections of the country, naming no names, have their story and they intend to stick to it.

The reported decision of the house military committee to check up on the authors of texts suggested that something of Tennessee fundamentalism has appeared in Washington and that in addition to getting biology from state legislatures we were to get history from congress.

The congressmen will decide whether the Boston massacre was a massacre or a disorder, whether Braddock was a fool or a hero, whether Lexington was a battle or an accident, whether Trenton was a night shirt surprise or a well earned victory in the field, whether Fort Pillow was an inhuman butchery or a justifiable retribution, whether the March to the Sea was a glorious triumph or a devastating inhumanity. It will make for excitement.

The present congress, we suppose, would begin by expurgating all references to military rum out of colonial wars, the revolution and the war of 1812, in which it was a part of the ration, and from the civil war, in which it was at least in considerable personal use, and from the world war, concerning which legends of the wine of the country persist.

A department of education as conceived by the paternalists might be adjusted to this situation nicely and what the school children are to know of history could go out with a government stamp. Possibly by treaty we could bring the writers of British school texts and of British juveniles before the house committee on military affairs. Many of their views of the revolution leave much to be desired, when they have any views at all, and it would be particularly gratifying to have in Mr. Rudyard Kipling, an inveterate perverter of the mind of the British youth. We doubt that he'd go home chastened but it would be a satisfaction to send him away even madder.

Perversions of history, to which nearly every partisan must plead guilty, have their effect. Time wears it off for the most part. It is no doubt bad that it should be at all, but there are passions, prejudices, lop-sided judgments, the blindness of tradition and the love of heroes, emotions which are invaluable and emotions which are detrimental. What people want to believe they'll readily believe, as Cæsar said when he got word to the Gauls that the Romans weren't much to lick and no particular trouble need be taken in trying to do it.

Editorial of the Day

FORTY-FOUR LAW MILLS.

[New York Sun.]

In a bulletin made public today the National Industrial council calls attention to the fact that forty-four state legislatures are in session—Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Virginia being the only ones idle—and that the crop of new laws promises to be as heavy as last year, when the several states put more than 13,000 new acts on their statute books.

The grist, indeed, may be larger than ever, for the council sees an increasing number of "organized instigators of new laws." These represent "active minorities and special class groups, including religious, social, civic, labor, women, and other bodies," who wish to "restrain, reform, or arbitrarily control the conduct, morals, business methods, and domestic lives of others."

The unorganized majority slumbers, waking only to find itself faced with more laws to raise taxes and more ways to spend the money raised. Of all the laws passed in New York state last winter could the man in the street name more than one—the Baumes law—that has been for his benefit?

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitation and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

SUN, SMOKE BLANKETS, AND HEALTH.

In a smoky, dirty city the star line is always some distance above the horizon. Between the two there is a broad belt in which no stars are seen. In the clear air of Utah, New Mexico, and that region generally, the star line comes right down to the horizon.

There is an old story of a spread eagle political orator who sought to warm up his audience by telling them how the heavens fitted down over them right there and right then. If he was speaking to a rural audience in a clear-aired mountain state, his description was not so bad. But in a city the star blanket does not fit well. It seems like a circus tent with the sidewalls rolled up high enough for the elephants to pass out.

In the clear sky region it is difficult to distinguish between low hanging stars and locomotive headlights and automobile lights. Engineers have been known to go into slow speed and keep train under control until they could be certain whether a light on the horizon was an approaching engine or a low hanging star.

Near smoke laden cities locomotive engineers are not required to study astronomy. Near such a city there are days when the sun must clear the horizon a fair distance before it can be seen at all, and there are many days when it appears to be a dull red ball up to 8 o'clock.

In the city and near there the air next the ground is filled with smoke and dirt. When the sun and stars are low above the horizon the rays must pass many miles, almost horizontally, through this dirt and smoke for say, fifty to a hundred miles. In the case of the starlight the pollution stops the ray entirely. In the case of sunlight it stops all parts of the ray except the red. When the stars are overhead the starlight traveling vertically only has to penetrate two to five miles of badly dust-laden air. Many of the stars manage to shine through this. Two to five miles of smoke filter is not equal to the fifty to one hundred miles of the same filter material through which the low hanging stars try to break.

When the sun rays are trying to get through clouds, fogs, and other forms of watery vapor, we may have any of several effects. First, there is the silvery white sun, beautiful to look at but cold and peculiar somehow. Next, there is the red sun. Then there are the evenglow days in which it is not easy to locate the position of the sun—something of a twilight effect. And, finally, there are the black days.

There is not a single phase of this question that does not relate itself somehow to health and life. However, there are many problems that remain to be solved. Just what are the health qualities of that cold, white, silvery sun, of the red sun, of evenglow twilight, of the black days? We even need to know more of the full ray itself. There is consolation in thinking that we know more than we did ten years ago and in hoping that the next ten years will arm us with further facts.

GETTING MOST FROM SUNSHINE.

D. B. P. writes: Recently the outdoor temperature was 25. I pulled down a window and let the sun shine on a thermometer, and it soon stood 120 degrees. I then put the window up and let the sun shine on the thermometer and it went down to 110 degrees. Ten degrees was reflected or absorbed. Now in order to get the most heat one should sit on a stool and let the sunlight strike the body at right angles. If you lie down you get the rays at about 45 degrees and a large amount is reflected away and lost.

In order to get 120 degrees the sky must be clear and free from little, white, misty clouds. This condition will run the thermometer down to 90 or 95 degrees and no heat will be felt. But when the sky gets clear, then you will know you are getting it and no imagination will be needed.

ONLY SURE CURE FOR ECZEMA.

T. C. M. writes: 1. What is the cause of eczema on the hands?

2. What is a sure cure for such a complaint?

REPLY.

1. Putting the hands in something that poisons them.

2. Discontinue the practice which causes it. Other cures sometimes help and sometimes fail. The one given is the only sure cure.

ANENT THE HAWK HUNT.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—If an organization should offer a reward to any one for killing this hawk that has been flying around the loop and a person were injured by a stray bullet or his property be damaged would that organization be liable for the damages?

2. Is any one allowed to post a reward for the arrest and conviction of a hawk hunter?

3. Is a person allowed to carry loaded firearms in case he has to travel through sections of the city infested by hawk hunters?

C. W.

1. No, since all of the offers that we have seen are limited to legal killings. We do not understand how the hawk could be legally shot in his reported haunts.

Sec. 1226 of the City Code provides a fine of $5 to $25 for discharging firearms within the city except in a licensed gallery or gun club or except in accordance with Sec. 2746, which describes hunting districts around Lake Calumet, etc., but not approaching the loop. Sec. 2745 provides "no person shall kill—or attempt to kill—by the use of firearms—any bird within the city limits" except in the hunting districts above referred to.

2. Yes.

3. Not as concealed weapons.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PAVING RACINE AVENUE.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Will Racine avenue, north of 95th street, be paved at all soon? We have recently bought property on this street and have been given conflicting reports on the paving matter.

A. R. D.

We have an ordinance passed by the city council for paving a system of streets including Racine avenue between 89th and 95th streets, etc., and notices will be sent to the property owners when the assessment roll is filed in court. The notice will state the estimated amount of the assessment.

We do not know just when the improvement will be made, but hope to have the work under contract this year.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary,
Board of Local Improvements.

MRS. B. FROM MISSOURI.

Marshall, Ill., Jan. 19.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. A living in Illinois wishes to marry Mrs. B, who lives in Missouri. For good reasons they wish the matter to be kept a secret for a while. Would their marriage be legal if they married under fictitious names?

C. E. S.

We incline to the opinion that the marriage would be valid, but the parties would be technically subject to prosecution for perjury. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1862.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Only a few details are available of the battle at Somerset, Ky., on Jan. 19. Gen. Zollicoffer, hearing that a Union force had appeared on his rear, marched out from his entrenched position at Mill Spring and attacked Schoepff in camp. The battle raged with great fury until 2 o'clock in the afternoon when, Zollicoffer having been killed, the whole force of rebels fled in confusion.

LOUISVILLE.—Gen. Thomas followed up Zollicoffer's rebels after their defeat at Mill Spring to their entrenchments, 16 miles from his own camp. When he prepared to attack them on the morning of Jan. 20, he found the entrenchments deserted. The rebel loss was 275 killed and wounded. In addition to Gen. Zollicoffer, Baillie Peyton Jr. was killed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Cassius M. Clay was confirmed as a major general.

CAIRO.—Gen. Grant's expedition has returned from Kentucky without apparently effecting anything. All the troops except Gen. McClernand's column are back in camp. A valuable study of the ground with a view to a future attack on Columbus was made.

ST. LOUIS.—A large number of troops left Sedalia for the south. Gen. Sigel goes with the last column and will have charge of the entire force on the march.

CHICAGO.—J. Wilkes Booth appeared in Chicago for the first time, playing Richard III. at McVicker's to one of the largest audiences of the year. The young actor made a favorable impression.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1902.

PANAMA.—Three revolutionary gunboats sailed into the harbor of Panama before daybreak and surprised the government ships. In the battle which followed the government steamer Lautara was sunk after many on board had been killed. Gen. Carlos Alban, governor of Panama, was on the Lautara and was slain.

CHICAGO.—The city council ordered the finance committee to appropriate $5,000 for the construction of a foot bridge over the Chicago river at State street to accommodate pedestrians during construction of the new bascule bridge. Merchants in the vicinity claim their receipts have dropped 20 per cent since the stoppage of traffic over the State street bridge.

CHICAGO.—The city council, 43 to 23, went on record as favoring the increase of policemen's pay. Ald. Rector, as chairman of the license committee, brought the measure up. It provides that all patrolmen of over three years' service shall receive $1,200; all over two years, $1,100; over one year, $960, and all under one year's service, $840.

CHICAGO.—John T. McCutcheon, cartoonist, and Miss Evelyn Shaw were married in the Fourth Presbyterian church and more than 1,200 persons witnessed the ceremony. About 200 of the guests went from the church to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, 1130 Lake Shore drive, where a buffet wedding breakfast was served. The bridal couple left for New York, whence they will sail for Salt Key, Mr. McCutcheon's island in the Bahamas.

LONDON.—A munitions plant explosion in the east end of London rocked a large portion of the city, killed between fifty and sixty persons, injured 121 seriously, and slightly hurt 265 others. The blast leveled the factory and demolished three rows of nearby houses.

WAR NEWS.—Berlin reports the capture by the Germanic armies of the town of Nanesti, on the Sereth river in Roumania. The German war office also claims the repulse of British attacks near River Ancre in France.

CHICAGO.—A strike of coal drivers was settled at a midnight conference of team owners and employés in the Chamber of Commerce building less than twenty-four hours after its beginning had caused Chicago to fear widespread suffering from a fuel famine. ENUMERATING the pests of these United States that seem to be causing the greatest trouble at present, we find the three leading blights are the boll weevil, the corn borer, and the snooper. Some think the boll weevil is the worst and some say the corn borer, but we would personally rather have a whole flock of corn borers and boll weevils on our desk than to have one single snooper eyeing us.

INTERVAL.

(For Dennis King.)

Come down, now Wind! out of your high, far place,
Where no birds sing, and no wild-flowers grow;
Brush your cool hands across my tired face,
Ruffle my hair a moment, and then,—go!
Go, leave me to the dark and to the quiet,
And to the moon and to the perfect stars,
This is my hour, and I will profit by it,
Peace is so rare and I'm fed up on wars.

Let me lie here, upon the dew-moist grasses,
Flat on my back, staring up at the sky,
Thinking strange thoughts, until the last thought passes,
Into that Lethe where all thinking dies,—
Let me, who life-long have been quiet's lover,
Have quiet here until the geese go over.

THE GUARD AND THE RESERVE.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—A letter written by a reserve officer suggested that he should receive pay for time spent at school. I wish to state that I have spent considerable time in studying problems of the reserve corps and the National Guard and that the five weeks of training this officer receives would, in the event of war, be about as much good to the government as a cement mixer to an aviator.

I spent quite a while as instructor to a certain National Guard regiment in a middle western state, and found it to be a fact that the money provided by congress for this purpose is wasted. For example, the guard drills only two hours a day, once a week. Their training consists of school of the soldier, squad, platoon, and company, all jumbled up in a two hour period. In other words, they try to teach a National Guardsman in two hours movements that it takes a regular at least two months of intensive training to learn.

I also find that if a squad of National Guardsmen is drilled in the school of the soldier for a period of two hours the men gain a fair knowledge of the movements laid down therein, but by the time the next drill period comes around (one week later) the men have forgotten everything they learned.

As far as the reserve officers are concerned, I believe they receive most of their training by correspondence. The regular army instructors realize that the whole procedure is a big joke. I contend that if the money appropriated by congress for the so-called training of the guard, reserve corps, etc., was provided to increase the regular army to a strength of 300,000, officers and enlisted men, the government would never have to worry as far as the army is concerned. In the event of war the regular army could be expanded within a very short time to an army equal to any emergency, and there would be in each organization enough seasoned enlisted men to form the noncommissioned officer personnel, the backbone of any organization. The rest of the personnel could be obtained by draft, etc., as green men put in contact with seasoned soldiers soon become good soldiers. W. B. P.

BUILDING VIBRATES.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—The motor busses on Hyde Park boulevard shake the buildings like an earthquake. For eighteen hours a day our building trembles, and it is worse at night than in the daytime. A large oil painting fell from the wall in our living room a few nights ago, and a nervous person cannot sleep.

CLEARING THE ROADS.

Watseka, Ill., Jan. 14.—A word of praise is meager reward for the stupendous feat accomplished by the patrolmen of the state highway department during the last forty-eight hours. However, I wish to express my appreciation and feel sure I echo the sentiment of thousands who have been on the roads during this snowstorm.

Thursday morning I traveled on routes 25, 8, and 1. They had been plowed during the night or very early morning, and they were kept clear all day during the blinding blizzard. They were clear this morning also, and the plows are still going to combat drifts. Some of the men have been on duty thirty-six hours.

If the entire state is handled as efficiently as the section of roads with which I am familiar, I take off my hat to the militarylike organization and spirit of the men who made this possible. C. R. W.

A BOOK FOR SENATOR BORAH.

Patoka, Ill., Jan. 18.—I cannot refrain from voicing my appreciation of your editorial of Saturday referring to Senator Borah's latest. It was complete. Surely a man who can originate such a brilliant idea should be good for something and you might suggest what. Perhaps a book entitled "How an Exalted Position Causes the Head to Swell or Why Professors and Professional Politicians Know So Damn Little," might help you. I shall send a copy together with your editorial to the senator as soon as the book is printed. They ought to do him good unless he be already past redemption.

A DOWNSTATE FARMER.

A WEST SIDE BOULEVARD.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—[illegible] project of converting Monroe street into a 200 foot boulevard you say, "Property owners are showing [illegible] to accept special assessments, which is unusual in matters affecting the west side. There appears to be less opposition than formerly to the project." Permit me to say that this does not reflect the opinion of property owners. There probably are some whose buildings are old and who see a chance to get rid of them, but the [illegible] Kedzie avenue west [illegible] the proposed widening is very strong, especially west of Garfield park.

Your editorial shows fair consideration and constructive suggestions. It is a fact that Monroe street boulevard would "add congestion to the most congested quarter of the city," and "that the greater part of traffic on the proposed boulevard would be destined for the loop." [illegible] to Washington street [illegible] with the western highways is a strong argument. This is [illegible] Politicians are seizing [illegible] election purposes and [illegible]

Here is a way traffic east and west could be expedited, leaving Monroe street as it is:

Make Washington boulevard a one way boulevard for east moving traffic. Make Monroe street a one way street for west moving traffic. Make Adams street a one way street for east moving traffic and Jackson boulevard a one way boulevard for west moving traffic.

Motorists have long, wide stretches of West End avenue, Lake, Madison, and Congress streets. Madison street west of Crawford is a superhighway now.

GEN. FOREMAN WILL RETIRE FROM NATIONAL GUARD

Friends Prepare to Honor Him Next Week.

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, who commanded the 122d Field Artillery during the St. Mihiel, Argonne and Argonne-Meuse drives and who for the last four years has been head of the Illinois National guard, will retire from that post next Wednesday, his 64th birthday, it became known yesterday. This is the age limit for active service as set by military regulations.

Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, a Spanish war veteran who commanded the 132d infantry, 33d division, in France, as senior among the division's present brigade commanders, probably will succeed to the post of major general.

Friends to Do Him Honor.

As a climax to his many years of service, in one rank or another with the Illinois guard, since before the Spanish-American war, Gen. Foreman will be the guest of honor at two functions on Wednesday. He will first be the guest of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a noon luncheon at the Hotel La Salle. In the evening he will be fêted by his brother officers and civilian friends at a banquet in the gold room at the Congress hotel.

"I don't feel that I've reached the retiring age," declared Gen. Foreman yesterday. "I still feel like a youngster. The report that I'm also retiring from my law practice is not true. I may take a rest, of course, for a while, for I want to get my forthcoming biography off the presses as soon as possible."

"But," he continued, "I'm still very much in the ring, and I will still be in spirit with the boys I've served with for so long."

Gen. Foreman was born in Chicago. He left school at 14 and as a youth and young man made a success as a salesman for the Fisk Hat company. He took a night course at the Chicago College of Law, being admitted to the bar in 1899. In that year, too, he was elected alderman of the old 3rd ward, serving in the city council until 1911, for many years as chairman of the local transportation committee and a council leader.

Long a Citizen Soldier.

In 1894, Gen. Foreman first became identified with military affairs, becoming a member of the old Chicago City cavalry troop. He later was a captain in the Spanish-American war, but did not get to Cuba. Not many years thereafter he became colonel of the 1st Illinois cavalry, commanding it at Brownsville, Tex., in 1916. For the world war the regiment became the 122d field artillery. As colonel, Foreman took the unit to France, commanded it in action, and brought it back to the United States.

The first major general of Illinois troops when they resumed National Guard status after the world war was J. B. Sanborn, who had commanded the 131st infantry. He was succeeded by Foreman.

As artillerymen in the world war the members of that unit, along with their commander, won distinction. In addition to receiving the D. S. C., Gen. Foreman also was awarded the distinguished service medal, was made an officer of the French Legion of Honor, a commander of the Order of the Crown of Belgium, and an honorary citizen of the city of Tarbes, France. He was one of the founders of the American Legion.

KLAN CARRIES FIGHT TO STAY IN KANSAS INTO SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—As a preliminary to oral argument, which is expected to be reached tomorrow, the state of Kansas and the Ku Klux Klan filed briefs today in the Supreme court in their litigation over the efforts of the state to prevent the organization from doing business within its borders.

The klan's appeal followed a decision of Kansas courts ousting it as a corporation of another state doing business in Kansas without a license. The state's brief advanced objections to the appeal of the klan on the ground that it had presented no federal question within the jurisdiction of the court.

The klan's objection to its exclusion was based largely upon an argument that the Kansas law requiring that it be licensed in that state forms an invalid restriction upon its interstate business. It claimed, too, that it was not properly served with notice of the suit.

It was asserted by the klan that it is similar in its benevolent and patriotic purposes to other organizations, specifically the Masons and Odd Fellows. Its brief further held that Kansas was denying it freedom of speech and other rights guaranteed in the constitution.

LOVE LAUGHS AT ALIEN LAW; BRIDE, YOUTH REUNITED

Love—with the aid of United States Commissioner James R. Glass—laughed at the immigration laws, and yesterday Baruch Fishbain, 19 year old violinist from Morinek, Russia, took out his first citizenship papers.

Fishbain left Russia year and a half ago. He tried to enter the United States, but the quota had been filled. So he went to Havana. While he waited there he met Miss May Stern, 20, of 1230 Wood street, Chicago, who was on vacation in Cuba. Before long they were married.

Then came difficulties. Fishbain could not come into the United States with his young bride, and she learned that an American girl who married a foreigner became a citizen of his country. There were tears, a sad parting and the young woman returned alone to Chicago.

She finally sought young Fishbain's brother, who lives in Chicago. "There must be a way," said the brother and he took her to Commissioner Glass.

"Of course there's a way," Commissioner Glass said. "In 1924 the immigration law was changed to bridge just such cases as yours. Never mind about the quota, and dry your tears."

Yesterday she and Mr. Fishbein were reunited.

London Fog Invades Movies and Hides Screen from Fans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20. — Londoners moved phantomlike today through a sinister yellow fog which settled over a large area of the city this noon, leaving other sections in the bright sunshine. While Mayfair had sunshine, the spectators at the movies in the King's Cross neighborhood, two miles distant, could not see the screen for the dense, smoky mist. Conductors walked before their busses in Fleet street and the Strand districts. Traffic jams occurred everywhere.

Hungary Preparing for War to Regain Territory, Charge

VIENNA, Jan. 20.—The chief of the Austrian gendarmerie in Burgenland, on the Hungarian frontier, today presented alleged proof that the Magyars are breaking their treaty obligations and are preparing for eventual war, by which they expect to regain Burgenland and other lost territory. He charges that in a protected spot in the mountains they are busy manufacturing poison gases and other war materials in an elaborate plant.

British Birth Rate Lowest Since 1918, Figures Show

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Babies are getting scarcer in England. With the exception of 1918 last year's birth rate in England and Wales was the lowest on record, 17.8 per 1,000, according to official figures. This is one of the lowest birth rates in the world. On the other hand, the infantile death rate is lower, 11.6 per 1,000, the lowest ever recorded.

SWEAR 8 JURORS FOR JURY BRIBE PLOT HEARING

Taking of testimony against a former policeman, a former bailiff, and a former court clerk, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the alleged bribing of a juror to bring in a verdict of $151,000 in favor of the Severinghaus Printing company, is expected to start today before Judge William J. Lindsay. The trial started yesterday, and when court adjourned 8 of the necessary 12 jurors had been sworn.

John C. Cook, 3135 Wilson avenue, former clerk in the court of Judge Joseph B. David; John R. McWane, 5323 Metropole place, former Municipal court bailiff, and Edward Corda, policeman at the Lawndale station, are the defendants.

Ralph F. Ritter, 320 Vincennes avenue, Chicago Heights, a former juror, will testify that Corda, introduced to him as Griffin by the other defendants, gave him $200 and promised $5,000 more.

COAL MERCHANTS BANQUET; HEAR WARRINER TALK

From a business viewpoint, installment buying and so-called hand to mouth buying are the custom rather than the exception these days, declared Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the Anthracite Operators' conference, last night at the annual banquet of the Chicago Coal Merchants' association.

Mr. Warriner said the increasing use of oil and gas are causes for anxiety rather than complacency as to the future. He said that for the last ten years the anthracite industry has been like a vessel subject to the tides of a hostile public, to government administration and interference, and to the tempests of continuous labor controversies and wage readjustments. Today, he declared, industry is experiencing a renaissance with definite progress toward increased efficiency, which can be quickly modified to meet changing demands.

Mayor Dever gave a brief address.

LAKE DIVERSION BAN WOULD COST $550,000,000

Experts Furnish Figures at Hughes Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Two sanitary engineering experts, one nationally known as an authority on municipal water supplies, testified today in the Chicago water diversion controversy that an expenditure of $550,000,000 would be necessitated at Chicago if the water flow through the sanitary canal was cut to zero.

The two experts appeared as witnesses before Charles Evans Hughes, special master for the Supreme court in the suits brought by Wisconsin and five lake states against the Chicago sanitary district and the state of Illinois.

Would Require $550,000,000.

It was stated that if Chicago were forced to adopt the practice followed at other lake cities and dump its sewage into the lake, an expenditure of $250,000,000 would have to be made to construct new storm sewers leading into the lake. In addition, $300,000,000 would be required in extending the water intakes 20 miles farther into the lake, in building sewage treatment plants and in purifying drinking water. These expenditures would be necessitated by 1955.

Langdon Pearse, sanitary engineer for the Chicago sanitary district, was the first witness called by Attorney Edmund D. Adcock, of consul for the defendacts. Mr. Pearse said that cutting the water flow to zero at once, as asked by the complaining states, would produce a deplorable situation in Chicago. Sewage, he said, would immediately penetrate the water cribs and Chicagoans would have to drink highly chlorinated water, containing sewage.

Lowest Typhoid Rate.

Mr. Pearse produced figures showing that in 1926 Chicago had the lowest typhoid fever death rate on the lakes. Chicago's rate was .73 per 100,000 population. He attributed this to the present system of sewage disposal. Rates per 100,000 population for other cities which toss varying amounts of their raw sewage into the great lakes were Buffalo, 5; Cleveland, 1.5; Detroit, 7.3; Milwaukee, 1.4, and Rochester, 3.

George W. Fuller, chairman of the engineering board of review, and a widely known sanitation expert now residing in New York City, said that extension of intakes to pure water and walter filtration in case Chicago's sewage is dumped on the lake front would cost $20,000,000 normally and that it might run to $70,000,000 if super-tunnels were extended 20 miles. Other costs, he said, would bring the total expenditures by 1955 well above $500,000,000.

LITTLE ARMY MEN BURIED BY HOUSE VOTE OF 235 TO 4

8 Millions Added to Defense Fund.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The "little army" group failed in final efforts in the house today to reduce appropriations carried in the annual supply bill.

The bill was passed by a vote of 235 to 4 after rejecting a motion by Representative Blanton [Dem., Tex.] to recommit the bill with instructions to cut the size of the army from 118,750, as provided for by the measure reported from the house appropriations committee to 115,000, as recommended by the budget bureau. The Blanton motion was defeated by a vote of 19 to 235.

Increase of $8,000,000.

The bill was passed in exactly the form reported from the committee on appropriations. It provides for a total of $357,925,518 for the war department for the fiscal year 1928. Of this amount $279,112,674 is for military purposes and $78,812,844 for nonmilitary purposes, including the Panama canal.

The amounts provided represent an increase of about $10,000,000 over appropriations for the current year and $8,000,000 in increases over budget recommendations.

Senate Favors Increase, Too.

The army bill now goes to the senate appropriations committee, which a few days ago reported to the senate the naval appropriation bill for funds for the immediate construction of three cruisers added to the amounis approved by the house.

The senate is expected to approve the navy bill in the form reported from the committee and carrying the cruiser item opposed by President Coolidge. Indications are that the army bill also will go through the senate with provision for a larger army than recommended by the President and the budget bureau.

SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL, PROMISE OF DAVID H. JACKSON

David H. Jackson, president of the Lincoln park board, returned to Chicago last night after receiving his appointment to succeed Frank L. Smith as chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission with the announcement that his park job will probably terminate within two weeks and that in his new office he will seek to give every one a square deal.

"I realize," he said, "that the manner in which the commerce commission's duties are carried out is of the highest importance to the people of Illinois and at the same time particularly so to the people of Chicago.

"I want to assure the people of Illinois and all persons who may come before me that a square deal will be given to them and nothing else."

Traction Big Issue Now.

Mr. Jackson declared that the appointment of four Chicago men to the commission indicates that the governor is aware that the greatest problem before that body during the next two years will be traction and its relation to home rule.

Not yet ready to discuss his opinions on the local traction question, Mr. Jackson said that he had made a thorough study of the problem, having seven years ago had charge of the case of the elevated lines in the revaluation and rate hearings before the utility commission.

Expecting that the senate will ratify his appointment next Wednesday, Mr. Jackson hopes to sit in at his first session the following day.

Park Succession in Doubt.

Gov. Small, with no one yet in mind, Mr. Jackson said, will come to Chicago within three or four days to settle with Fred Lundin on the man to head the Lincoln park board. Mr. Jackson said that there isn't even any gossip about the probable appointment except that the president will likely come from outside the present board.

REPORTS 2 MORE STEPS TAKEN FOR GULF WATERWAY

William F. Mulvihill, state superintendent of waterways, now pictures two kinks that have been blocking Illinois' part in the lakes-gulf waterway as beginning to be straightened out.

He told the waterways committee of the Hamilton club yesterday that negotiations for the acquisition of two holding of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois that threatened to block vital construction work have taken definite form. For the first time the company, through its president, Britton I. Budd, has offered in writing to try to reach sale agreements whereby lengthy litigation would be avoided.

Part of the holdings of the company are its own properties at Dresden Heights and Brandon road, in which it asserts it has an investment of $1,242,000. The company has a 99 year lease expiring in 2009 on land at Marseilles, Ill. This is needed for construction of a canal connecting the Illinois river with the state lock below Marseilles. The Public Service company says that it has an investment of $85,000 in connection with this property.

In each instance the land in question was taken over by the company for hydro-electric purposes. Mr. Mulvihill said that the state has enough power sites at other locations so that the rights at these places probably will be leased by public bidding after state control is established.

EX-OFFICIAL OF LOAN ASSN. IS ARRESTED AGAIN

Albert J. Gallistel, former secretary of the Friendship Building and Loan association, who was arrested several months ago on charges of embezzlement, was rearrested yesterday on seven individual complaints.

Although the alleged shortage in the association's funds was $200,000, Gallistel was released on November 27 in bonds of $5,000. Yesterday the police found him in the Lakeside hospital, where he had been operated on for a foot infection.

As he was being taken to the South Chicago police station, Gallistel fainted. He was placed in an ambulance and sent to his home at 8351 Merrill avenue, where a special police guard was stationed to watch him.

WESTERN AVENUE WIDENING TO GO AHEAD IN SPRING

Another step in making Western avenue the longest and widest street in the world was taken yesterday when property owners between Belmont avenue and Fullerton parkway were awarded $763,000 in condemnation proceedings to take 17 feet on each side of the street for widening purposes in a verdict reached by agreement in Judge E. M. Mangan's court.

As a result, according to Attorney Joseph J. Sullivan of the board of local improvements, Western avenue, now widened from 119th street north to 31st street and from Lawrence avenue north to the city limits, will be widened between Lawrence avenue and Fullerton parkway. Proceedings for widening the only remaining portion of the street, between 31st street and Fullerton parkway, are now pending.

Construction work on the new stretch will be started early in the spring, it was said.

TWO HELD AS SHORT CHANGERS.

John Stevens, 21 years old, and Lawrence Lundquist, 21, both of 1447 West Jackson boulevard, were held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $2,000 each. They are charged with short changing Mrs. Virginia Dwyer, 1426 Morse avenue.

Gain in Strength—Increase Vitality In 30 Days or Money Back

Nowadays, people who lack strength, energy and the power of endurance are turning to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets because they are rich in vitamins—are easy to take and do furnish the body with such a superb combination of health builders that keeping in fine physical shape all the time is just a matter of asking your druggist for McCoy's and taking two tablets after meals and two at bedtime.

You can get 60 tablets for 60 cents. They are prime favorites with skinny, underweight men and women who want to fill out the hollows in chest, cheeks and neck and acquire a graceful figure but rebel at the very thought of taking loathsome Cod Liver Oil with the fishy taste.

As a matter of record we want to say to all thin underweight men and women who need more flesh and want a vigorous constitution that if these flesh producing tablets do not cause you to gain in weight at least 5 pounds in 30 days the druggist from whom you bought them is authorized to return the purchase price.

Insist on McCoy's and don't forget that McCoy's do build up weak, frail children and especially where there are any signs of rickets.

Why is Japan Tea green?

Because green is the natural color of the fresh tea leaf.

Because Japan Tea is not permitted to ferment.

Japan Tea is thoroughly sterilized immediately after it is picked. The sterilization process closes the pores, preventing fermentation. It seals in all the flavor-laden juices of the natural leaf.

These juices remain sealed in until the tea is actually brewed as a beverage in your own home.

Japan Tea is not a brand name. It applies to any tea that comes from Japan. Japan Tea is always natural green, uncolored.

Specify JAPAN Tea. It is put up for the home in packages under many different brand names. But the mark JAPAN TEA is always somewhere on the label.

There are a number of different grades of Japan Tea. The best you can buy will cost you only a fraction of a cent a cup. Why not drink the finest?

BUSBY BLAMES COUNCIL, VOTERS FOR CAR TANGLE

Tells Bankers Aldermen Play Politics.

Politics, the incompetence of city officials and the voting public to deal with big problems of finance were blamed for Chicago's transit tangle last night by Leonard A. Busby, president of the south side surface lines.

In an address to 300 members of the Investment Bankers' association at the Blackstone hotel, Mr. Busby declared the companies have done everything within reason to settle the problem, but have been blocked by demagoguery.

Says Politics Blocks Business.

"Everybody is asking us why, in the name of common sense, we don't sit down and talk like business men," he asserted. "Well, business and politics don't mix, that's the answer.

"Take the city council, for instance. Every alderman, as soon as he is elected, blossoms out into a financial, traction, and economic expert. Often he takes the most absurd position on matters that are commonplace to you because he isn't educated.

"And deeper than that is the ignorance of the public on these matters. Twice we have submitted ordinances to referendums and they were defeated. Does that look as if we were sitting back, refusing to coöperate?"

Relies on State Commission.

As an example of the conflict between business and politics Mr. Busby cited the city's demand for home rule.

"The city wants a control commission appointed by the mayor. A separate commission is wholly unnecessary—we have a state commission now—but there has grown up this cry for home rule. This is where we are deadlocked on the companies' ordinance now."

Approval of that ordinance, he said, is the sensible way. He condemned other pending plans as visionary.

"Mr. Lisman of New York proposes on a 20 year grant to retire $140,000,000, putting in only $50,000,000 himself. That would increase the fare one cent and also would require enabling legislation.

"The Hertz bus people think they can carry 5,000,000 people a day, forty per cent of them in rush hours. I need go no further on that. It has been proved conclusively in other cities that busses cannot replace street cars."

Mr. Busby added that Henry A. Blair's plan for a billion dollar system merely was an elaboration of the companies' plan.

PLACE MENCKEN, NATHAN IN MUSIC HALL: BENNETT

[Copyright: 1927: By The New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Messrs. Mencken and Nathan, as leaders of New York's literary smart set, should conduct their clinic in a music hall instead of a periodical, according to Arnold Bennett, celebrated novelist. Writing in a London newspaper Bennett says:

"These illustrious warriors are very readable. They are also violent, impudent, farcical, grotesque, and intellectually unscrupulous. It is impossible that writers who 'go on' with the pen as they do could reliably distinguish a good book or good play from a bad one. True taste in literature would have prevented their rabid performances."

However, Mr. Bennett thinks they have done good work as Jeremiahs of Babbitlonia.

"I do not wish them death," he says. "I read them with gusto. They make me laugh as much as a musical absurdity at the Coliseum. Indeed, their proper place is in a musical hall."

Bennett then comments on the "marvelous flatness" of the literary supplements in American newspapers. "They could surely be conquered," he writes, "by none but highly trained athletes of reading."

London Opens War Against Gunmen; May Arm Bobbies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Scotland Yard declared war on gunmen today. In view of the increased housebreakings and holdups in London, it was announced that special flying squads have been organized to fight the new gunman type of criminal, who uses firearms. An amateur police force of 1,500 men has been organized in Hertfordshire to aid the regular police in case of emergency. A measure for giving revolvers to the bobbies, who were not armed, also is being considered by the home office.

Britain Discovers Italian Spies in Newcastle Shipyard

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Italian secret service agents were discovered trying to penetrate the yards of the Armstrong ship builders at Newcastle, where two small submarines are being built for the Jugo-Slav government. The Italian embassy was instructed by Rome to report following inquiries whether the British government had communicated the fact of this construction to the other powers, in conformity with the Washington treaty.

INSISTS GERMANS GIVE ROYALISTS CABINET POSTS

Hindenburg Yields to Win Former Comrades.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—President von Hindenburg, who is trying to bring about the formation of a new German cabinet, yielded ground today to win over his former comrades, the Nationalists. He sent a note to former Chancellor Marx, urging the latter to negotiate with the Nationalists to enter the cabinet on the basis of an offer that the Nationalists are to be given a good share of power in the projected bourgeois government. This move would reduce the influence of the Socialists in German politics.

Dr. Marx and his party, the Centrists, fear collaboration with the entire republican Nationalists, and Dr. Marx had expressed his misgivings to the chief executive when he returned his mandate to the president this afternoon. The president then wrote Dr. Marx a note, requesting him to keep the mandate, appealing to his patriotic feelings and those of the balking members of the reichstag.

Hindenburg's Plea.

"I appeal simultaneously to the interested parties in the reichstag to lay aside their personal misgivings, and, for the sake of the fatherland, unite under your leadership and rally in the support of the government, which is determined to work faithfully under the constitution for the welfare of the country and not for, or against, individual parties," the president wrote.

"Though the members of the Socialistic parties do not belong to this new government, nevertheless the latter's special duty will be to protect the rights of the working masses, as well as take care of the other affairs of state in an effort to serve the German people of all classes and solve the important political and economical problems confronting us."

The Centrist party, at a caucus, decided that Dr. Marx cannot refuse President von Hindenberg's request to negotiate with the Nationalists. The Centrists tomorrow will draw up conditions which the Nationalists must accept if such negotiations are to continue.

Nationalists Ask 3 Seats.

The names of eventual members of the cabinet are rumored in political circles. The Nationalists are demanding three seats in the cabinet, and the German People's party is ready to grant them, provided the Nationalist members take the oath of allegiance to the republican constitution.

Asks Burial with Dog, Whom He Loved, at Feet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELFAST, Jan. 20.—When Peter, the favorite water spaniel of Lieut. Col. Cecil Browne Lecky of the Royal Irish Fusileers died two years ago, a special place was made for him in the Lecky vault. A special brass plate was erected to his memory. Lieut. Col. Lecky, who died last night, will be buried in the vault, so Peter rests at his feet, according to his wish.

TWO MISSING SONS SOUGHT.

C. Samuel Carlson, 36 years old, of Iron Mountain, Mich., is being sought by the police. His mother died several days ago at Granite Falls, Minn. Nathan J. Clear of Detroit, Mich., asked police here to help him find Albert W. Taylor, 19 years old, whose mother is ill at her home in Detroit.

GARIBALDI COWED AS HIS PALS ASK SEPARATE TRIAL

PARIS, Jan. 20.—[U. N.]—Col. Ricciotti Garibaldi, grandson of the famous Italian liberator, leaped to his feet in the courtroom where he was brought to trial today on charges of international intrigue, and hurled defiance at the witness who had linked his name with plots against Premier Mussolini.

"My pre-trial cross-examination has been distorted by the press," he shouted, his face becoming red with indignation. "I have been morally and physically forced to confess. I never once betrayed my friends."

Plotted Against Italy.

The thin veil of technical charges was torn away by the testimony of Inspector Benoit of the surete generale.

"Garibaldi was the agent provacateur in the play of Fascism," Inspector Benoit said. "He was appointed by Lapolla of the special surete in Rome. He confessed to receiving money from Lapolla. He organized plots against the Italian government and then denounced to that government those he had recruited for execution of his plots."

Demand Separate Trial.

Earlier in the day counsel for the Catalan plotters, who were alleged to have hoarded arms and ammunition along with Garibaldi for use against both Italian Fascism and the government of Spain, asked that the colonel be tried alone.

He said his clients did not desire to appear in the same trial with a man who had been involved in "the greatest treason in history."

During the attack the Italian prisoner hid behind his guard while Santo, his brother, who came here from America, slumped in his seat.

ROAD POLICEMAN AND WIFE VANISH; FEARED KIDNAPED

Marion, Ill., Jan. 20.—(AP)—State and county officials tonight were searching for Lory L. Price, state highway patrolman, and his wife, Ethel, who disappeared Monday night, and who, Sheriff Coleman believes, were kidnaped by Shelton gangsters.

Fred Tarrant, virtual head of the state highway police force, and a squad of patrolmen came from Springfield to join in the search.

The couple were last seen Monday night after they attended a motion picture show here. A search of the Price home on the outskirts of Marion yesterday revealed the telephone wires had been cut.

Signs of a Struggle.

Footprints in the snow indicated the officer had left in his bare feet. Doors were standing open and there were signs of a struggle.

Price's khaki uniform and his service revolver were found in a room adjoining the bedroom, where he apparently had slept. His coupe was in his garage.

Price, so far as known, was the last person to leave the roadhouse of Charley Birger, gang leader, before it was bombed and its four occupants put to death Jan. 9. He stated at the time he had stopped there for a brief visit. His patrol covered the state highway between Carbondale and Harrisburg, on which the roadhouse was located, and he had been on friendly terms with Birger.

Conversation Is Friendly.

Last Friday, Price told friends, he was stopped on the road by Carl Shelton, leader of the gang which is at war with the Birger faction. He described their conversation as "friendly," but thereafter appeared nervous and took some one with him on his patrols.

Price, a six footer, was captured by the Germans in the world war. Last year he was commander of the local American Legion post.

DOCTORS TO HUNT GERM IN BRADLEY ILLNESS TODAY

Specialists who have been trying to determine the cause of the mysterious fever which suddenly gripped Herbert E. Bradley, noted African explorer, six weeks ago, will hold a consultation at his bedside this morning.

Mrs. Bradley said last night that, despite modern research and medical science, this fever germ has baffled physicians. She believes it to be a jungle fever carried in his blood for nineteen months, since his first attack of it in Africa.

So far blood tests and X-rays have failed to reveal the germ.

Spain Dictator's Assembly to Be Called Within 10 Days

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, June 20.—Within ten days a decree convoking Dictator Primo de Rivera's national assembly will be published, Gen. de Rivera said today on his return from a hunting party in the south with King Alfonso. The method of choosing members will be "automatic but impartial."

NEW DRIVE ON THEATER FIRE VIOLATORS

Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch yesterday announced that he would wage a vigorous campaign to compel the owners of all theaters in Chicago to obey the fire prevention and safety ordinances.

"For two months cases have been hanging fire in the Municipal courts against 206 theaters," he asserted. "City Prosecutor Samuel Pincus complains that the courts are lenient in granting continuances. I have assigned a court reporter and Assistant Corporation Counsel Edmund Mulcahy to attend all these trials and in the event the sentences are not satisfactory we will carry the violations to higher courts."

The 206 cases, Mr. Busch said, included blocking of exits, overcrowding, and improper use of drapes. He called attention to the fact that the ordinances were adopted after the Iroquois theater disaster and that higher courts had held them valid.

Singer Asks $100,000 for 'L' Train Shock to Nerves

Charging that bruises and shock received in an elevated train collision caused $100,000 damages to her voice, Mme. Dorothy Derrfuss, a concert singer, brought suit yesterday before Judge Hosea W. Wells against the Chicago Rapid Transit company. She said she was hurt April, 1924, when she was riding on a north side express and that the shock to her nervous system made her unable to sing or keep her concert engagements.

Housework often causes overstrain
"PAIN WAS LIKE A KNIFE STAB"
Once helpless from lame back, now does all her own work
Made practically helpless by a strained back, an active young housewife tried everything she could think of, and at last found quick and complete relief from a simple, old-fashioned remedy.
"The pain in my back was like a knife stab," she writes, "and it left me helpless. Sloan's Liniment was given to me to ease the pain, and I am now able to do all my own work."
Sloan's gets results because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It attacks the cause.
Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and at once you feel a warm, comforting glow, as the healing blood is sent coursing through the sick tissues—stiff, contracted muscles relax, and the pain stops.
So clean and easy to use. All druggists—35 cents.

Y. M. C. A. SEEKS TO EXPAND INTO 20 COMMUNITIES

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The Y. M. C. A. of Chicago is immensely successful, having erected five new department buildings in the last year, with 28,000 members and a budget for the year 1927 of $5,500,000, but there are 20 localities in the city where new buildings are needed and where the conditions are just as favorable as were those where the five new ones were started.

This in essence was the story told last evening at the annual dinner of the Y. M. C. A. at Association building, 19 South La Salle street. The principal speakers were the general secretary, W. J. Parker, and the newly reëlected president, William Francis. Each of the new department buildings was represented.

Annual Drive on Monday.

W. H. Hypes, former president for ten years and now chairman of the general agencies committee, announced the annual drive for funds will begin next Monday noon.

"While the Y. M. C. A. has a total budget of $5,500,000 we only ask the general public to contribute $350,000 of this amount," said Mr. Hypes. "The rest of the funds come from invested funds and receipts from those who share in the benefits of the association."

General Secretary Parker, in his annual survey, reported there are now 21 departments with 277 paid secretaries and 5,000 volunteer members serving on committees.

No Friction in Organization.

"The association is working without friction in all its activities," said Mr. Parker. "We have therefore decided to rewrite our organic law and check up on every department to see whether we are producing all the public has a right to expect from us, considering our proclaimed aims and standards."

BLOOD ON PILLOW CLEW TO KILLING OF ENGAGED MAN

Fiancee Denies She Threatened Him.

Marshalltown, Ia., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A blood spot on a pillow in the hotel room in which Charles L. Elrod of Lewellen, Neb., died so mysteriously on Jan. 9 led to a physician's conclusion that Elrod died of poisoning, but who administered it and why were questions just as puzzling to authorities today as they were ten days ago when their investigation began.

Dr. J. H. Noonan, one of the physicians who performed a post-mortem examination, said that arsenic might cause a man to bite his tongue and that he was convinced that the blood on the pillow came from Elrod's tongue.

Coroner Closes Inquest.

Meanwhile, with the coroner's inquiry closed, authorities have called on the state department of criminal investigation to assist in the case. A state agent will come here from Des Moines.

The question of just how Elrod came to his death was left open by the coroner's jury.

If Elrod killed himself, because he felt the parents of Veda Bellefeuille, his sweetheart, intended to reject him as a son-in-law, he probably was mistaken, as they had decided he would be acceptable if he could convince them his first wife was dead.

Elrod, on the night he was found dead, was to have gone to the Bellefeuille home for their decision. His father, W. C. Elrod, who has expressed belief that his son did not commit suicide, said his son's wife's name had been Lilly Patton and that she died about four years ago at Pueblo, Colo.

Tested His Love.

Miss Bellefeuille, 19, high school girl, who took love passages from a magazine story and incorporated them in letters she wrote to Elrod to test his love, today declined to say whether she believed her fiancé committed suicide.

Miss Bellefeuille also declared she had no theories as to whether he was slain, adding that if she did she would not express them. She has denied that she ever threatened Elrod.

500 INDIANS RIOT IN CANADA; STORM FAIR GROUNDS

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 20.—[U. N.]—Five hundred Indian bucks and squaws stormed the gates of the agricultural fair grounds at Oshweken, center of the Six Nations reservation, today and smashed the padlocks and chains placed there by order of the department of Indian affairs at Ottawa. Until last year the buildings and grounds were granted as a concession to the Six Nations Agricultural society. Alleged irregularities by officers of the society in the use of buildings and party funds led the Canadian government to withdraw recognition of the society. Payment of grants was stopped. A new agricultural society was formed recently. The Indian department of the government and the Six Nations council approved this new group.

SELECT DEVER'S RUNNING MATES FOR PRIMARIES

M. S. Szymczak Is Slated for City Treasurer.

A college professor, M. S. Szymczak, who holds a chair of philosophy, was picked as one of Mayor Dever's running mates yesterday by the Democratic organization. The complete city slate of the George E. Brennan organization, which combines politics and government with ethics, metaphysics, and the higher education, is as follows:

MAYOR—William E. Dever.
CITY TREASURER—M. S. Szymczak.
CITY CLERK—Al. F. Gorman.

Prof. Szymczak [pronounced Simchak] was selected from a list of nine names considered by leading Polish organizations. He was born 32 years ago in Chicago and in 1917 he received the chair of philosophy in the college of commerce at De Paul university, where he is at present professor of business and political ethics.

During the last year he has been teaching department and division heads of large concerns, among them the Western Electric company, the practical application of the principles of philosophy in business and politics. He has been private secretary to County Judge Jarecki and is head of the Democratic organization in the Forty-first ward and commissioner of the Portage Park district. He is president of the Portage Park Skating club and president of the American Naturalization league.

Gorman Now City Clerk.

Mr. Gorman, is on the slate for reelection to his present post.

The Deneen-Brundage Republicans will meet today to select running mates for Edward R. Litsinger, their candidate for mayor. Isaac N. Powell and John F. Smulski, who had been mentioned as possibilities for city treasurer, are reported to have declined to run. Borger O. Borgerson, one of the founders of the Dovre club, is among those considered. So is Edwin C. Mills, past potentate of the shrine. Harry E. Hoff, a son-in-law of Recorder Joseph F. Haas and secretary of the Litsinger campaign committee, is being considered for city clerk.

Yesterday a Litsinger club, composed of citizens of German extraction, was completed at the Hotel Morrison by a group presided over by Capt. A. F. W. Siebel. The members of the committee included Former Sheriff Christopher C. Strassheim, William S. Teichmann, president of the Koerner unit of the Steuben society; Herman Wollenberger, president of the German-American Citizens' league, and George H. Weideling, president of the German Evangelical Lutheran Kloecker Niems.

Democrats in the Twenty-first ward last night indorsed the candidacies of Mayor Dever and Ald. Dennis A. Horan for reëlection.

The interchange of brickbats between William Hale Thompson and Dr. John Robertson, former pals, has another installment today when Dr. Robertson speaks at noon from the stage of McVicker's theater.

COUNTER ATTACK AGAINST CROWE, LITSINGER REPLY

Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review, who has the Deneen-Brundage support for the Republican nomination for mayor at the primaries next month, replied with a counter attack yesterday to State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe's recent charges. Mr. Litsinger said:

"It is in line with State's Attorney Crowe's methods that he resorts to personal abuse in an attempt to discredit my candidacy.

"The test of that candidacy is not what one unfortunate boy among my many relatives has done, or whether I am my nephew's keeper, but what personal business and official character I have built up during my life in Chicago.

"One question I have raised with the self-respecting Republican men and women of Chicago is whether Robert E. Crowe represents the respectable element in the Republican party. Another question is whether his candidate for mayor, by his record, experience, and mentality, is qualified to give Chicago a business administration, and the third question is whether my experience as a lawyer, business man and public official qualify me to discharge the important duties of the mayor's office."

POSES AS PRIEST TO GET DINNER, BUT IS ARRESTED

If Thomas Grystar had been able to say a prayer over his dinner before he devoured it last night in the home of Edward Czug at 1120 Fry street he might have obtained railroad fare to China. As it was he got the dinner—he ate it while the family with bowed heads waited for him to say grace—and a trip to a police station.

Garbed as a priest, Grystar appeared at the Czug home and told the head of the household that he had been robbed. Czug, touched by his plight, extended the invitation to dinner. So Grystar, and Czug, and Mrs. Czug, and several little Czugs sat down.

The Czugs all closed their eyes and waited for the blessing. But instead of the murmur of prayer there was a rattle of knife and fork and when the eyes were opened nearly all the steak was gone.

"I was too hungry to pray," said Grystar.

When the police, summoned by the astonished Czug, arrived Grystar was just finishing his meal. He was taken to the West Chicago avenue station, where he maintained he was regularly ordained, but was unable to tell anything about Omaha. He was still in custody at midnight.

TREES URGED AS AID TO BEAUTY IN CHICAGO STREETS

Lining the city's streets with trees and other shrubbery was discussed by the Illinois State Nurserymen's association in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. Accomplishment of this will make Chicago one of the world's most beautiful cities, delegates declared. Jacob L. Crane, city planner, addressed the group at a noon luncheon and declared that Chicago's waterfront, with its vegetation and other natural aspects gives this city possibilities of outstanding beauty.

KELLY OUTLINES PARK EXPANSION FOR SOUTH SIDE

Calls City's Tax System Inadequate.

Edward J. Kelly, president of the South park board, predicting great development for the south shore district through park expansion, outlined last night the negotiations with taxing bodies necessary to secure boulevard, playground and lake front improvements on the far south side.

Declaring that Chicago is a man wearing boy's clothes, because of its inadequate tax system, Mr. Kelly urged the members of the Windsor Park and Cheltenham Business Men's association to bring pressure to bear on the state legislature to increase the city's bonding power. Valuation of property should be higher and the tax rate lower, he said. As a possible means to that end, Mr. Kelly mentioned Elmer J. Schnackenberg, representative of the district at Springfield, who was toastmaster of the meeting in the South Shore View hotel.

At the same time the council should be induced to turn over the lake front and certain streets from 71st to 95th streets to the South park board, Mr. Kelly said.

Looking to 1933, Mr. Kelly expects the group of five islands up to 87th street to be completed and linked by bridges. This chain of islands, he said, will be the site for the proposed World's fair buildings. That event will be a powerful stimulus to the development of the far south side. But, Mr. Kelly added, there is no reason why the islands along with other lake front projects should not be extended to 95th street. "Take the steps I have suggested and you will become an integral part of the south park system," he said.

RALPH MASON IS NEW CORN KING; WINS AT URBANA

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Ralph Mason of Armington, Tazewell county, became the new "corn king" of Illinois here today when he won the grand champion prize on his ten ear sample of yellow corn at the annual Illinois utility corn show being held in connection with farmers' week at the college of agriculture.

The corn "prince" title went to Edwin Rentschler, 21 years old, of Chestnut, Logan county, when his ten ear sample won the grand champion prize in the junior classes.

Sharing places with corn on today's program were marketing and live stock diseases.

P. A. Dyer, egg grading specialist, told the convention that present methods of marketing eggs in Illinois offer no incentive for equality product and as a result seventeen per cent of the eggs are lost between origin and consumption.

"Most Illinois eggs are marketed through grocers, country stores, and hucksters, none of whom buy on a quality basis," he said. "Only a few dealers buy eggs on a graded basis. More should adopt this system of buying."

Henry C. Taylor of Northwestern university will be the principal speaker tomorrow afternoon and will discuss "Agricultural Surpluses and the Tariff."

New Texas Governor Asks Law to Curb Pardon Evil

Austin, Tex., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Enactment of laws "to protect the public from the indiscriminate pardoning of criminals" was urged today by Gov. Dan Moody in his first message to the Texas legislature. Moody's predecessor, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, granted 3,595 clemencies in her two year term.

Attorney to Seek Bail Today for Scalisi and Anselmi

An effort will be made today to obtain the freedom of John Scalisi and Albert Anselmi, Genna gunmen who two years ago shot and killed Policemen Charles Walsh and Harold Olson of a detective bureau squad during a gun fight on the south side. Attorneys Thomas Nash and Patrick H. O'Donnell announced last night that they will go before Chief Justice William J. Lindsay today and petition for the release of the police killers on bonds pending the retrial of the case next month.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative –Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

–and when they added New Lighting Fixtures the room was complete

"Way back when" gas jets and carbon lamps flared from the same chandelier."

To MOST of us, doing over an old house or modernizing an apartment means ivory woodwork, new wall paper and waxed floors.

But think of the lighting fixtures first! How can any room look up-to-date with the same old antiquated fixture drooping from the ceiling.

Chandeliers, wall brackets and lamps, as they're used today, are vastly more than just lighting equipment. They're part of the decorative scheme and should be considered at the very first stage of planning a new interior.

And then, too, modern lighting fixtures, with their soft, mellow illumination, display your furnishings to better advantage. A room simply appointed and well lighted is much more attractive than a room elaborately furnished but marred by the glare from an old-style fixture.

In your home or rented apartment, you can have new lighting equipment installed at reasonable cost. Get in touch with your neighborhood fixture dealer and let him make suggestions.

LOOP BUILDING MANAGERS FAVOR BAN ON PARKING

Hotel Men Ask Change in Proposed Hours.

Support for the proposed ordinance to forbid parking of automobiles in the loop was given before the city council traffic committee yesterday by the Building Managers' Association of Chicago. That group claimed to represent a majority of property owners in the downtown district.

In a letter to Ald. Albert J. Horan, chairman of the committee, Earle Schultz, president of the association, quoted a resolution.

Resents Storage for Few.

"The board of directors of the Building Managers' Association of Chicago," that resolution said, "believes the time has come when the limited parking for automobiles in the streets of this district during business hours has ceased to serve any real public or private need. It is apparent that the storage privilege enjoyed by relatively few persons is unimportant when compared to the advantages of a free use of the streets for the movement of traffic."

The association's representatives, including George E. Tobey, its secretary, declared that the no-loop parking plan should be given a trial.

Coughlin Jests at Police.

Ald. John Coughlin of the First ward led the opposition to the pending ordinance. That ordinance was drawn and approved by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"This thing is going to put loop business firms out of business," Ald. Coughlin exclaimed. "If these cowboy coppers would enforce the parking ordinances already on our books we would have no congestion."

J. K. Blatchford, secretary of the Chicago Hotel association, argued that the ban on loop parking should cease in the proposed ordinance at 5:45 or 6 p. m., not at 6:30. The hotels and restaurants would suffer large losses because under the 6:30 rule motorists could not drive up to the hotels, have dinner, and reach the theaters with comfort, he said.

Objection and Approval.

"Tourists coming to our hotel cannot possibly get accommodations and have their baggage removed in the three minutes parking proposed under this ordinance," said Frank Bering, manager of the Hotel Sherman.

E. L. Hamilton of the American Railway Express company testified his company spent $1,678,797 yearly to operate their loop delivery wagons. He declared that figure could be cut by $200,000, or 20 per cent, if parking were stopped.

The committee will hold another session at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

U. S. Dry Referendum Plea Up to Minnesota Assembly

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A bill calling for a state referendum on the Volstead act was introduced in the Minnesota house today by Rep. John McDonough and Guy Dilley, both of St. Paul.

RAISES BOOST POLICE, FIREMEN TO TOP IN U. S.

Dever Inspects Budget for O. K. or Veto.

Chicago's policemen and firemen were busy with their pencils yesterday figuring out the size of their future pay checks under the increased salary schedule allowed in the 1927 budget, which was passed by the city council Wednesday.

Slightly more than $48 a week, they found, will be the new maximum wage for patrolmen and firemen, whose annual salaries are boosted to $2,500 after July 1. Until that time only one-half their $300 a year raise will be effective. In addition to their salaries, the men also have pension, insurance, and disability rights.

Policewomen Also Get Raises.

Among those envisioning new savings accounts were thirty policewomen, whose salaries were put on a par with those of patrolmen.

The new salaries, according to a bulletin issued on Jan. 8 by the Citizens' league, make Chicago's police and fire forces the best paid in any large city in America. Figures for New York City, however, were not available. The comparative figures, which do not show any increases that may have been voted by other cities this year, are shown in the bulletin, as follows:

	Patrolmen.	Firemen.
Chicago	$2,500	$2,500
Detroit	2,000	2,100
Los Angeles	2,040	2,040
Boston	1,800	1,800
Cleveland	2,004	2,004
St. Louis	1,764	1,860
Baltimore	1,560	1,500
San Francisco	2,064	2,040
Buffalo	1,800	1,890
Minneapolis	2,040	1,980

Dever Asks Data on Raises.

Mayor Dever yesterday sent a letter to each of his department heads asking them to furnish him with a list of each salary increase and new position created. The mayor is expected to make a few changes in the budget but indicated that he was satisfied with the policemen's and firemen's salaries. He has until next Wednesday to approve or veto the budget in whole or in any part.

NEW BUDGET PROBLEM

Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundesen was confronted yesterday with the problem of squeezing $38,000 more out of the 1927 city budget before July 1 as a result of action taken by the directors of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium.

The directors notified the commissioner that they had lopped off their expenditures after July 1 the salaries of 24 employés on the ground that they should be paid by the health department.

Corporation Counsel Busch, who replaced Dr. Bundesen as a member of the board last summer, explained that he had asked the council finance committee to transfer the expense to the corporate fund while preparing the budget, but that his request had been ignored.

The positions involved, according to Dr. Bundesen, are vital to the health of the city and must not be abolished. They include quarantine officers, bacteriologists, engineers, clerks and stenographers.

Metropolitan Express in Wreck; Passengers Jolted

Valparaiso, Ind., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Scores of passengers were shaken up today when the Metropolitan express on the Pennsylvania lines was wrecked three miles west of here. The accident resulted when the smoking car jumped the rails, due to a defective truck. The engine, three express cars, and the baggage car proceeded eastward. The passenger coaches and sleeping cars were held here three hours until repairs were made.

ALDERMEN QUIZ SCHMIDT, VOPICKA ON SCHOOL IDEAS

Appointees Evasive on Policies Favored.

Two of Mayor Dever's school board appointees, Dr. Otto L. Schmidt and Charles J. Vopicka, were quizzed by the council schools committee yesterday on the policies they will support if the aldermen approve their selection.

For an hour the committeemen, aided by Miss Margaret Haley of the Teachers' federation, fired questions at the two. The replies for the most part were politely noncommittal, especially on junior high schools, the platoon system, teachers' councils, and other controversial problems.

Chairman Leo M. Brieske asked Dr. Schmidt if his membership in the old Public School league would influence him.

"No, it would not," Dr. Schmidt replied.

Miss Haley accused him of supporting the alleged policy of Jacob M. Loeb in dismissing teachers without trials.

"She has been pointing at me as if I was the chief assistant to Satan," Dr. Schmidt commented as he arose to reply. "I am proud to be a friend of Mr. Loeb, but his ideas are not mine."

A few moments later Miss Haley declared that "it is behind the scenes in the Union League club and similar places that the policies of the board are fixed."

"I see no reason why the Union League club should be brought into this discussion or why I am attacked in this manner," retorted Dr. Schmidt. "It seems to me to be irrelevant."

Mr. Vopicka explained that his mind was open on junior high schools and the platoon system. If he found them impractical, he said, he would be willing to listen to the voice of public sentiment and act accordingly.

The mayor's other two appointees, Mrs. W. S. Hefferan and Walter J. Raymer, failed to appear and the committee voted to hear from them at its next meeting. Mrs. Hefferan sent word that she was ill, but no word was received from Mr. Raymer.

Ald. Oscar Nelson declared yesterday that he will oppose the confirmation of Dr. Schmidt and Mrs. Hefferan.

tells advertisers where to get volume sales at low cost!

There are certain factors that have always been recognized as fundamental and used in the determination and analysis of a market by expert statisticians generally.

These basic factors have been used for logical reasons: (1) The size of a market is the number of people in it—not the number of square miles it embraces; (2) The buying ability of a market is measured by the average purchasing power per family of the people in that market; (3) The opportunity for volume sales at low cost in any market is always dependent upon the degree of concentration of people with the greatest average purchasing power.

In defining the value of a market, the P+D+C principle of measurement then is Population, Dollars and Concentration. In defining a newspaper's value in that market, the P+D+C principle of measurement is Population, Dollars and Circulation coverage.

The P+D+C principle offers a sure method of determining the exact limits of a market area within which these three basic factors are most favorable for volume selling at low cost.

P—Low cost selling is obviously easiest within the metropolitan market areas where population is concentrated, where consumers live 6,000 to 13,000 and more to the square mile—where salesmen find retail stores only feet and minutes apart, not hours and miles.

D—Big volume selling also is within the metropolitan market areas, because dollars (purchasing power) average three and one-half times as great per family as in the small town and rural areas.

C—Controlled selling is posssible only where a dominant newspaper with effective coverage reaches a sufficient number of all the families to sway the whole market.

As an example, consider The Billionarea

Here, within an area measuring only 16 by 21 miles, a million people earn and spend a billion dollars a year. Here, one newspaper alone — the St. Louis Post-Dispatch — reaches practically every family of buying consequence—30,000 more families daily—80,000 more Sunday—in the Billionarea than are reached by any other newspaper.

The Billionarea is a market large enough to absorb the output of an entire factory; a market compact enough to be covered thoroughly and often by salesmen; a market rich enough to buy everything in quantity. And—most important—a market so completely covered by one newspaper that, at one low cost and without duplication of circulation, you can conduct a selling campaign that will move merchandise in volume.

That newspaper is the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, having by far the greatest circulation in The Billionarea, and carrying by far the greatest volume of local, national and classified advertising.

The BILLIONAREA

— the GREATER ST. LOUIS MARKET

The Billionarea is the Greater St. Louis Market as it actually exists and as officially designated by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Its boundary is simply the physical limits of metropolitan St. Louis on both the Missouri and Illinois sides of the Mississippi. It includes all (and only) that area where concentration of People, Dollars and Coverage (P+D+C) offers a volume market at low cost for advertisers.

The P+D+C Book describes the P+D+C method of analysis. Sent on request to anyone interested in the St. Louis market.

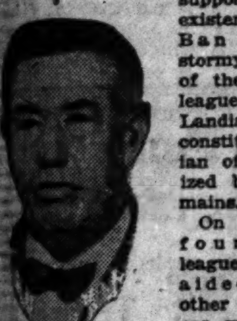
JOHNSON AWAITS MEETING OF LEAGUE DIRECTORS

CLUB OWNERS TO DECIDE BAN'S STATUS SUNDAY

Landis Prepares for Big Session.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.



PHIL BALL.

Sunday next, and not Monday, will bring the verdict in the war that is supposed to be in existence between Ban Johnson, stormy president of the American league, and K. M. Landis, the duly constituted guardian of all organized baseball domains.

On Sunday the four American league directors, aided by two other club owners who will be invited guests, must reach a decision as to whether Johnson is to be supported or whether Landis is to be permitted to have his say.

If the league directors sustain their president it will eliminate the possibilities of fireworks from Landis the following day. If they vote to turn thumbs down on their executive it may mean the resignation of Johnson.

Both Principals Silent.

The principals, Johnson and Landis, continued to play silent parts yesterday, and their failure to emit words merely aggravated the outbursts of the speculative writers.

Many of them are indulging in a free for all to select a successor to Johnson. They have buried the king before he's dead. Candidates for the juicy $40,000 per annum job are springing up everywhere, thus making the whole affair louder and funnier. As yet the comical Nick Altrock hasn't announced his candidacy, although he is better qualified than some already named.

But, despite the apparent belief that his job is open to applicants, Johnson is sitting tight and apparently not worrying. He has an agreement with the league that has nine years to run at $40,000 per annum. This feature alone might make it embarrassing for the league if Johnson should fight any attempt to remove him as a means of satisfying Landis.

Ban to Resign?

So far the guessers have entirely overlooked the possibility that Johnson is at liberty to resign before any guns can be trained on him. There is nothing to prevent him from delivering a broadside to his directors Sunday and concluding with a statement that he desires to be relieved of his duties. He was asked yesterday whether he had given a thought to resigning, and he wouldn't commit himself.

"I have been in harness steadily for thirty-four years," was his only reply.

The real point at issue is whether the American league directors will admit that the commissioner violated a trust when he made public the "Dutch" Leonard letters that indicated an arrangement to bet on a game between Detroit and Cleveland in September, 1917.

May Challenge Landis.

It has been said that Landis, when he took the evidence, declared he would take no action in the cases unless the players demanded public hearings. They refused the opportunity. Another story is that when Landis accepted the evidence he demanded, and received from the directors, their signatures authorizing him to make such use of it as he saw fit. If this is true he was not bound to protect the reputations of the two players involved.

Johnson refused to attach his signature to the above mentioned demand of Landis. He took this stand, he stated later, because he thought nothing could be gained by going farther than quietly dropping the two men from the game. If the league stands with Johnson at the Sunday meeting it is probable that he will appear before Landis Monday and ask the commissioner to explain just why it was necessary to make the Cobb-Speaker charges public.

Ball Backs Johnson.

So far there hasn't been a peep from any of the men, Jake Ruppert excepted, who must stand with Johnson or throw him down. Ruppert is of an open mind. It was said after the December meeting of the two majors here that he was hot under the collar over certain things involving Landis and the National league. Whether he is still in that frame of mind is doubtful.

Phil Ball, the St. Louis owner, who is one of the directors, will stick with Johnson no matter what happens. If the going should become tough against Johnson on Sunday or Monday Ball may make his first speech since he became a club owner. The other directors are Clark Griffith of Washington, Tom Shibe of Philadelphia and William Barnard of Cleveland.

BARROW DOESN'T WANT BAN'S JOB; HE'S SATISFIED

Content to Handle Yanks' Business.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—After enjoying a pleasant 48 hours' boom as a candidate for Ban Johnson's job as president of the American league, Ed Barrow, the business manager of the New York Yankees, today withdrew from this obscene competition for the estate of a man whose demise has not yet been officially celebrated. It appears that Mr. Barrow never had any desire to become heir to the hoorah pertaining to Mr. Johnson's office, but that he wanted a spell to read of his sterling qualities which were being set forth in the papers on behalf of his candidacy.

JOHN HEYDLER.

The position of business manager of a large firm like the Yankees, involving, as it does, the duties of house detective, scout, chief ticket chopper and accountant, appears to be one of the best positions in the industry, for Mr. Barrow said that even if he were offered $40,000 a year, which is said to be Mr. Johnson's wages, it would not pay him to take the place.

Barrow Likes His Job.

Mr. Barrow's thoughts were decidedly elderly as he spoke of the matter, for he mentioned a desire to end his baseball career as business manager of the Yankees and to leave his holdings in the firm as a legacy to his kinpeople.

Here in New York the baseball element is discussing Mr. Johnson with shocking indelicacy entirely in the past tense, and although he is not what you would call a popular idol in this town, there still are some Alacks and Alases in the comment just as there were when Al Reich took his last dive, if it really was his last one.

It is taken for granted here that Mr. Johnson will become erstwhile and extinct not later than next Monday, when he meets Judge Landis in the showdown session in Chicago.

Heydler a Model President.

When and if he is expunged, the New York element of the American league will favor the appointment of some one with a still tongue in the head of him, such as Mr. John Heydler, the president of the National league. Mr. Heydler does not have arguments because so far as his published utterances disclose he does not have opinions except on the most sanitary propositions.

Mr. Heydler will state with firm conviction that honesty is the best policy and that waste makes want, but he never has been heard to take sides in any of the baseball controversies and when he has found scandals in his league he has dutifully passed the information and the responsibility along to the judge.

Comish Cancels Ace Hudkins Bout in Kansas City

Kansas City, Kas., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A scheduled ten round bout here tonight between Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight, and an opponent billed as Young Battling Levinsky of Chicago was canceled at the direction of the Kansas boxing commission.

Officials are investigating reports from Nebraska boxing authorities that "Levinsky" was a nome de guerre for a sparring mate of Hudkins.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BASKETBALL STALLING.

DEAR HARVE: In your interesting comment headed "Basketball," you welcomed the opinion of others on the debatable subject of stalling. Here is mine, plus another suggestion.

I have seen some of the cleverest passing and cleanest handling of the ball done by the stalling team during the last part of the game. It is interesting, although I will admit irritating to the losing team and its supporters. The only uninteresting part of it is if one man holds the ball too long. The only way to abolish this is to cut down the number of seconds one individual may hold the ball without he himself being in motion (dribbling). The ball always should be kept in motion.

When a ball is thrown up between two men, either at center or any other part of the floor, neither man should be permitted to tap it and then take possession of it himself. A teammate or opposing player should touch it before the jumper is allowed possession of it. This would give smaller men more of a chance. F. C. H.

WEISSMULLER IS VICTOR IN A. A. U. 100 YARD SWIM

C. A. A. Captures Relay Race from I. A. C.

Johnny Weissmuller of the Illinois Athletic club shared honors with the Chicago Athletic association in the Central A. A. U. swimming championship events last night at the C. A. A. pool. Weissmuller swam off with the 100 yard free style championship, and the Cherry Circle quartet captured the relay title after a spirited duel with the I. A. C.

Victory of Weissmuller and the C. A. A. quartet was anticipated, but the Cherry Circle swimmers were given the stiffest sort of argument before they were able to win the relay by a narrow margin.

Howell and Breyer Star.

The I. A. C., with Weissmuller swimming first, gained a half tank lead, but Dick Howell and Ralph Breyer saved the day for the home club in a great exhibition of speed. Pitted against Weissmuller was Davy Jones, who was unable to keep pace with Johnny. Kimball followed Weissmuller and held the lead over Greenberg, but then Howell crawled up within two yards of Sam Carter and finally Breyer passed Hugo Miller, winning by two yards.

The winners covered the 400 yards in 3:39 3-5, while the I. A. C.'s time was 3:41 2-5. The C. A. A. second team landed third place.

Weissmuller was not extended to win the 100 yard event, for his time was :53 4-5, almost four seconds slower than his world's record for the distance. Al Schwartz, a recent graduate of the prep school ranks, who competed unattached, took second place, with Kimball third and Howell fourth.

Tilden Preps Win.

Walter Colbath, unattached, won the open fancy diving event, beating out Elder Halvorsen of the C. A. A., whose supremacy in the middle west never before had been challenged. Six others took part in the diving, and collectively their exhibitions were the best seen at the C. A. A. in several years.

In the event for high schools the Tilden relay team finished first over the 160 yard route. Englewood was second, Schurz third, and Hyde Park fourth.

Exhibitions by Ethel Lackie of the Illinois Woman's A. C., the world's fastest woman swimmer, and C. B. Brainerd, breast stroke star of the C. A. A., were an added feature to the program. Summaries:

CUBS SEND JAHN AND COTTER TO MINOR LEAGUES

Two player releases were announced yesterday by President William Veeck of the Cubs on his return to his office from the major-minor leagues meeting at French Lick, Ind. Leo Cotter, first baseman, and Art Jahn, an outfielder, were taken off the Chicago National league roster. Cotter was turned over to the Louisville club, where he was purchased by the Bears a couple of seasons ago, while Jahn was released outright to the Los Angeles club.

Fast Fields to Race in Trib Silver Skates Derbies

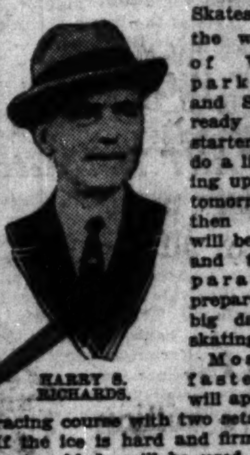
Skaters who will compete in THE TRIBUNE's eleventh annual Silver Skates Derby on the west lagoon of Washington park tomorrow and Sunday are ready to face the starter. All will do a little limbering up today and tomorrow, and then the skates will be sharpened and the racing paraphernalia prepared for the big days of the skating year.



HARRY S. RICHARDS.

Most of the fastest skaters will appear at the racing course with two sets of skates. If the ice is hard and firm a narrow racing blade will be used, but if the surface is soft they will use a wider blade.

Ice Scraped Daily.

According to Harry S. Richards, assistant general superintendent of the south parks, the ice is being put into as fine condition as is humanly possible. The surface is being scraped every day, and all snow has been removed from the lagoon. This snow has been piled in sloping banks along the shore and will afford excellent places of vantage for the spectators.

"Tonight and Friday night we will fill the cracks with hot water," Richards said yesterday. "On both nights the surface will be sprayed with cold water, thereby insuring a fast course and all danger of spills from having skates catch in a crack eliminated. We will use red ink for the finish line, and the flags, which will denote the pole of the course, will be adjusted at an angle so that skaters can make the turns and skate close to the pole without danger of breaking off the staffs of the markers. If the weather remains around the freezing point the skating course will be in perfect condition."

Girls' Shelter House Built.

The shelter house for the girls will be completed today. Benches are being placed in the men's warming house, and other arrangements being completed for the benefit of the contestants. The spectators also will come in for a deal of consideration, but none will be allowed on the ice during the progress of the races.

The program will open promptly at 2 o'clock tomorrow, when trial heats in the boys' juvenile and boys' junior derbies will be held. Contestants in these events are again warned they must report for their numbers before 1:30 o'clock. Skaters who qualify in the preliminary heats must remain on the ground as one round of semifinals also will be staged, making it necessary for the successful entrants to race twice.

The racing on Sunday will start promptly at 1 o'clock and all numbers must be called for half an hour earlier.

La Barba and Clark in Title Fight Tonight

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The world's flyweight championship, somewhat in dispute ever since the death of Pancho Villa, will be finally settled tomorrow night, when Fidel La Barba, recognized generally as the present holder of the title, and Elky Clark of Scotland, the European champion, clash in a 12 round bout in Madison Square Garden. This will be the first international battle for the world's flyweight crown since the late Villa wrested the laurels from Jimmy Wilde, the British mite, in 1923, and is expected to draw a crowd of more than 18,000 to the garden.

FIDEL LA BARBA.
[P. & A. Photo.]

The bout will restore once more the direct line of flyweight champions, as there always has been a slight flaw in La Barbar's claim to the honors. After the passing of Villa, who died while holding the title, La Barba defeated Frankie Genaro, recognized at the time as the American champion, and it was on the strength of this victory that the Californian became generally acceped as world's champion in this country. Europeans, however, have been just as staunch in their support of Clark, their champion, and the battle therefore will definitely settle the dispute.

The bout will mark Clark's first appearance in this country. Abroad he is hailed as the greatest fighting midget turned out in Europe since Wilde was in his prime.

Fighting on the same card, in the semifinal, will be Frankie Genaro, the little New York Italian from whom LaBarba won the championship on Aug. 22, 1925. Genaro meets Newsboy Brown, who already holds one decision over him.

Highland Scot, World's Pacing Champion, Sold

Macon, Ga., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Highland Scot, three year old holder of the world's pacing record of 1:59¼ for a mile, has been sold to the Barryman Stables of Fayetteville, N. C., it was announced today. The price was said to be around $25,000.

PETROLLE AND MYERS FIGHT TO FAST DRAW

9,000 Pack Coliseum to Watch Show.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Ray Miller, the west side featherweight, put up one of the greatest fights of his career last night and won the judges' decision over Eddie Shea, also of the west side, in one of the feature bouts of the boxing show at the Coliseum. In the other half of the double windup, Billie Petrolle, of Fargo, N. D., and Spug Myers, of Idaho, battled ten fast rounds to a draw.

RAY MILLER.

It was one of the best shows staged since boxing was legalized in the state, and Promoter James Mullen announced the attendance as 9,000 and the net receipts about $31,000.

Although the Petrolle-Myers match bristled with action and hard hitting, it remained for Miller and Shea to climax the evening's entertainment with a sparkling bout, during which both the boys tried their utmost to score a knockout. There was not an idle moment in any round, and the decision of the judges, William R. Fetzer and James G. Barsaloux, a member of the C. A. A. athletic committee, met with the approval of the huge throng.

Miller Scores Knockdown.

Miller was entitled to the decision for his aggressiveness and a clean knockdown scored in the opening round. In the seventh session Miller staggered Shea again with a series of left hooks to the jaw. Ray followed his advantage in an attempt for a knockout, but the gritty little Italian came back and fought his way clear.

Shea made the mistake during the battle of not punching back. Shea showed to best advantage at close quarters and at times gave Miller a terrific facing around the mid-section.

At long range Miller was superior and it was at this style of fighting that he landed the counting punches. During some of the rounds they stood toe to toe and let go with everything they had in both hands and then fell into clinches.

Start Mixing Early.

It was a known fact before the battle that each was bent on landing the first punch. At the very start of the fight they lost no time in mixing, and in one of the exchanges Miller caught Eddie flush on the jaw with a left hook. The Italian was up at the count of one and fought back like a tiger. He was unable to overcome the handicap and the round went to Miller.

Honors were about even in the second round. Shea had a decided advantage in the third round, when he gave Miller a lacing around the body, while the fourth session was even.

Shea was the master of the situation in the fifth round. Edie tore after his opponent in relentless fashion and gave him a beating around the body. The sixth round was even and one of the tamest of the fight.

Miller opened up in the seventh round and gave Shea a beating all the way. He staggered the Italian with a series of left hooks and at times chased him around the ring. The eighth round was even, while Miller won the ninth and tenth rounds by comfortable margins.

Myers-Petrolle Draw.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Miller weighed 125½ pounds and Shea 124¾ pounds. A recapitulation of the fight shows that Miller won four rounds, Shea two, and four were about even. It was the first time Miller and Shea had met.

The Petrolle-Myers bout was a fight all the way, with both trying to end the fight in every round. In the early part of the opening round Myers landed two low punches and was cautioned by the referee. After Spug had the better of the milling for half of the second session Billy caught his opponent on the jaw with a right cross and staggered him. In the third round Petrolle again staggered his opponent with another right cross.

In the fifth session Spug sent Petrolle to his knees with a straight right hand punch. Billy, however, went down partly from the force of the blow and partly from a slip. In the ninth session Petrolle again connected with a right cross and Myers took a one count. Myers was entitled to a draw because of his infighting.

Gorman Beats Ross.

In the opening bout of four rounds Joe Gorman won all the way over Eddie Ross. Joe forced the milling in every round and in the first and third rounds staggered his opponent with right crosses. They weighed 138 pounds.

Armando Santiago, the Cuban, and Tommy Grogan of Omaha went eight rounds to a draw in the second opener, while in the other preliminary Andy Sullivan of St. Paul won the decision over Hy Gottfreed of the west side. Sullivan was too clever for his opponent and he also carried the stinging punches. This bout was cut to six rounds as Sullivan is under 21 years of age.

PETERSEN DENIES BOWLING CLASSIC INJURES A. B. C.

Insists Public Wants Real Title Match.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Louis P. Petersen, president of the World's Classic Championship Bowling association, whose recently announced world's championship tournament has stirred up a hornet's nest of protest among members of the American Bowling congress, replied to those charges yesterday.

After the protest of A. B. C. officials, Petersen says, the officers of his association met in Detroit and decided the tournament did not violate the present laws of the A. B. C. and they decided to carry it through according to previous plans.

"Our association has no intention to conflict with the laws of the A. B. C.," Petersen said, "but it is our belief the public would like to see a true championship decided in a manner designed to prove which is the best bowler, not the luckiest.

Encourage Individual Matches.

"We want to encourage individual match bowling, as contrasted to the total pin comparison method—which are comparable to match play and medal play in golf—and offer something of interest to bowling spectators. It seems to me there is room for both."

This is one of the differences of opinion of the Classic association and the A. B. C., as the latter opposes the building up of galleries for bowling matches. They say bowling should be kept as much as possible a participants' and not a spectators' game.

Many Bowlers to Compete.

"Our association is created primarily to afford an opportunity for competition among bowlers of exceptional ability, just as the national, to give the best bowlers a chance to compete against each other under conditions championships are held in golf," Petersen continued.

"As we are violating no law of the A. B. C., I cannot see how the officials of the A. B. C. has any right to bar bowlers from competing. We have the assurance of the majority of really first class bowlers that they will compete in our event, which certainly will more accurately determine who is the best bowler than can any of the usual three game series in customary tournaments."

Maroon Five Meets Purdue Here Tonight

Chicago and Purdue, still uncertain quantities in Western Conference basketball circles, fight it out tonight at Bartlett gymnasium. The Boilermakers have defeated two of the apparently weaker members of the Big Ten, Minnesota and Ohio State, but succumbed to Iowa.

Coach Ward Lambert, however, in the person of Cummins, his lanky center, has sprung the leading point getter on the conference, who has rung up 46 points in three games. Cummins has one of the most peculiar physiques of any conference player, measuring six feet two in height, and scaling under one hundred and fifty pounds in weight. His twenty-two points against Ohio State is still a mark for forwards to shoot at this year. Wilcox, next year's football captain, is another dangerous threat on Lambert's team, and last year, in both games, he gave McDonough of the Maroons a lot of trouble.

Coach Norgren's team, with its spirit unbroken in spite of its tough defeat, 33 to 30, by Wisconsin last Monday night, has been working hard to prepare for Purdue. Chicago has one consolation in that it played on almost even terms with Iowa, while Purdue, two days later, was swamped by the Hawkeyes, 39 to 25.

Norgren will set Capt. Hank Sackett on Cummins to slow up the Purdue scorer, and since Sackett had the pleasure of restricting Kowalczyk, Wisconsin star center, to one basket, the Maroon leader may accomplish this result. Sackett may not be able to play the whole game against Purdue. He was injured over a week ago in the Chicago-Northwestern game, but managed to stand the battle for thirty minutes against the Badgers.

Cards Primed for Duluth on Ice Tonight

Chicago's Cardinals of the American Hockey association will battle the Duluth Hornets tonight in a league game at the Coliseum. Both Duluth and the Cardinals are fighting for a place in the first division standing and a hard battle is expected.

All of the Cardinal players are in good condition again following their two weeks' road trip. When the Chicago team started its long jaunt around the northern section of the association injuries held several of the players off the ice. But every man on the squad will be ready to take the ice tonight.

Capt. Russ Stephenson, one of the best centers in the league, will be back at his old post, while Teddy Graham, a fast defense man, will appear at a forward post. Graham was shifted up to a scoring position during the series with Winnipeg early in the week and he made such an impression on Coach Nip Dwan that it was decided to keep him on the front line.

Cyclone Wentworth and Sieborn will play the defense positions, while Gordie Brydson and Gloomy Lessard will alternate at the other forward post. Bud Fisher will play goal.

Duluth has two great forwards in Herbie Lewis, one of the fastest and trickiest skaters in hockey, and La France. Both are good shots and also fine checkers. Moose Jamieson and Loucks, defense men, are big fellows and form a hard combination to beat. Turner defends the goal.

After the hockey match the Western Skating association will stage two speed races. There will be a half mile race for class A skaters and a three-quarter mile race for class B boys. The hockey match starts at 8:15 o'clock.

CHICAGO'S HAWK GETS DIRTY DEAL; HE'S MAN'S PAL

BY BOB BECKER.

One of the farmer's best allies has been getting a raw deal from Chicago as the red tailed hawk, which was haled into court for a mock "trial" a couple of days ago, is not "the killer" among hawks and should be patted on the back and freed instead of cooped up for life.

Red Tail Beneficial Bird.

The red tail (classed in the genus Buteo and not one of bird destroying Accipiters) is one of the best friends of all our birds of prey and is of considerable economical importance. It feeds on a variety of food such as small mice and other mammals, snakes, frogs, insects, crawfish, centipedes, and occasionally a bird. When these birds live in sections where rattlesnakes are found, they hop on the rattlers and destroy many.

Although the red tail will sometimes stray from the straight and narrow path and grab a chicken or a songbird, Uncle Sam ranks this bird as generally beneficial and urges general protection for it because of its constant warfare upon field mice and insects which are destructive to farm products and orchards.

He's Been Framed.

Examination of the stomach contents of 530 red tail hawks backs up Uncle Sam's defense, as 85 per cent, or 457 of this number contained the remains of rodent pests like the field mouse, cotton rat, ground squirrel, etc., all of which eat the farmer's dollars.

Yes, sir, Mr. Red Tail has been framed. He's no killer like his relatives, the sharpshinned, Cooper, or the goshawk.

Pan-American Highway Link Plan Launched

BY J. L. JENKINS.

A through motor road from the north limits of Canada to the Argentine is the long dreamed of government objective, which promises to bring nineteen countries of Pan-America into coöperative highway construction work.

Senator Ralph H. Cameron of Arizona has launched the great project by the introduction of a bill in the senate providing for the creation of the "Pan-American peoples' great highway commission," to be composed of all members of the United States cabinet and the director of the Pan-American union. Members of the commission or the body itself, according to the bill, will visit the various countries and organize the work of linking all capitals in the Americas with the proposed main through highway or with one of its branches.

The bill, introduced in the senate early this month, was referred to the committee on postoffices and post roads, and a similar bill, introduced in the house by Congressman C. J. McLeod of Michigan, now is in the hands of the committee on foreign affairs.

Mexico has gone out in front in this international highway project by contracting for and beginning actual construction work on a through road to link Mexico City with cities in Texas. Highway conventions of the last three years have brought scores of South American officials to study Uncle Sam's great road system, and it is expected that the new international campaign will receive the approval of all countries involved.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Backing and filling movements again characterized today's stock market, which failed to make any headway in either direction. Professionals continued to dominate trading, bidding some stocks up to new high records, while others were being depressed to new lows.

The day's sales showed a further contraction in volume, due to the continued absence of extensive outside participation. Call money renewed at 4¼ per cent and then dropped to 4, but the ordinarily bullish effect of a lower renewal rate for call money was offset to some extent by the maintenance of the 4 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve bank.

Industrials Down, Rails Up.

As in most recent sessions, the general trend of the industrials was downward and that of the rails upward, with numerous exceptions in each group. Failure of the directors of the U. S. Cast Iron Pipe company to authorize a split up of the capital stock and the declaration of extras of only $1 in cash and 10 per cent in stock on the Liggett & Myers issues also caused speculative disappointment, which was reflected in the heaviness of those stocks.

The general uncertainty as to the course of spring business has been blamed for the recent irregularity. The recommendation of a prominent real estate mortgage banker that building of office structures, apartments, and hotels be suspended for six months was used as a pretext for selling by bear traders.

Some Peak Prices of Year.

Establishment of new peak prices for a year or longer by such issues as Pennsylvania railroad, R. H. Macy, "Katy" preferred, Timken Roller Bearing, Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern preferred, Midcontinent Petroleum, Pressed Steel Car, Collins & Aikman, and Public Service of New Jersey were offset by the establishment of new lows in McCrory Stores B, Penn Dixie Cement, American Bosch Magneto, Electric Refrigeration, and Foundation Company. Montgomery Ward was under pressure on disappointing 1926 earnings estimates.

Oils were again active, but with the exception of Colorado fuel, which closed 2 points higher at 49, they made little headway. Sinclair opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 22⅛, but closed slightly below that figure for a small net gain on the day.

INDUSTRY SPENDS MILLIONS IN HUNT FOR PERFECTION

BY HARPER LEECH.

Is American industry yet devoting enough money and energy to research work? The record of positive achievement is impressive enough.

In one way or another $200,000,000 a year is probably being spent in the effort to learn how to do things better and cheaper.

Every few days there is news of some new fund or foundation for the purpose. The petroleum industry has just been so benefited. The building materials industry—which is, by the way, the scene of very intense competition between rival materials—is and has for a long time been devoting much money to such work. The General Electric is cited even by pessimists as a striking example of a big corporation which is not neglecting its opportunities. The chemical companies are of course busy. Since 1921 there has been a great improvement, no doubt.

Partly as a result of such work we must credit the improvement in the efficiency of labor which has been announced, industry by industry, after statistical analysis by the department of labor. From 1914 to 1925 the productivity of labor in the following industries is declared to have been bettered by the following percentages: Automobiles, 210 per cent; rubber tires, 211; oil refining, 77; cement, 58; steel, 58; blast furnaces, 94; flour milling, 39; packing, 27; paper, 33; sugar refining, 27; tanning, 28; shoe manufacture, 16.

As fuel, not human hands, does the rough work nowadays, the figures showing the more efficient use of fuel by railroads and power companies are just as important, also reflect a great deal of experiment and laboratory testing.

As the larger manufacturing units show better results in labor productivity than the smaller concerns, we are entitled to conclude that their greater resources, which enable them to do more research work, are a factor in their more efficient employment of labor.

Now for the other side: A generally well informed critic says that after an industry passes its promotional stages it tends to lose its thirst for innovation. "It has hitherto been generally true in America that this phase of large enterprises has usually appeared long after large size has been attained and, in general, only after the control has passed from promoter owner control to hired officer control. Progress depends upon the application of scientific research and of inventiveness to technological problems. On the whole it is probably true that domination over a branch of an industry of a great corporation is a brake upon inventiveness.

"Inventors hesitate to turn their ingenuity into fields in which their inventions can be sold only to some great corporation. Possibly this has had something to do with the establishment by certain great corporations of elaborate scientific research organizations. Whether these compensate the public for the loss of individual initiative is an open question."

Standard Trust Elects Two New Vice Presidents

Two new vice presidents were elected by the directors of the Standard Trust and Savings bank at their annual meeting yesterday. They are Martin A. Olson, who was assistant cashier, and T. R. Thorsen. Thomas G. Wilson and William R. Monroe were made assistant cashiers. Directors of the Universal State bank elected George A. Fukys and Harry G. Batchelor Jr. assitant cashiers.

The State Bank and Trust company of Evanston added Sewell L. Avery, Arthur Anderson, James F. Oates, Scott Brown, and A. Knight to the board of directors. William A. Dyche was made chairman of the executive committee, F. J. Scheidenhelm chairman of the board, Wirt Wright president, C. Luther and L. J. Knapp vice presidents, F. U. Carlborg cashier, and F. O. Potter secretary.

RAILROAD NOTES

Southern Railway has applied to the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue and sell $3,368,000 of first and consolidated mortgage 5 per cent bonds, payable July 1, 1994. Proceeds will be used to redeem on April 1, 1927, a like amount of debenture mortgage 5s of the Richmond and Danville.

Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific will spend $5,476,872 for improvements in Iowa in 1927, according to J. E. Gorman, president. This will double the amount provided for the same work in 1926.

The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie was authorized to assume obligations and liability of $7,500,000 secured notes of the Wisconsin Central, a subsidiary.

$200,000 WANTED

Finance Company operating on its own capital for ten years needs additional money for expansion. Very attractive proposition for private capital interested in a remunerative return. Address M T 594, Tribune.

WARD & CO. SHOW GREATER SALES, SMALLER PROFIT

BY O. A. MATHER.

Although American agriculturalists bought goods in generous measure last year, their purchases ran largely to necessities and low priced luxuries, while they cut down on high priced goods. This is indicated in the annual report of Montgomery Ward & Co., the big Chicago mail order house, which was made public last night.

The result of this shift in buying was that, while sales increased $13,208,223 over 1925, net profits fell off $2,552,199. Part of the decline in profits was assigned to an increased number of catalogs, although this had the effect of increasing the number of customers, and also to expenses incident to opening a new plant in Baltimore, Md.

Prices on Decline.

"The explanation of the smaller net profit in spite of increased sales lies in the fact that 1926 was a year of declining commodity prices resulting in a recession in the margin of gross profit per dollar of sales," President Theodore F. Marseles says. "Moreover, there was a greater demand than usual for merchandise carrying a relatively lower margin of gross profit."

Net sales for 1926 totaled $183,800,865, compared with $170,592,642 in 1925. Net profits last year were $8,806,299 after all charges and taxes. This is equivalent, after dividends on the preferred and class A stocks, to $6.25 a share on the 1,141,251 shares of common stock. Net profits in 1925 were $11,358,498, equivalent to $8.65 a share on the common stock.

Dividend on Common Started.

The company initiated dividends on the common stock at the annual rate of $4 by paying a quarterly dividend of $1 in the last quarter of 1926. It also retired the $2,249,800 preferred stock on Dec. 31, paying a premium of $557,206. After paying dividends and this premium, and also $690,192 to cover additional income taxes for 1917, 1918, and 1919, surplus earings were $4,750,529, bringing total surplus up to $28,524,961.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1926, shows current assets at $48,810,452; increase, $2,417,268; current liabilities, $10,022,036; decrease, $2,433,681; plant, etc., $16,342,390; decrease, $2,625,959; investments, $1,768,779; decrease $384,085; reserves, $2,178,339; increase, $116,327; total assets and liabilities, $66,921,621; decrease, $1,816,625.

Federal Bank Loans Decline.

The current ease in money rates and the prospect of continued ease finds reflection in the weekly report of the federal reserve system, issued last night. However, the New York Federal Reserve bank made no change in its 4 per cent rediscount rate.

The reserve system shows a decline in loans of $74,419,000 in the last week. Open market bills held about stationary and government securities increased $1,691,000. Deposits receded $6,044,000, with member bank reserves dropping $30,218,000 and government deposits increasing $13,249,000. Note circulation fell $40,545,000. Gold and total reserves increased $19,892,000 and $24,404,000 respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 76.9 from 75.4 per cent in the preceding week.

Drop in Deposits in New York.

At New York loans declined $38,199,000, but bills increased $12,618,000. Deposits receded $4,447,000. Reserves expended $18,107,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 83.4 from 81.9 per cent. At Chicago loans increased $3,026,000, but bills declined $5,425,000. Deposits expanded $6,417,000. Reserves receded $4,573,000 and the reserve ratio fell to 70.7 from 71.3 per cent.

Dividend news was mixed yesterday. The Liggett & Myers Tobacco company declared a 10 per cent stock dividend, payable in class B stock, and an extra cash dividend of $1 on the combined common and class B shares. The Sherwin-Williams company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents on the common stock. The United States Cast Iron Pipe company declared four quarterly dividends of $2.50 each on the common stock, thus covering the regular $10 annual payments for this year. A stock split-up had been expected.

The Source of Real Profits
Real profits are seldom derived from careless speculation or investing in promotional, unproved ventures. To rely on such methods for the achievement of wealth is about as dependable as to stake one's future on the turn of a wheel or the flip of a card.
Real profits come from the creation of new wealth—from the products of the soil, from the enhancement of stable values, from the manufacture and sale of some useful commodity—in other words from rendering some real service to mankind.
Your funds, then, if they are to produce real profits for you, must be invested in productive enterprises, and in that part of their financial structures which can share increasingly in the profits—in other words—their stocks. Our booklet, "Sharing in the Profits of American Industry," tells how this can be done.

WHEAT REGAINS EARLY DECLINES; CORN IS EASIER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat opened weak and around ⅛c lower as the result of selling induced by an Argentine government report estimating the crop at 224,000,000 bu, or 7,000,000 bu above the previous figures, but the market became oversold on the decline, and a bulge of 1@1⅛c from the low point followed. May sold up to $1.40⅝, or within ⅛c of the best price on the present movement. The finish was within a fraction of the top at net gains of ⅝@⅝c, with May $1.40⅝@1.40½; July, $1.31¼@1.31⅝, and September, $1.28.

Buenos Aires wheat, after opening ½c lower, rallied and closed 1⅛c higher, with February $1.25⅝, and March, $1.26¼. Liverpool lost ½d, while Winnipeg reported heavy buying by exporters and foreigners and closed ⅝@⅝c higher.

Corn was easy, due to a marked increase in country offerings to arrive, purchases being estimated at 235,000 bu, but rallied from the low point in sympathy with the late strength in wheat and finished unchanged to ¼c lower, with May 81⅛@81⅞c, July 84⅝c, and September 86⅝@86⅝c. Oats were ¼c higher, with May 49@49¼c and July 48⅝c, while rye showed independent strength and gained 1@1⅛c, with May $1.04⅝@1.04⅝ and July $1.00⅝.

Export Demand More Active.

In the face of the larger estimate on the Argentine wheat crop the foreign demand for North American grain improved materially, and at the last it was estimated that sales in all positions aggregated around 1,000,000 bu, largely Manitobas, the business being the largest for any day so far this season. Buying to remove hedges against the sales abroad and purchase of around 1,000,000 bu futures for foreign account at Winnipeg were factors in making the upturn from the low point.

Houses with northwestern connections bought May wheat here, presumably closing spreads with Winnipeg. Locals protected sales of bids early, but had to buy later, and toward the last sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves. Houses with eastern connections bought futures early, and there was a noticeable lack of pressure on the way up.

Private cables reported around 50,000,000 bu Argentine wheat have been sold for export so far. Clearances for the week were estimated at 2,960,000 bu, compared with 1,969,000 bu the previous week and 1,664,000 bu last year. No. 2 hard winter at the gulf was quoted at 8½c over Chicago May, off ½c for the day, while at Winnipeg the cash gained ⅛@⅝c on futures.

Corn Has Easier Tone.

Corn prices averaged lower, with some selling by tired longs and also local pressure, the increased country offerings from Illinois points being a factor. Trade was not large. Minneapolis was reported as outbidding Chicago for cash corn in Iowa. Spot basis here was steady to ½c higher on new. Oats were fairly active, with commission houses on the buying side, and the market showed independent strength as compared with corn.

Foreign demand for cash rye was fairly brisk, and, while sales were estimated at only 100,000 bu in all positions, there were numerous bids below the market. Duluth was said to have sold cash grain east for shipment at the opening of lake navigation. Charters have been made for 600,000 bu barley at the seaboard to Germany. Barley futures at Winnipeg were 2⅝c higher, with May 74c.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Export demand for wheat at the seaboard was the best so far this year with sales estimated at around 1,000,000 bu, largely Manitobas, in addition to which there was buying of around 1,000,000 bu futures at Winnipeg credited to foreign account, which was regarded as a reflection of additional business. Part of the Portuguese order for 1,300,000 bu was filled by sales of Manitobas, and that country also bought a cargo of Argentine grain.

Some hard winter wheat was included in the seaboard total, with a little red winter and also durum. The latter was said to have sold at the highest price on the crop. In all probably 200,000 bu domestic wheat was sold. No. 2 hard winter at the gulf was quoted at around 8½c over Chicago May, off over 3c from the recent high. Export sales of rye were 50,000 to 100,000 bu, with a liberal number of bids in the market somewhat under a working basis.

Chicago handlers sold 10,000 bu wheat; 72,000 bu corn, and 34,000 bu oats to the domestic trade with 100,000 bu corn to go to store. Deliveries on January contracts aggregated 12,000 bu wheat and 5,000 bu corn.

Cash wheat basis showed little change here or in the southwest. No. 2 red on spot here was 2@2½c under and No. 3 red, 4@8c under May, with No. 2 hard 4@5c over, and No. 3 hard 3c over to 4c under May.

Offerings of cash corn on spot were not large, and the basis steady to ½c higher with new No. 3 grades, 8@10c under May; No. 4 grades, 10½@12c under; No. 5 grades, 12½@13c under, and No. 6 grades, 13½@14½c under. Purchases to arrive were placed at 235,000 bu for the day. Outside markets were unchanged to 1½c lower.

Basis on cash oats was unchanged with No. 2 white 1c under to 3¼c over, and No. 3 white 1@4c under May.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

An accumulation of May wheat by a few of the largest commission houses was on yesterday during the weak spots which became effective later in carrying prices from the inside figure of the bids up into the offers. While the short interest in the pit was reduced it left it tight and in a position to respond to new buying with prospects for a further upturn in prices.

Despite an increase in the wheat crop estimates in Argentina to 224,000,000 bu, or 7,000,000 bu more than previously reported by the government, Buenos Aires regained most of its loss of Wednesday and closed 1½c higher at $1.25⅝ for February and $1.26¼ for March.

The country was credited with selling 235,000 bu corn yesterday to arrive which scared out a lot of local holders and induced pit professionals to put out a line of shorts, affecting the price for a time. But commission houses had good buying order around 81½c for May and there is a feeling in some quarters that the market is to work irregularly higher, although new outside help is greatly needed.

H. H. Field, a butter and egg operator, has been admitted to the Chicago Board of Trade and to the clearing house. Board of Trade Clearing House memberships, which originally cost $2,500, are now $2,586.

A few of the large corn traders are buying July and selling May at around 3⅝c premium on July. There is said to have been considerable accumulation of July on all breaks of late.

James M. Sheldon and John Coleman Jr. have been elected members of the Chicago Board of Trade, and have become partners in Farnum, Winter & Co.

It is said that 1,300,000 bu of No. 1 Manitoba wheat at eastern lake ports was sold by one exporter yesterday. The pool is the only holder that could sell a large line as it is understood that a greater part of the holdings in recent exports have been disposed of.

Argentine exports of wheat for the week are estimated at 2,960,000 bu or 1,000,000 bu more than the previous week and compared with 1,644,000 bu last year. Corn exports are estimated at 5,600,000 bu against 6,492,000 bu previous week and 2,312,000 bu last year.

There was large buying of Winnipeg futures by exporters and May closed at $1.36⅛, a net advance of ⅝c. Receipts in Winnipeg have increased the last few days, being 669 cars yesterday against 476 cars a week ago and 784 cars last year.

LESS PRESSURE ON LARD

Selling of lard on Wednesday with the sharp decline discounted the effect of the big run of hogs. The close was at the top with net gains of 7½c to 10c. January and cash being $12.35. Liverpool lard was 6d to 9d lower and export clearances 56,000 lbs.

Short ribs were unchanged to 7½c higher, and bellies were unchanged to 5c lower. Cash trade was not large. Prices follow:

NORTHWEST RAIL MERGER TO BE ON EQUALITY BASIS

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The huge northwest railway merger is being planned on a share for share equality basis in an exchange of stock of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific for stock in the new operating railway company. This was disclosed here today in a joint statement issued by Ralph Budd and Charles Donnelly, respectively presidents of the two northern companies.

The announcement was made at the close of a meeting of directors, officers, and counsel for the two railway systems, at which "satisfactory progress" was made. The exact method by which the plans will be carried out was not revealed.

The Great Northern has authorized $250,000,000 of preferred stock ($100 par value), of which $248,916,550 is outstanding, and the Northern Pacific has authorized $250,000,000 of capital stock ($100 par value), of which $248,000,000 is outstanding.

There is a close similarity also in the funded debts of the two roads, the Great Northern having $332,321,215 in bonds and equipment obligations outstanding as of last December, while the Northern Pacific had $320,133,000.

The meeting today closed the New York phase of the conferences, Mr. Donnelly leaving tonight for the west. It is expected, however, that further discussions will follow shortly, probably in St. Paul.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

GENTLEMAN FARMERS CAN SAVE ON THIS ITEM.

City farm land owners who pay the bills for supplies used by the managers of their farms may be able to save several hundred dollars this season by following the advice of F. L. Worthen, a Cornell university soil expert, who gave some valuable tips to Illinois crop and live stock raisers at Urbana the other day. He told them that present crop values will not justify the buying of factory mixed fertilizers by the grain and live stock farmer. Consequently a system of soil management must be followed in which the fertilizer needs of grain crops can be met successfully by the application of acid phosphate, rock phosphate, or bone meal.

Illinois' soil specialists and farmers have believed in that sort of system for years and have practiced it even when prices were more favorable than they are now. The eastern soil man now finds conditions such that fertilizer economy in grain and live stock farming requires the adoption of the Illinois system of soil management, utilizing advantageously the farm source of plant food and thus making it necessary for the farmer using the system to buy only a phosphate fertilizer material.

Worthen explained that the Illinois plan calls for frequent growing of clover or alfalfa in the crop rotation and the application of limestone as needed by the legumes. In addition it requires the conservation of organic matter through the return of farm manure and crop residues to the land, he said.

There is no object in growing more bushels and tons unless there is profit left after costs are paid. Worthen points out that by increasing yields fertilizer is at least partly responsible for overproduction. The use of fertilizer, he adds, "can be justified only when the increase in yield is enough to return a good profit over and above the cost of the fertilizer treatment."

ARGENTINE CROP REPORT

Exportable surplus of wheat placed at 144,000,000 bu, against actual clearances of 80,000,00 bu last year; oats, 40,000,000 bu, against exports of 37,000,000 bu last season and flax 63,000,000 bu, against 69,000,000 bu in 1925-26. BUSINESS: Victor Talking Machine Company, incorporated in 1901, is the largest manufacturer of talking machines and records in the world.

From the beginning the Company has maintained a position of leadership through the excellence of its instruments and records and through its success in securing the services of the greatest artists under exclusive contracts. Victor records constitute a collection of the world's greatest music interpreted by the world's greatest artists. "His Master's Voice" has long been one of the best known trade marks throughout the world.

The Orthophonic Victrola and Electrola, introduced in the latter part of 1925, and the Orthophonic Victor record, placed on the market in the fall of 1926, embody the latest developments in reproducing and recording sound, and represent the greatest advance in the industry since the invention of the talking machine. The Company also combines in a single instrument the Orthophonic Victrola and Electrola with the Radiola, manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America and its allied companies. The instruments range in price from $1,000 for the largest combination machine down to $17.50 for portable Victrola models.

ASSETS: Current assets on September 30, 1926, as shown by the consolidated balance sheet certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., including $12,971,138 in cash, Liberty Bonds, Treasury Certificates and other marketable securities, were $25,129,913, as against current liabilities of only $2,817,249. Total net assets, including land as appraised by James F. Baker Co., and buildings, machinery and equipment in Camden, N. J., the principal plant, as appraised by The American Appraisal Company, were $51,093,812, equal, after deducting the par value of the Prior Preference Stock and the Convertible Preferred Stock at $100 per share, to about $32 per share of Common Stock.

The valuable patents, rights and trade names are carried at one dollar; the master records and matrices for its entire collection of records are likewise carried at one dollar. No valuation is included for goodwill.

EARNINGS: Net earnings for the 12 years ended December 31, 1926, after reserves for depreciation and Federal taxes, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. (including the Company's estimate for the last three months) were as follows:

Year Ended Dec. 31	Amount	Year Ended Dec. 31	Amount
1915	$7,388,609	1921	$4,190,413
1916	8,679,251	1922	6,408,841
1917	5,145,927	1923	6,568,850
1918	3,159,627	1924	1,227,426
1919	4,611,171	1925	*5,332,253
1920	4,800,357	1926	8,000,000

*Deficit after extraordinary charges and adjustments.
Including Company's estimate for last three months.

Net earnings for the 9 months ended September 30, 1926, after reserves for depreciation and Federal taxes, as certified, were $5,195,054. For the entire year, net earnings, after reserves for depreciation of about $1,140,000, but before Federal income taxes, are estimated by the Company at $8,400,000 and, after such taxes, at $8,000,000, taxes being reduced by about $740,000 through allowance for losses in the preceding year. The net amount for 1926 without this tax reduction would be about $7,260,000, equal, after deducting annual dividend requirements of the Prior Preference and Convertible Preferred Stock, to about $8.90 per share of Common Stock, and after deducting also the annual Prior Preference Stock sinking fund, to about $7.80 per share.

Since organization in 1901 the Company's business has been profitable in every year with the single exception of 1925. In that year net earnings were $931,358 before writing off depreciation, losses due to the abandonment of old models, and extraordinary expenses incident to the development and introduction of new instruments and processes.

The Company has paid about $37,500,000 in cash dividends. Since 1902 cash dividends have been paid on the Common Stock in every year except 1926, and on January 17, 1927 a dividend of 8% was paid on approximately $35,000,000 par value of Common Stock outstanding prior to recapitalization. Largest Thursday hog receipts in a year and second largest for any day in six weeks at 50,000 had a weakening effect on yesterday's market. Prices opened 10@20c lower, but fully half the decline was regained, with closing trade highest of the day.

Packers started in bidding 25c lower or $11.75 for good mixed butchers. Later, however, they purchased freely at $11.90@12.00, most of the big droves costing around $11.95. Top underweights made $12.15 and general average landed at $11.95, against $12.05 Wednesday, $11.85 a week ago, and $11.75 a year ago. Estimated number left over was 8,000. Quality was good.

Recent big gains in cattle prices attracted a burdensome supply of steers lacking finish, resulting in a slight setback in all but top notchers. Choice 1,113 lb averages reached $12.60, highest for yearlings thus far this year. Choice 1,085 lb Nebraskas brought $12.50. Best weighty steers available averaged 1,640 lbs at $12.25. A load of 1,988 lb steers brought $10.50. Bulk of good beef cattle sold at $9.00@11.50, against $9.00@11.25 a week earlier.

Cattle receipts at 14,000 exceeded the advance estimate by 4,000, being second largest for Thursday since early in November. Butcher stock in liberal supply recorded uneven declines. Fifteen dollar vealers appeared on yesterday's bulge of the calf market, being as high as any since last October, when $16.00 calves were highest in 1926. Stockers and feeders held steady.

Fat Lambs Slump Again.

Conditions in the lamb market were similar to those existing on previous sessions this week, indicating the optimistic attitude of country feeder buyers, in face of big declines in killing stock. Light feeding lambs cleared readily at strong prices, mostly 25@35c above fat stock. Choice 62 lb feeders reached $13.10, bulk of better grades at $12.25@13.00.

Sheep receipts exceeding 23,000 were largest of the week, resulting in another 15c break in fat lambs, fancy light declining to $12.75, within 25c of the lowest daily top since August, 1922. Bulk of good kinds brought $12.00@12.50. Aged sheep declined 10@15c, choice ewes at $7.50. Yearlings ruled weak, prime 96 lb averages reaching $10.50 and some averaging over 100 lbs, $10.25.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN FOR SALE OF NEW LIFE INSURANCE IN 1926

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—All former records in the purchase of new life insurance were broken for the fifth consecutive time in 1926, when the total purchase from United States companies aggregated approximately $16,-400,000,000, exceeding the 1925 total by $900,000,000, or 6 per cent.

Adding this new insurance to the $71,690,000,000 outstanding at the close of 1925, and making proper allowances for deaths and other terminations of policies, life insurance in force in all United States legal reserve companies now stands at more than $80,000,000,-000, according to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

The record figures were computed from the reports by 45 companies which have in force 81 per cent of the total business outstanding.

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Curious cross currents of prices ran through today's curb market, with honors between the bull and bear factions about evenly divided.

The emphatic denial by officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana that no stock dividend was contemplated cast a temporary damper over the oil group, but several of the pipe line shares advanced 1@3 points, and Standard Oil of Indiana declined only fractionally. South American issues were again in great demand, with Creole Syndicate touching a new high on the current upswing.

A sudden upturn in Warner Brothers Pictures B, which gained about 2 points, enlivened trading in the industrial group. Estey Welte A changed hands in large volume, showing a slight loss on the day. A gain of nearly 2 points in Industrial Rayon and a point advance in Courtaulds brought the artificial silk issues to the forefront after a long period of comparative inactivity.

A jump of 5 points in Ford of Canada and a drop of 1⅝ in Stutz were the contrasting features in the motor group. Coal shares were mixed, Glen Alden losing ground, while Lehigh Coal and Navigation and Lehigh Coal Sales moved upward. Stromberg Carburetor also showed a moderate gain. American Light and Traction, National Public Service B, and United Gas Improvement were the leaders in the public utility section, all recording substantial gains.

Demand for investment securities continued in large volume and bond prices were firm. Supported by court approval of the sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, issues of that company were in high favor, particularly the certificate 4s of 1934. Erie Convertible 4s, series D, and Missouri, Kansas and Texas adjustment 5s figured high up in the trading.

Further gains by Warner Sugar bonds, buoyed up by news of the sale of the company's Edgewater, N. J., refinery to the National Sugar Refining company, featured the industrial group. The refunding 7s and first 7s of the Warner Company reached new high prices after advances of nearly 5 points each. Brisk activity also took place in American Sugar 6s and Sinclair Oil 6½s. Public utilities were firm, with comparatively light buying.

Purchasers in the foreign field were partial to Belgian and French obligations, especially the 7s of the latter country. The United States government group was reasonably steady, with buyers only nominally active.

NOW ready for occupancy—occupying a dominating position in the Boulevard Link District—Michigan Avenue's newest great office structure, the Lake Michigan Building, stands as a monument to Chicago enterprise and progress.

A new record for speed and efficiency was set in the building of this great structure. Actual construction began on March 6, 1926. The steel frame work was completed in July, 1926. The exterior of the building was entirely finished in December, 1926; and it was ready for occupancy, on January 1, 1927.

This record-breaking construction task is the achievement of one of Chicago's great contracting firms, Paschen Brothers, the General Contractors under whose supervision the entire work was handled, with the able assistance of the firms and individuals whose names are set forth on this page. All of them contributed to the speed and efficiency of construction and to the artistic and practical excellence of the building, both interior and exterior.

The Ragged Edge

BY HENRY C. ROWLAND.

SYNOPSIS.

Granville Boyd, owner and navigator of the yacht Rigel, anchored in the harbor at Hamilton, Bermuda, is about to start on a semi-scientific expedition around the world. He is accompanied by his sister, Carillon, and a party of scientists. Carillon meets Bengal Dodd, who had brought his yacht Gunga to Bermuda on her maiden cruise, and she asks Dodd to tag along with the Rigel. Obtaining Boyd's consent, Dodd asks Jim Howland and his daughter, Gertrude, to accompany him. As they are about to leave, a widow at one of the Hamilton hotels loses her jewels and Carillon is suspected of the theft. Bengal Dodd is a former district attorney of New York and he decides to do everything in his power to help Carillon clear herself of the suspicion. He suspects Mrs. Ransome's maid Irma, who formerly worked for Carillon. While Boyd and Dodd are in Hamilton working on a clew, Mrs. Ransome, accompanied by Irma, comes aboard the Rigel and assures Carillon that she is certain of her innocence and tells her she is free to leave on the Rigel whenever she pleases. The two boats start off agreeing to meet at Port au Prince.

On the seventh day out Bengal sights the Rigel drifting north and on boarding her finds that she has been abandoned. Following a clew found on the chart he takes the Rigel and, accompanied by Gertrude, makes for Verde Cay, an uninhabited island. Howland agrees to navigate the Gunga to Ragged island and wait there for the Rigel. Bengal is sure Boyd and his guests have been the victims of pirates.

Bengal goes ashore at Verde Cay after instructing Gertrude to take the Rigel to Ragged island and bring back help. He encounters one of Carillon's captors, whom he kills and also Carillon's former maid Irma. He changes clothes with the dead bandit and finds a pocket full of gems, which he hides in the crevice of a rock. He goes in search of Carillon and finds her on her captor's boat. All the men of the Rigel have been abandoned on another island. Bengal finds a hiding place for himself and Carillon, but they are discovered and Bengal is shot from ambush. While he lies unconscious the bandits get away. Carillon asks Bengal to get her the jewels he secreted. He hands them to her and she throws her own jewels into the sea and tells him that their fatal fascination for her is gone. The Rigel finally returns and rescues Bengal and Carillon.

INSTALLMENT XLII.
HUMAN VALUES.

Howland's first act after bringing Gunga into Ragged island harbor and finding no sign of the Rigel had been to write a report of the act of piracy committed on the yacht and her personnel, and to send this at once to Nassau by a full powered launch that had run down there with a chemical engineer sent to examine the commercial possibilities of a salt pond.

The startling news was acted on with the promptness and efficiency that characterizes the B. W. I. constabulary. A fast patrol boat was immediately dispatched to investigate the shocking affair, with orders to board and question all small craft encountered en route to Ragged island, where the first step would be to examine the sender of the report and to determine that there was no buncombe about the business. But despite the fact that the bizarre features of the case as deposed by the sender sounded very like a rag from Ragged island, a general alarm was promptly broadcast.

"And a bloomin' good job it were, too, if I says it as shouldn't."

The inspector was delayed a little in arriving. Getting down near the southern end of that curious deep sound so aptly named the Tongue of the Ocean, he came upon what appeared to be a power sloop sponger, drifting aimlessly as if abandoned, for the tide was setting her toward the eastern edge of the shoals. The sea was still, a breathless calm, and on running alongside the sloop and boarding her, the inspector found on her bloodstained decks two dead men, and in the cabin a dying one with a knee shattered by a gunshot and gangrene of that leg. This latter day pirate was known to the police of Nassau as one "Man-o'-War Mike," ci-devant navy bosun's mate, and not so very ci-devant, the bucko mate of a rum runner out of that port. More recently his habits appeared to have improved, so that he had been given a license to make tourist trips with a stanch, well found, full powered cabin cruiser he had purchased at a bargain from a party of young Americans who had brought her down to the Bahamas and for reasons of their own desired to dispose of her.

Mike, appreciating fully that the curtain was about to ring down on him, or, as he expressed it, he was about to "get the hook," proved willing enough to talk. Approaching dissolution had numbed all pain, while the last few inches in the rum jug inspired him to a maudlin braggadocia that had yet the semblance of truth. No doubt he desired to sing his death song, and was glad of an audience.

Mike's disposition showed that he had been approached some days before by a convincing and capable crook called Tony, the chief of a mob of four, two other men and a young woman, "furriners" of sorts. They had shown him where a big haul of precious jewels might easily be made in the holding up of an American yacht, soon due in or about the Crooked passage. Mike had fallen for the offer of an even lay, share and share with the others. He knew the Bahamas like a book, and he owned besides the cruiser a sponging sloop that was being fished on lay by some Negroes. At that moment she was idle.

They slipped out quietly at night, taking the sloop in tow, their immediate objective Verde Cay. If successful, it was their plan to sink the cruiser on returning to that place, tranship aboard the sloop, make for the Florida keys and there scatter. Part of this program was successfully put into effect, as has been narrated. Then, through the stupidity of the lubber detailed by Mike to scuttle the yacht while Mike was drunkenly showing their position to the chief and the woman in the chartroom, everything began to unravel. Mike edged in too close and ran on the rocks. The yacht was discovered and manned and blundered on to their retreat. The chief and the woman tried to double cross the others.

Mike, growing weaker and more incoherent had skipped a good deal, but managed to flare up toward the end of his tale and finish it convincingly. On his being shot from the grotto and obviously disabled, he had turned his own weapon on the woman who alone was stationed with him there. Not only had she double crossed them (as Mike believed), but he suspected her of attempting to abandon him. He had swum off wounded as he was to the sloop, where he was hauled aboard because a pilot was required.

Then, after working through into the Tongue of the Ocean, Mike, nearly comatose from drink and his wound, yet with senses still alert enough, overheard the other two discussing the advisability of heaving him overside because his wound and drunkenness now made him more of a danger than of service for their escape. Perhaps also they may have suspected his real intention, which was to make back for Nassau and charge them with having held him up and forced him at the pistol's point to carry out their orders.

At any rate, knowing now that he could not last much longer, and filled with hatred for these two survivors of an attempt that had turned out so ill (Mike did not see fit to place the blame where it belonged) his tremendous vitality had enabled the desperado to reach out and grab one of the men who was on deck with him, haul him down in the fashion of an octopus, wrest away his pistol and shoot him through the heart. The other he shot likewise as he came rushing up through the hatch at sound of the scuffle. "And a bloomin' good job it were, too, if I says it as shouldn't," Mike concluded. "'Ow about another 'ook, Guv'nor . . ."

An hour later this avatar of Bahama buccaneers had gone to swell their number.

With this dying deposition, and that of Irma, jotted down by Boyd, and signed by a number of reputable witnesses, the inspector found no grounds for any further pursuit of the affair. No arrests having been made, nor any still to be made, the distressful episode might be considered closed. Merely for the sake of its historic value in the annals of such crime, the principal actors were politely directed to write or dictate a brief summary of their part of the affair. Bengal, whose first act after Carillon's costly renunciation of her vicious corollary had been to safeguard Mrs. Ransome's jewels against such a rush of ardor, made careful inventory of them and delivered them to the inspector, taking his receipt.

So here, in a sort of West Indies hurricane of violent and fatal events, a balance sheet had been struck by the Auditor of human values. At least, it looked that way to Bengal, and for the sake of clinching Carillon's cure he [illegible] it for her examination that night.

Play Producing Company Sees Success Ahead

Opening Now Set for the First of February.

Activities of the Chicago Play Producing company, organized late in December by a large group of Chicago folk, yesterday had gained sufficient headway for the announcement by Sam Wren, general manager, that the first offering under its auspices will be staged at the Princess theater the first week in February. Known tentatively as "The Ragged Edge," it was produced with great success lately in Berlin by Max Reinhardt under the title "Periphery."

Norman-Bel Geddes, who was responsible for the costuming in "The Miracle," is at work on the costumes and scenery for the second undertaking, the Eugene O'Neil play, "Lazarus Laughed." On his recent visit here he made a study of the stage of the Goodman theater, and will introduce numerous innovations in scenery, including revolving stages for rapid scenic changes and lighting effects prepared especially for the plaster dome of the theater.

It is the aim of the new company to build up in Chicago a sufficiently large patronage through the subscription plan to finance presentation of plays of a type that are successful in New York, but considered a poor risk for Chicago production. This method of financing, it is said, will insure the success of plays that failed here because of getting off to a slow start, with attendance gradually increasing.

Already the work of building up such a patronage has been started in the headquarters opened in the London Guaranty building by Mr. Wren. It is planned to reach 10,000 Chicagoans and suburbanites by mail within the next few days with solicitations for subscriptions.

By disposing of a sufficient number of subscriptions, leaders of the movement point out, each play is provided with a financial guarantee before production, thus allowing it sufficient time in which to demonstrate its pulling power. Successes will, of course, be retained beyond that period and make money. Failures will be taken off at their expiration, with no financial loss.

The ticket holders, it is noted, run no more risk of seeing a failure than when attending early performances of other plays, and an equal chance of witnessing a success.

"From the way things are going at present," Mr. Wren said yesterday, "I should say there is every indication that this move is bound to win in Chicago. With such theatrical geniuses as Norman-Bel Geddes and Kenneth Macgowan to direct the productions it begins to look as if this is Chicago's real opportunity to challenge the mooted supremacy of New York in the dramatic field.

"Just now this city rates, actually, as a road show town. Some of the greatest plays Broadway ever saw were lost to Chicago because managers were afraid to risk bringing them here. There was, for one instance, 'The Great God Brown,' that ran for nine months in New York. Or 'The Bride of the Lamb' or 'The Wisdom Tooth'—and others. We believe we have found the way to remedy the situation."

Arthur Bissell is president of the Chicago Play Producing company; Mrs. George F. Porter and Ira Nelson Morris are vice presidents, and Miss Helen Dupee is secretary. On the board of directors are included Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryerson, Mrs. Louise Guenzel, Benjamin Marshall, Leander McCormick, Henry Patten, Miss Alice Roullier and Dr. Ferdinand Schevill.

Declares Students Duped by "Character Education"

High school and college students today are being duped with "character education" and lessons in citizenship which are totally inconsistent with civic morality as practiced in everyday life, according to Prof. George H. Potts of the school of education, Northwestern university.

"There is an educational requirement in Illinois that all pupils be taught the effects of narcotics and stimulants, yet billboards, magazines, and the press advertise cigarets to childhood and youth and make light of liquor law violation," Prof. Betts said yesterday before colleagues of his staff at a luncheon at the Orrington hotel."

Pity Poor Rich Girl, Not Orphan Annie, Child Expert Says

Little Orphan Annie, the waif, may not be the most pitiable specimen of humanity, after all, according to Dr. Herman M. Adler, director of the Institute for Juvenile Research, who believes Annie may be far better off than the little daughter of the rich.

The orphan child leads a happier life and often is dearer to the foster parents than their own child would have been, Dr. Adler said yesterday at the annual meeting of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society at the Casino club.

Dr. Adler emphasized that there is no such thing as a handicapped child. The orphan's pedigree should never be mentioned at the time of adoption, he said, for there is no inherited characteristic such as a tendency to lie or steal or display fits of temper which cannot be overcome through proper training.

Placed elbow to elbow, the 4849 under-privileged children in Illinois cared for by the society during 1926 would form a solid mile of humanity. C. V. Williams, the superintendent diagrammed, in making his annual report. It cost the socity, one of 125 similar organizations in the United States and Canada, just $300,000 to give a daily average of 1,700 needy dependent children a new chance in life.

Congregational Church Conference Here Closed

The meeting of the national boards of the Congregational churches, which have been in session at the Cooper-Carleton hotel for a week, adjourned yesterday after fixing the percentage of contributions which shall go to the various causes. Foreign missions will receive 37.5 per cent, home work 62.5 per cent, which will be administered 37 per cent by the national societies and 25.5 per cent by the state societies. A saving for the last year of $62,695 by the reduction of overhead expenses was reported on administration and promotion. The merger of women societies with the general boards places women on an equality with men in the work of the church, it was reported. As an illustration it was said Mrs. L. O. Lee of Evanston has been given a rank in the foreign mission board on an equality with the men secretaries with a place in the national offices in New York.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Geoffrey Fleming, 4159 Monroe street, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Which would you rather take out for a date—a Ziegfeld Follies chorus girl or a home girl?

Where Asked.

Jackson street, at Wabash avenue.

The Answers.

Geoffrey Fleming, 4159 Monroe street, law student—I now find it embarrassing to answer my own question. But I'll say the Ziegfeld girl. Man sees a glamour and fascination about chorus girls. Yet it is to the high class home girl that he takes off his hat and stoops to conquer.

Harry C. Jann, 5303 Princeton avenue, clerk—A home girl. My wife was—and in a way still is—a home girl. It takes money to take out a chorus girl, but the most extravagantly dressed and mannered chorus girl lacks the charm, fascination, interest that that young home girl now my wife had for me then and now.

Nick Antonatos, 3106 West Madison street, violin student—A home girl—I mean that, too. I am a musician, and I have been out a couple of times with show girls and know what they are. I am going with one home girl, and that one is enough; that one girl I value more highly than fifty Ziegfeld chorus girls.

Charles Albertl, 521 Ridge avenue, Evanston, Ill., salesman—What kind of date is this to be? Anyhow, a stunning Follies girl for once—petite in stature, a blonde in color scheme, one who flashes fire and yet has dignity, refinement, and a captivating personality.

E. R. Steen Jr., Joliet, Ill., manager—That would depend upon the type of girl and the mood one might be in. There are chorus girls and chorus girls, home girls and home girls, also home girls that are literally chorus girls and chorus girls who might be ideal home girls. I am a married man and prefer my wife's company.

THEATER

The Playhouse, now in use for "Trial-Divorce," will be used February 20 and indefinitely thereafter for a film. Shows are scarce. . . . As already stated here, "Trial-Divorce" will be held there, according to the present plan, until February 5.

Frederick Worlock, whose performing in "The Shanghai Gesture" is as comical as any that has been seen in Chicago this season, is to withdraw tomorrow night: his rôle of the wicked, wicked English knight will be taken over Sunday by Wyndham Standing, one of the sons of that good actor, the late Herbert Standing.

The Messrs. Chanin, who have been building theaters in New-York, have arranged to turn five of them over to Mr. Erlanger for booking, thereby disposing of a notion that the builders, put to it to find attractions, might undertake to form a third circuit, in opposition to both Mr. Erlanger's and that operated by the Messrs. Shubert. . . . Slowly but surely, New-York is realizing its splendid ambition to have a theater apiece for every man, woman, and child in the five boroughs, so that little remains to be done save to find plays to put into the theaters.

Matheson Lang, an English actor who for a time held London's admiration and patronage, is dropping down from Canada, where he has been touring, into New-York, where he will perform in a piece by E. Temple Thurston named "The Wandering Jew." The play was given some seasons ago in New-York with Tyrone Power in the title-part, and was a quick failure. I saw Mr. Lang in it in its London run, and found it unbearable after the theater's bar closed, at 10:00 o'clock. . . . He came to this country in 1909 to act for the New Theater of New-York, making his first appearance as Charles in the revival of "The School for Scandal," wherein Miss Grace George made a notable success as Lady Teazle. I don't recall if he came to Chicago when the New Theater gave a fortnight of répertoire in the Great Northern, in the Spring of 1910; and it doesn't matter.

The company from the Habima Theater of Moscow will end its New-York adventure next week. Attendance has been slim; not many New-Yorkers, it seems, are sufficiently interested in plays given in the Hebrew tongue to make life at the box-office.

France Denies Citizenship to Foreigners to Aid Labor

[Copyright: 1927: By The New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The French government has suspended naturalization of all foreigners. The vigorous protests of labor leaders against the presence in this country of 2,000,000 foreign workmen, while "tens of thousands of Frenchmen" are out of employment, prompted the government to take this drastic step.

Jane Addams Is Acclaimed "First Citizen" by 1,400 at Civic Dinner

BY PARKE BROWN.

Fourteen hundred men and women admirers of Miss Jane Addams paid enthusiastic tribute to her last night at a dinner given in her honor at the Furniture Club of America.

The occasion exceeded all the expectations of those who planned it. Had there been room there would have been twice as many on hand, it was said, but even after hundreds of applications had been turned down the banquet hall was far too small for the crowd that surged in from adjoining rooms when the speaking was to begin.

Repressed excitement was noticeable everywhere. There was universal eagerness to see Miss Addams. The first mention of her name brought every one to his feet applauding. One sensed a tendency to cheer, a tenseness of emotion as much a part of the testimonial as the words of laudation that brought immediate and warm handclapping of approval as they were uttered.

The precise reason for the dinner at this time was not announced by those who planned it; but many of those present seemed to understand that it was intended as an emphatic answer to criticisms of Miss Addams made two or three months ago. They felt that the purpose had been accomplished.

Scattered here and there were men and women who, like the guest of honor, have given many years of their lives for the betterment of Chicago and the advancement of American institutions. The list was too long for enumeration, but at the speaker's table one saw the faces of women like Miss Julia Lathrop and Miss Mary McDowell, of men like Graham Taylor and Prof. Charles E. Merriam.

Among the diners were scores of past and present settlement workers, many of whom took their first lesson in this type of endeavor from Miss Addams. There were scores of men and women, Gentile and Jew, black and white, who started on the upward path from the doors of Hull house. Clergymen, professional men and business men joined in the demonstration.

The principal speaker was William Allen White who discussed the wide effect of Miss Addams' work and its meaning in the big field of Americanization. And there were warm words of praise from Mayor Dever, Judge Hugo Pam, Prof. Merriam and Miss Lathrop, who in the absence of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen presided after the gavel had been turned over to her by Henry P. Chandler, chairman of the citizens' committee.

A number of letters and telegrams also were read. A letter to Mrs. Bowen from President Coolidge read in part:

"Her work at Hull house during the last twenty-five years of benevolence and charity has been a great contribution to the public welfare. It has set an example which has been an inspiration to well doing all over the country. It was but a short time ago that Miss Addams called at my office, when I was very much impressed by the fact that she had given her life and strength to the service of humanity.

"I trust that the testimonial of affection and regard which you are about to offer her may give her renewed strength and courage to carry on her work of peace and good will."

Frequent in all of the speeches were such expressions as "unselfish service" and "service to humanity," "calm serenity" and "steadfastness of purpose."

"This is a tribute of love to America's most useful citizen," said Mr. White.

"Fortunate were the men who had the spirit of American institutions first interpreted to them by Miss Addams," said Judge Pam, who as a boy lived within two blocks of Hull house.

"An outstanding figure in constructive political movements whether, within our city or in larger relations across the sea," said Prof. Merriam, who said Miss Addams had made him promise not to mention her name, a promise he kept, much to the pleasure of his hearers.

"I bring with me the respect and admiration of the municipality and place it at the feet of Jane Addams," said Mayor Dever. "She has done more to promote the real welfare of Chicago than all our political organizations. I find myself entirely inadequate to express what every one here knows, that she has been Chicago's first citizen, and, I think, the first citizen of this great republic."

Other messages read by Miss Lathrop were from Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robins, John Mark Glenn, director of the Russell Sage foundation, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, Gov. Alvin Fuller of Massachusetts, William Kent, former Chicago congressman, now living in California, and from representatives of the Young Men's Christian association of Chicago.

When she was called upon Miss Addams spoke briefly, protesting that she is "only a very simple person" and expressing her gratitude and appreciation for the tribute paid her.

Legion Asks Expenditure of State Hospital Fund

A request that the $200,000 appropriated at the last session of the legislature to provide additional beds at the Elgin State hospital, so that the total shall reach 200, be expended, was one of the main things included in the legislative program of the American Legion presented to Gov. Len Small last night by Ferre C. Watkins, commander of the department of Illinois; Herbert L. Moulton, chairman of rehabilitation; Capt. John A. Hartman and Senator Earl B. Searcy, chairman of the soldiers' orphans' home committee. The constantly increasing number of former service men who have become demented, it is stated, has made the demand imperative.

"Starring Dulcie Jayne"
by Virginia Tracy

It's an exciting romance, and the many intimate glimpses of movie studio life make the story most intriguing!

Start it next Sunday and continue it in The Tribune every day.

Bachelors Hold a Powwow on Femmes, and They Say Plenty

BY DORIS BLAKE.

They were discussing the dispositions of wives and which they thought would make the most agreeable mate. Bachelors, three of theme were. The fourth in the group was married—and silent, for one in a position to give the best advice. Silent rather until the others had their say.

"I don't like a moody girl," said the first. "I have a sister you never can depend on from day to day. About the time I'm mad enough at her to raise ructions, she is as sweet as sugar. And then when I address her amiably the next day she is just as apt to have one of her moods on and won't speak a word. A wife like that would drive me nutty."

"Well, I hate one of those wishy-washy females that is always just the same. No color. No life to her. You'd come home night after night and you know you'd have to listen to the same sweet purring until you'd feel you'd have to strangle her in self-defense."

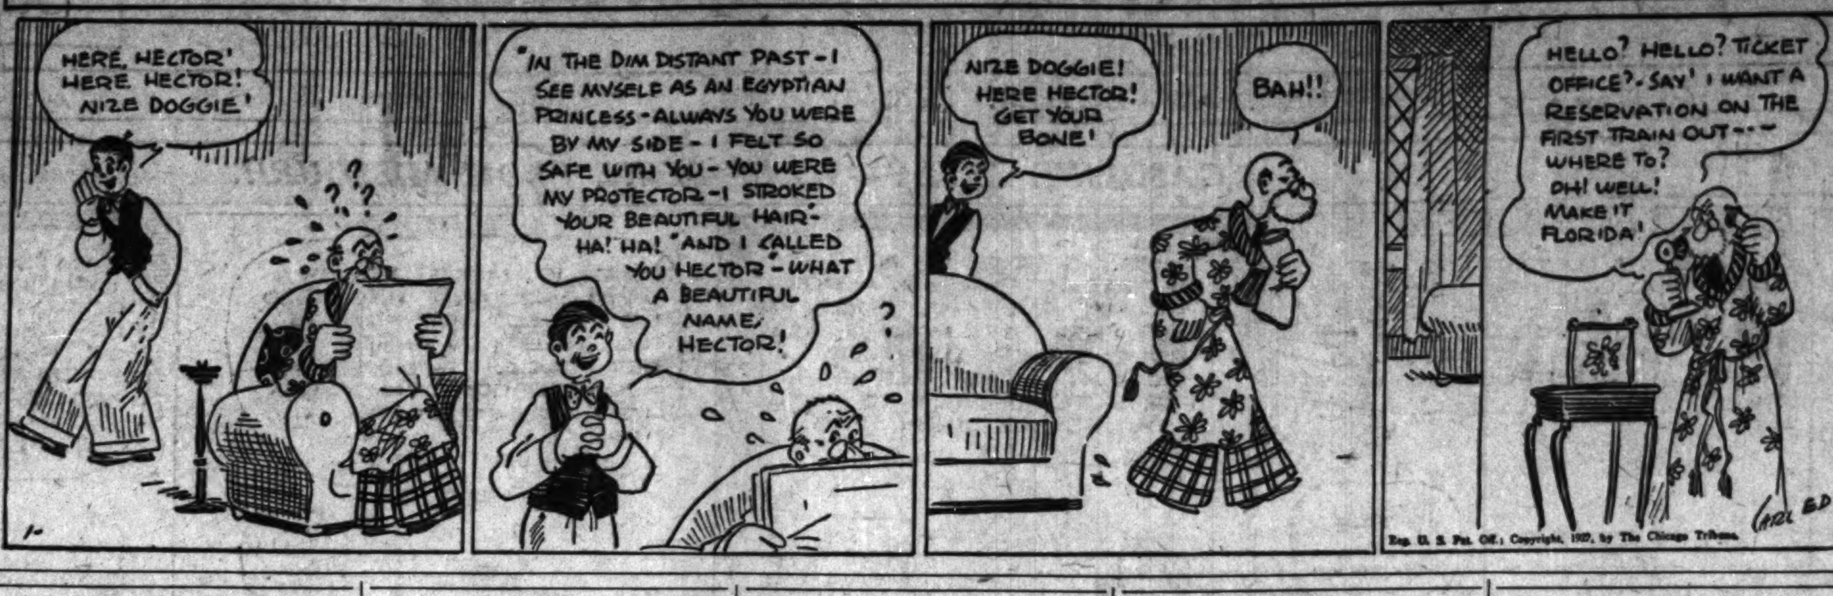
From the third: "I don't want any dame with a temper. I have one myself and there'd sure be fireworks constantly if I drew one of the kind that blows off the handle at every little thing. I want her amiable, more amiable and most amiable. I don't care if she has a peg leg and a wart on her nose just as long as she is amiable.

And they discussed the baby type that wanted to be loved all the time, and the indifferent one who seemed not to care whether she was ever kissed or not, and the bustly little maternal type, and the "boss" type, and a dozen other kind of women, branching away betimes from dispositions in the pursuit of other virtues or lack of them.

The silent member—the married one—suddenly came to life after a full hour's listening in, informed the bachelors what they knew about dispositions that were easy to live with would fill a book. Give him, he said, a woman with a temper any day, in preference to one of those long suffering females who took a week to get over a hurt.

"You know what you've done to a high tempered woman for she loses no time in telling you and she's over it in a few minutes. She doesn't keep you guessing whether she is not feeling well or you did something awful. Believe me, brothers, I know what I am talking about for my wife has a reputation for a sweet disposition and after three days worrying I haven't yet found out what I did to bring on that hurt-but-I'll-forgive-you air."

HAROLD TEEN—GRAMPS IS LEADING A DOG'S LIFE



HERE, HECTOR! HERE HECTOR! NIZE DOGGIE!
"IN THE DIM DISTANT PAST—I SEE MYSELF AS AN EGYPTIAN PRINCESS—ALWAYS YOU WERE BY MY SIDE—I FELT SO SAFE WITH YOU—YOU WERE MY PROTECTOR—I STROKED YOUR BEAUTIFUL HAIR—HA! HA! "AND I CALLED YOU HECTOR"—WHAT A BEAUTIFUL NAME, HECTOR!
NIZE DOGGIE! HERE HECTOR! GET YOUR BONE!
BAH!!
HELLO? HELLO? TICKET OFFICE?—SAY! I WANT A RESERVATION ON THE FIRST TRAIN OUT—WHERE TO? OH! WELL! MAKE IT FLORIDA!

Two Dinners Tonight Interrupt Temporary Lull in Social World

BY NANCY R——.

This is the season—the lull after the storm, socially speaking—when as a rule it's not a question of "which dinner party are you going to tonight?" but "who's giving the dinner this evening?" Engagement books are anything but crowded, and unless my guess is wide of the mark, our fashionable world is grateful for a breathing space.

Last evening, however, was an exception to the rule. Two dinners were on tap, the first, a contract-bridge dinner, given by the William P. Martins at the Casino, being something of a farewell gesture, as the Martins will soon be off on their annual California outing which always includes a long sojourn at Pebble Beach.

As for the second, Mrs. Potter Palmer was hostess at dinner to that group of lively, entertaining Chicago women known as the Scribblers. One of the most interesting things about the Scribblers is the fact that even when they meet in the evening, it's a case of "No Men Invited."

Pretty little Jane Linn, daughter of the James Weber Linns, is starting off on Monday for a lengthy European ramble. After a visit with her sister at Bryn Mawr, she sails for London to play about for a week or so, and then goes on to Paris to put in four months at the Sorbonne.

She and Florence Noyes had a studio there last year, and while Miss Noyes stayed on to continue her artistic career, Jane came home for the winter, promising to rejoin her friend in the spring. In June, the Linn's younger daughter, Elizabeth, is going abroad, to spend part of the summer with her sister, returning to Chicago in time to get ready to make her bow to society with the 1927-'28 crop of buds.

Day's News in Society

At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Woman's Athletic club, Mrs. William S. Hay was elected president to succeed Mrs. Charles H. Morse. Mrs. William Pelouze is the new first vice president; Mrs. George M. Reynolds, second vice president; Mrs. Newton Hudson, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry B. Clow, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins, the treasurer.

Count Ilya Tolstoy spoke at the club yesterday morning before an audience of club members and their guests, and was entertained at luncheon after his address. Among the other hostesses who had small luncheon groups with them were Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, Mrs. Julius T. Benedict, Mrs. Edward Tilden, Miss Margaret Sinclair, Mrs. Lewis Louer, Mrs. Clifford D. Caldwell, Mrs. John Manshure, Mrs. Walter Schuttler, and Mrs. George R. Nichols.

Mrs. Dorothy Wing Macauley and Mrs. Geraldine Wallase are to be hostesses at the Musical guild's tea after the symphony concert this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hough, 219 Lake Shore drive, are to give the second of their series of teas on Sunday afternoon for Mrs. William J. Calhoun.

Mrs. Charles H. Fargo of 17 East Division street is to give at a linen shower and bridge party for Miss Elizabeth Jackson on Monday afternoon. Miss Jackson is to be married to Ewing Webb this spring.

Mrs. Potter Palmer is to demonstrate the arrangements for a formal dinner, luncheon, and tea table next Monday morning to begin the final series of the linen talks being given at Field's. "Table Arrangements on White and Silver Damask" is to be the subject of Mrs. Parmalee McFadden's display on Tuesday morning, and Mrs. John H. Winterbotham will close the series on Wednesday with "Table Arrangements on Colored Damask."

Miss Mary Gardner departed yesterday for a month's sojourn with friends in Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Frederick W. Wiegand of Highland Park, sister of the late Mrs. Macgregor Adams, is to depart early in February to open her house in Thomasville, Ga.

Mrs. Charles Garside of New York City, the former Miss Helen Johnson of Richmond, Ind., who has many friends in Chicago who have not seen her since her marriage at the residence of her uncle, Robert Underwood Johnson, former minister to Italy, is the guest of Miss Frances Holbrook of Highland Park.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

"L'Amore dei Tre Re" Brings Out Attractive Box Circle Groups

Opera glasses were extraordinarily busy at the opera last night. Besides enabling their owners better to enjoy the colorful "L'Amore dei Tre Re" on the stage, they afforded a more satisfactory view of the several interesting box parties. The group with Mrs. Howard Linn, always one of the most stunning of society's young matrons, including Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Blair, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, and Thomas McCarthy of New York City, seemed the cynosure of many admiring glances. Mrs. Linn was wearing glistening white satin, an effective background for her silvery hair. Mrs. Blair was in severe white velvet, and Mrs. McLaughlin's costume was of silver chiffon and silver cloth. All three of the women wore strands of pearls.

Next to Chauncey McCormick's party, which included Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Erminger of Macon, Ga., and Harold F. McCormick, was an animated bevy of the younger folk, Miss Ellen Borden, Miss Ruth Elting, the James B. Wallers, and Prince Nicholas Galitzin.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Adams, Mrs. Charles I. Pierce, Mrs. Russell Lord, Paul Welling, and John J. Peckham occupied the Charles H. Schweppe box, and Mrs. R. R. McCormick had with her Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell.

With the George Corson Ellises in the box of Mrs. Ellis' father, Robert J. Thorne, were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Farwell, Miss Laura Thompson, and J. Ogden Ketting. Henry J. Patten's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Willia Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet, Miss Helen Gilbert and Max Mason.

With Mrs. Vincent Bendix were Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth Kirkland and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Aagard. Mrs. Charles W. McNear, her debutante daughter, Miss Janice McNear, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buss and Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Dean were in the Weymouth Kirkland box.

During the intermission Miss Glee Louise Viles, petite and tiny in the flesh satin dress she wore a few weeks ago at her debut ball, was to be seen conversing vivaciously with tall Cyrus McCormick, and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair was strolling about.

4 out of 5 start too late

Among the people you see today, four out of five past forty (and many younger) are victims of Pyorrhea—simply because they started too late to protect teeth and gums.

Pyorrhea starts with tender, bleeding gums. Unchecked, it undermines youth and health. Too often it results in loss of teeth, neuritis, ulcers, rheumatism or other serious diseases.

But have no fear. If you start in time, you can prevent or check the vicious inroads of Pyorrhea. If your gums are soft or bleeding, see your dentist at once for examination. And start now using Forhan's for the Gums.

Used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents Pyorrhea or checks it. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., a recognized specialist for years in Pyorrhea.

Forhan's firms the gums, keeps them healthy. It protects teeth and keeps them white. It guards your youth and health.

Don't gamble with your health! See your dentist twice a year. And start the Forhan morning-and-night habit, now. Teach your children to use it, too, as health-insurance. Play safe. Get a tube today. At all druggists', 35c and 60c.

Ancient Songs of France Win Elmer's Praise

He Also Applauds High School Glee Clubs.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS

A radio spectacle in three acts.

Act one: A concert by La Chorale Française de Chicago, WLIB, 7:10 to 7:50. Very much La Belle Française, this concert, and therefore something new. Sixteenth century French songs—these early creations are pleasing, always; an early French madrigal, and a madrigal by Nevin—these highly developed choral creations are of great beauty and I wish we could hear more of them. Also a group of American choral works. Chorus typically French—light toned and flexible in execution. Further concerts by this organization would be looked forward to with interest.

Act two, in several scenes: Chicago district public schools' second annual glee club contest, Orchestra hall, 8:30 to 10. Unfortunately this widely interesting broadcast was begun after the start of the concert and stopped before the contest ended.

The Linden High school boys' glee club—scoring points for novelty effects. The Tilden High school boys' glee club—singing Cadman's "The Builder" in quite creditable choir effect.

The microphone seemed too far away to do justice to the Harrison High schol girls' glee club. Marshall High school girls' glee club—good. Daniel's "A June Rhapsody" was sung impressively, even with a touch of sentiment. Morgan Park girls glee club—Denza's "Good Night" done with excellent finish; the alto voices much admired.

Bowen mixed glee club gave its lungs considerable gymnasium work in "All Through the Night," forgetting that tone, not volume, is the thing. Fenger mixed glee club—mike again in the distance, allowing the station's noticeable generator hum to show up its bad work. Harrison mixed glee club—prize winning work; McFarland's "The Three Fishers" done without accompaniment. Hibbard mixed glee club—"A Bridal Chorus" was too high in pitch and quite difficult, volume figuring here also more prominently than pure tone. Linden mixed glee club—"Unfold Ye Portals Everlasting" [Gounod], too high in pitch, and possibly too difficult.

Act three, in two scenes: The Myers-Petrolle and the Miller-Shea bouts. Coliseum, WEBH, 9:30 to 11 o'clock.

$500,000 of Deering Fortune Goes to Hospital

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Transfer of $500,000 in cash from the estate of the late James Deering, Chicago farm implement magnate, from a bank in that city to a local trust company was completed here today coincident with the announcement that the interest on the fund be used for the establishment and maintenance of a Deering ward in the Jackson Memorial hospital here.

According to the terms of the will, the ward will be named for William Deering, father of the donor.

Egyptians Attack Turkey's Bid for Extraterritoriality

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 20.—Consternation is expressed by the Egyptian press at the demand of the Turkish government that Turkish subjects in Egypt should enjoy extraterritoriality privileges. The newspaper Siyassa says it is astounding that Turkey, having got rid of foreigners' extraterritoriality rights itself, now wants to enjoy in Egypt privileges it resented so strongly when held by the foreign powers in Turkey.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY

(Friday, Jan. 21.) (Standard Time Throughout.)

RADIO listeners will have the program of the Chicago Civic Opera company brought into their homes tonight when W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, will broadcast the third act of Gounod's "Faust" from the stage of the Auditorium.

The music of the third act, including the work of the cast, the chorus, and the orchestra, will be presented to the great invisible audience from whom is required but a turn of the dials. The third act of "Faust" means the garden scene, one of the most beautiful and colorful in all opera, including the glorious "Flower Song," "Le Roi de Thule," the "Jewel Song," the "Invocation," the "Dammi Ancor," and the "Eternelle."

The principal rôles will be sung tonight by Edith Mason, Irene Pavloska, Maria Claessens, Charles Hackett, Richard Bonelli, and Vanni-Marcoux, with Musical Director Giorgio Polacco conducting. The program, which is sponsored by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, will be broadcast at 9:30 o'clock.

It was in this fight that Corbett lost the heavyweight title. Quin Ryan will paint a graphic picture of the scene as it existed back in the '90s, and will also tell the blow by blow story of the battle.

Toiling Sisters Should Avoid Those Starvation Diets

by Antoinette Donnelly

"I am a business girl and about twenty pounds overweight. In the reducing course recommended breakfast is eliminated unless a cup of coffee is absolutely imperative. I find myself so faint by noontime I can hardly wait to eat and then cannot confine myself to the limited luncheon prescribed."—B. G.

The no-breakfast plan is not to be recommended under any circumstances. It might be all right if you lived at home and were called upon to make no muscular or mental effort whatever. Even then, there are saner measures of reducing.

The Wisconsin State Medical society did some investigating on this no-breakfast idea and found, among other drawbacks to the plan, that the greatest number of absences from work are among those who cultivate the habit or encourage the habit of going without breakfast.

The amount of food consumed at breakfast, the medical society states, may vary according to the activity of individuals, but something must be eaten to start the day right and continue through the morning in a vigorous state of mind and body.

On a reducing diet it is infinitely wiser to apportion the day's allotment of calories to cover three meals, with possibly a bit of fruit in the afternoon about 4 o'clock. There should not be any mad rush to lose twenty pounds that have been several years in accumulating. And there is simply no advantage whatever in going breakfastless and doubling on the noon allowance. Any good business girl could figure that out without pad and pencil.

A light breakfast consisting of a fruit juice, coffee and hot milk, a piece of toast, a roll or a muffin is sufficiently thinning for any worker. If the noonday meal is going to be light there is no harm in adding to this breakfast a small bowl of cereal. It will be possible to make the luncheon lighter if you do this. Then in the late afternoon eat an apple, a pear or an orange to tide you over until the night meal. Long stretches of going without food, unless you drink quantities of water or fruit juices, is inclined to derange the digestion and start a train of ills. Strenuous fasting diets, such as water and fruit juice diets, however, are not recommended for a girl who has to be up to par on her work every hour of the nine that make her working day.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

SWEET MARIE: FOR HAIR THAT is excessively dry as the result of a permanent wave, grease the scalp lightly with vaseline, olive oil or sweet almond oil. The brush vigorously.

MISS J. L.: HARD FOODS, SUCH as crusts, toast, hard fruits, fibrous vegetables, and nuts are extremely important in your diet. They require chewing, which exercises the jaws, improves the condition of the teeth, and causes a flow of saliva and gastric juice. Where the food is dry as well as hard it further stimulates the flow of saliva.

Looked Like Hubby.

On Saturday evening hubby always goes shopping with me, so I load up the car with parcels instead of having them sent. One Saturday found him tired, so he stayed in the coupe while I visited the butcher, baker, etc. He parked across the street from the first store I went to. Arriving at the door, I remembered I didn't have much money with me, so I darted back and snapped my fingers at the car, saying, "I want some money, please."

When the occupant hesitated I was dismayed to find I had picked the wrong car. The driver wore clothes almost exactly like my husband's. I did not realize it until after I had told him to hurry or we'd be late for the show, however.

I surely felt cheap, and could only assure him I hadn't meant to stage a holdup. MRS. C. E.

Suggestions for the Midseason Debutante

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The evening toilette of this season for the young might almost be called the tulle-ette, for tulle continues to register as the favorite medium for expressing the charm of youth. And no wonder, for its talents have wide application.

How gracefully it yields itself to the period mode was indicated at a recent debut. The charming young creature who was opening dewy eyes upon the great world wore a gown of champagne tinted tulle with a long tight bodice draped over a slip of gold cloth. The extremely bouffante skirt was adorned with two all around bands of gold cloth finely stitched in gold embroidery. A crimson flower perched on one shoulder as if to accent the utter simplicity of line and color presented by the frock.

Today we show quite another way in which tulle may serve the dance of youth. Here we have a color motif of canary yellow. The long bodice is semi-fitted and topped by a little bolero which, in the back, floats loose in two wings. The skirt is composed of triangular draperies overlapping each the other and falling in graceful points. Each section of the skirt and the bolero are edged with a border of finely plaited tulle. No other ornamentation is used.

For occasions slightly less formal than the debut georgette is perhaps tulle's chief competitor for the favor of the very young woman. A charming dance frock for mid-season or Palm Beach wear is executed in green georgette with a little decorative pattern at the waist line formed by green ribbons drawn in and out of deep buttonholes. The skirt was slightly bouffante.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Baking Powder Breads and Buns.

A quick and saving way to make baking powder biscuits is to sift the flour on the board rather than in a bowl, and into it chop or rub the shortening used. The baking powder and salt may be sifted with the flour, and then when the shortening is worked in make a crater in the mass, pour in the wet as much as you can, stir in, then handle quickly with a light kneading into a ball. Sprinkle this with flour, roll out, cut out shapes, and make them in a hot oven for fifteen minutes. The formula is: Two cups bread flour, two to four teaspoons baking powder according to brand, one to four tablespoons of shortening, a teaspoon salt, a teaspoon of sugar if you choose, about two-thirds of a cup of milk.

Any one who can make these biscuits can make a baking powder bun. Sift into the bowl two cups of bread flour, three tablespoons of sugar, one teaspoon salt, and two teaspoons of baking powder. Add spices and currants to the flour and mix well before adding the liquid for the wet mixing. If you have dried orange peel, two tablespoons of it after it is crushed will flavor the buns acceptably. Prepare one-fourth cup of currants also and mix with the flour, and use other spices if you choose.

One egg, with a quarter saved out to brush the buns before they are baked, is sufficient. Beat up this three-fourths of an egg and add to it one-half cup sweet milk. Pour into a well made in the dry ingredients and stir in, and cut into this dough three tablespoons of barely melted butter and knead the dough finally, mostly with a spoon, but enough to make it compact enough to roll out well.

Roll out, cut out pieces with a biscuit cutter, put in the pan, and brush with egg or just saved out egg white, and garnish with rock sugar or little candies.

Bake in a hot oven twelve to fifteen minutes. The candy on such buns has something to do with their nice baking. It gets much hotter than the wet dough.

HOLD SERVICES TOMORROW FOR STANLEY CLAGUE

Funeral services for Stanley Clague, managing director and one of the founders of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, who died Wednesday night in Henrotin hospital following a short illness, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at St. Luke's church, Lee street and Hinman avenue, Evanston. Dr. George Craig Stewart, pastor of the church, will conduct the services. Burial plans have not been completed.

Mr. Clague was 54 years old. He had been managing director of the A. B. C. for the last ten years and had been active in building up the organization until it represents approximately 80 per cent of the newspapers in the United States, certifying circulation figures for advertisers' use.

He was born on the Isle of Man and came to the United States at the age of 20, becoming secretary to Charles W. Eliot, late president of Harvard. Later he became head of the advertising service department of the Curtis Publishing company. In 1908 he came to Chicago, where he organized his own advertising agency, later consolidating with others. A year later he helped found the A. B. C. and in 1917 was elected managing director.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Mary C. Clague; two sons, Stanley R. of Chicago and Coleman E. of New York, and two daughters, Mrs. Daniel Gale of Huntington, L. I., and Mrs. Charles S. McCoy of Wilmette. The family home is at 819 Michigan avenue, Evanston.

Needs Ankle Support.

"An invalid I know needs an elastic ankle support, size 8 inches, for her left foot. She can't afford to buy it, and I thought you might be able to procure one for her through your column. MRS. E. M."

Such a support would insure a great deal of comfort for this invalid. If you have one not in use she'd appreciate having it.

After an Operation.

"I have recently undergone an abdominal operation and it is necessary for me to wear a belt. I am out of work and cannot afford to buy one. I thought one of your readers might have one not in use he would be willing to give me. I need size 38. "F. R."

If you have a belt of the type one wears after this sort of operation and no longer need it, it would be a blessing and a comfort to this man.

STOP!
READ EVERY WORD AND LEARN.

ere's an amazing oppor-
nity! Here's the key to a od position! An extra pay
eck every week!

WHETHER EMPLOYED OR NOT, you can't afford to miss this opportunity; so make up your mind to answer this ad. Don't "grope in the dark," dreaming of extra money. You don't have to "pound the pavements" or go off on a "wild goose chase." Every ambitious gentleman in the city of Chicago would be glad to avail himself of this splendid opportunity if he only knew the facts. You don't need experience and YOU WON'T BE ASKED TO SELL ANYTHING. Briefly, the world's greatest automobile manufacturer has undertaken a new venture [an expansion of the automobile manufactory and the manufacture of aircraft] and this has created a new department in this well known firm, and if you realize the absolute necessity of earning more money each week and the practical advantages of becoming a member [either part or full time] of this well known institution, we will put you in a good paying position if you will really devote your spare time [or 1 hour a day] in our work. If you are over 25 years of age and at present employed in some legitimate work you will be given the utmost consideration. $35-$50 WEEKLY, and ordinary common sense the only requisite. Remember, there is NO RED TAPE about this, and successful applicants will immediately earn an extra weekly income from the moment their names are placed upon the pay roll, while still retaining their present positions. Now if you really need money, don't hesitate. Clip this ad and answer in person. Ask for GENERAL MANAGER, ROOM 1515, 624 S. MICHIGAN-AV. [BLUM BLDG.] AT 8 O'CLOCK SHARP FRIDAY EVENING. Only ambitious and sincere people need apply. Come regardless of weather. Don't let bad weather cheat you out of an opportunity like this.

A genuine opportunity like this comes but once in a lifetime, and this is absolutely and positively your last chance to avail yourself of it.

Now, remember, our departments are almost filled to capacity; you will never have another chance like this; positively no one will be considered after FRIDAY evening.

If earning a substantial pay check every week will make you happy this will be the happiest New Year of your life. ACT!

OULD YOU LIKE TO RECEIVE TWO PAY
CHECKS NEXT WEEK?

If you are at present employed I will show you how to increase your earnings in a pleasant, dignified way, which requires
NO SELLING,
NO CANVASSING,
NO SOLICITING.

This ad will appear only one day. Cut this out and be here at 7:30 P. M., Friday, Jan. 21st.

Here's an amazing opportunity! Here's the key to a good position! An extra pay check every week!

WHETHER EMPLOYED OR NOT, you can't afford to miss this opportunity; so make up your mind to answer this ad. Don't "grope in the dark," dreaming of extra money. You don't have to "pound the pavements" or go off on a "wild goose chase." Every ambitious lady in the city of Chicago would be glad to avail herself of this splendid opportunity if she only knew the facts. You don't need experience and YOU WON'T BE ASKED TO SELL ANYTHING. Briefly, the world's greatest automobile manufacturer has undertaken a new venture [an expansion of the automobile manufactory and the manufacture of aircraft], and this has created a new department in this well known firm, and if you realize the absolute necessity of earning more money each week and the practical advantages of becoming a member [either part or full time] of this well known institution we will put you in a good paying position if you will really devote your spare time [or 1 hour a day] to our work. If you are over 25 years of age and are at present employed in some legitimate work you will be given the utmost consideration, $35-$50 WEEKLY, and ordinary common sense the only requisite. Remember, there is NO RED TAPE about this, and successful applicants will immediately earn an extra weekly income from the moment their names are placed upon the pay roll, while still retaining their present positions. Now, if you really need money, don't hesitate. Clip this ad and answer in person. Ask for GENERAL MANAGER, ROOM 1515, 624 SO. MICHIGAN-AV. [BLUM BLDG.], AT 8 O'CLOCK SHARP FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 21ST. Only ambitious and sincere people need apply. Come regardless of weather. Don't let bad weather cheat you out of an opportunity like this.

A genuine opportunity like this comes but once in a lifetime, and this is absolutely and positively your last chance to avail yourself of it.

Now, remember our departments are almost filled to capacity. You will never have another chance like this. Positiveley no one will be considered after Friday evening.

If earning a substantial pay check every week will make you happy, this will be the happiest New Year of your life. ACT!
